Hardware Store Broken Into

DEXTER — A breakin at Ringer Hardware and Lumber Co., Nine W. Stoddard, was reported today to the highway patrol. Entrance was gained by breaking the lock on one of the north doors at the back of the store.

The store's more expensive shotguns were taken leaving the cheaper ones behind and the cash register at the back of the store was completely emptied of an undetermined amount of cash. It has not been determined if anything else was taken. The merchandise was taken out the west door of the store.

The breakin is under investigagion by the Stoddard county sheriff's department and highway patrol.

Scott City Couple Killed

SCOTT CITY — An elderly Scott City couple died yesterday when the car they were riding in collided with a freight train at 9:15 a.m.

The highway patrol said that Mrs. Bendia M. Culbertson was killed instantly. Her husband, the Rev. Jessie Culbertson, who was driving the car, died of his injuries at 5:05 p.m. at St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

The patrol said that the southbound Missouri Pacific train was going about 45 miles per hour. Mrs. Culbertson's body was thrown from the car and carried by the engine about 85 feet down the track.

The patrol said the crossing was not protected by a warning signal.

Dufur Arrested For Stealing

Police announced today the arrest of Clifford Dufur of St. Louis on a charge of stealing a television set and bedspread from the Cyrus Motel.

The theft occurred Thursday when Dufur and his wife allegedly walked out the motel with the TV and bedspread. The wife has not been arrested, police said.

The TV is valued at $60 and the bedspread at $12. Both were recovered soon after the theft.

Oral Sturgis Johnson, 41 of Rochester, Minn., is in city jail this morning after trying to cash a bogus $10 check at the A and P supermarket. Police said Johnson had taken a blank check from a local motel where he was staying and tried to cash it, but that an employ had become suspicious and called police.

The arresting officer was Brad Wilson.

2 Deaths Confirmed By Jury

GAINESVILLE, Mo. — (AP) — A coroner's jury has ruled that Aleta Goad, 17, of Dora, Mo., and William R. Coy, 20, of Mountain Home, Arklk died in a barn fire near Dora Feb. 5.

The blaze destroyed the barn and 8,000 bales of hay owned by the girl's father.

Bones found in the ashes were determined to be human.

The coroner's jury said Friday the fire was accidental.

Increase Slight For Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers last year paid $21 more for a "marketbasket" list of food items, but farmers got only $1 of the 1971 increase.

Middlemen pocketed the rest, according to a new analysis by the Agriculture Department.

Put on another basis, farmers last year got only 38 cents of each dollar consumers spent on food, down one cent from 1970.

The report, issued Friday, was another in a series issued by USDA this week on food prices. Earlier, the department predicted supermarket grocery prices will rise this year about 4 per cent, compared with a 2.4-per-cent gain in 1971.

But that includes all food consumers buy at retail stores, imported and seafood products as well as items which begin on U.S. farms. The market-basket list includes only farm-originated food products and is used to gauge where the consumer dollar goes.

On that basis, the latest report said, farmers can expect a larger share of consumer food spending in 1972. Also, middlemen will widen their margins.

"If marketing spreads widen about as much as they did in 1971 and returns to farmers strengthen, the retail cost of the market basket of U.S. farm foods may rise about 3.5 per cent compared with last year's rise of 1.7 per cent," the report said.

Detective Cowger Resigns

James R. Cowger, detective on the Sikeston Police told the Standard that he has quit his post to take a better paying job.

Cowger, route 2 Sikeston, joined the detective division on November 29, 1971 and said that he hated to leave the force but could not make ends meet on the salary he was paid.

Home-Car Robberies In City

Two robberies were reported to police yesterday. Robert Bom, of 1601 E. Matthews, told police that his home was entered several days ago and a metal box which contained $400 in old coins was stolen.

Lonnie Hodges of 108 West Gladys parked his car on the lot of the Midtowner Village yesterday afternoon and when he came back his 12-gauge shotgun was missing. He told police that the gun's value is $60.

Police are investigating both robberies.

$26,576 Collected In County

Scott County Collector Tom Marshall reported $26,576 in merchants, personal, and real estate taxes were collected in January.

The distribution of the January collections are state, $157.69; county, 42,367.08; county special road, $1,507.50; health, $524.21; library, $330.95; Johnson Grass, $105.27; county drainage, $271.80.

Monies distributed to the area school districts include Illmo-Scott City, R-1, $3,862.78; Chaffee, R-2, $1,401.19; Oran, R-3, $1,594.05; Kelly, R-4, $3,176.57; Scott Central, R-5, $2,427.17; Sikeston, R-6, $7,864.65; and Kelso, C-7, $200.36.

Marshall said that any 1971 taxes collected in February are delinquent and bear a two per cent penalty plus two percent interest.

Aduition Times Announced

Bill Ewing, Entertainment Chairman for the 1972 KFVS Cerebral Palsy Telethon, has announced the audition dates for people interested in appearing on the program to raise funds for United Cerebral Palsy.

Ewing said that auditions will be held on Saturday, February 19, at the KFVS Building, 310 Broadway in Cape Girardeau. Persons interested in performing should call Area Code 314 334-7746 to set an appointment time.

The Telethon is scheduled for March 4 and 5, and is the second annual event of its kind.

The monies raised will assist those afflicted with Cerebral Palsy in the surrounding area.

We Both Had The Green Light?

BOTH DRIVERS THOUGHT that they had the green light. Bernie Joe Lacy, 312 Virginia, was driving his 1969 Plymouth North on Main when he collided with a 1969 Buick being driven east on Malone by William Edgar Hawkins of New Madrid. No arrests were made according to the police.

Nine Injured In Mishaps

The highway patrol reported nine persons were injured in four separate traffic accidents last night.

Four persons were injured in a three- car accident at 9:40 p.m. at the intersection of I-55 and I-57 just south of Sikeston.

According to the patrol, a 1969 Buick, being driven south by George Milton Lindsey, 58 of Omaha, Neb., struck a 1969 tractor trailer in the rear as it entered I-55 from I-57. Lindsey's Buick then spun around and came to a stop in the middle of I-55 and was struck by a 1970 Dodge being driven south by James Clayton Keller of Topeka, Kansas.

Injured were Matte Lindsey, 56 of Omaha, with leg and head injuries; and Annie Kotton, 79, of Omaha, with multiple bruises and contusions. Both were passengers in the Buick.

Keller had minor abrasions and cuts on the jaw, while his wife Regina Katherine had head cuts and possible internal injuries.

The truck driver was not injured.

All were taken to Missouri Delta community Hospital.

Two persons were slightly injured when the car they were riding in struck the rear of another auto at 5:45 p.m. on route A, one mile east of Wardell.

The patrol said that a 1970 ford was being driven at a high rate of speed by Ronnie McAdee, 24, of Kennett, when it overtook and stuck a 1964 Chevrolet being driven by George Dickson, 50, of Wardell. Both cars were eastbound at the time of the accident.

Injured were Rosie Lee Dickson, 17 and Calvon Dickson, 6, both of Wardell and passengers in the Dickson auto. They were taken to Pemiscot County Hospital in Hayti with minor injuries.

McAdee was arrested for driving while intoxicated and careless and imprudent driving, according to the patrol.

Two men were injured at 1 a.m. three miles north of Dudley on route WW in a one car accident.

William Franklin Martin, 54 of Dudley, suffered cuts on the face and head, while a passenger in the car he was driving, Charles Griffen, suffered a right leg injury. Both were taken to Dexter Hospital.

The patrol said that Martin was driving his 1971 Chevrolet pickup northbound at an excessive rate of speed, when it ran off the road and hit a ditch embankment.

Gary Leonard Vaughn, 21, of Senath, was slightly injured at 1:15 a.m. on highway 25 north of the Senath city limits.

The patrol said Vaughn's 1956 Ford left the east side of the highway and struck the dirt embankment and ended up back on the highway.

Vaughn was taken to Dunklin County Hospital where he was treated for cuts on the head and then released.

Turbine Engine Vehicle

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Bill Lear has rolled out his first vapor-powered turbine engine vehicle for public inspection and predicts it will help clear the smog from U.S. cities.

The 69-year-old industrialistinventor who developed the Lear Jet says he has spent $12 million and five years in developing the engine which powered a bus at the display for 200 persons Friday.

Entertainer Art Linkletter, a member of the Lear Motor Corp. board of directors, said, "We have smog now where they never thought it would be. It's virtually everywhere. Vehicles are the villain and Bill Lear's steam engine may well be the means to solve this problem we face."

"I want to see it operating. I want to see some facts and figures," said Peter Bertogolio, western regional director for the U.S. Department of Transportation.

"We don't know enough about it to say what action—if any— the department will take."

In short demonstration runs, observers noted that the bus' steam power plant—which fits in the standard engine compartment—provides quieter, smoother acceleration than the standard diesel motor. Otherwise, the ride was like that of a normal bus.

Lear's company is one of three under contract with California agencies working on a low pollution bus under a Department of Transportation allocation.

"If I can drive up in front of the Capitol in Washington, D.C., with a bus which is as pollution-free as this one, the auto industry can no longer complain it can't be done," Lear said.

Warren Dorn, a member of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, said the Leardeveloped steam engine might well be the salvation of the Los Angeles basin—where four million vehicles dump 13,000 tons of fumes into the air each day.

Lear said General Motors Corp. sold him the bus for $1 because "they didn't want the liability in case our vapor engine blew up. But they have provided us with equipment and technical knowledge." The project has received $202,000 of a $450,000 contract from the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Lear said it will take $35 million to get the engine into mass production for autos, and he estimated cost of the engine in production at $200.

Lear said his vapor-turbine auto would be ready for public display in about 60 days. The Lear bus is scheduled for showing at the Los Angeles Sports Show Feb. 17-21, and the Lear auto—a 1971 Chevrolet Monte Carlo—is to be at the International Auto Show in New York in April.

Mideast Diplomacy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian diplomats have hinted strongly their government may agree to face-to-face negotiations with Israel if Israel makes a firm withdrawal commitment.

The Washington-based diplomats, who could not be named, also said Friday that the government of President Anwar Sadat might drop its insistence on crossing the Suez Canal if the Israelis make a "clear commitment" to withdraw to prewar borders within six months.

Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel has maintained that no Egyptian troops should cross the canal if Israel withdraws from the prime defense line in accordance with the U.S. proposal to reopen the stalled waterway. The Egyptians have insisted their troops cross the canal.

While the Egyptians have shunned direct negotiations, Israel has maintained that only face-to-face talks would produce real peace in the Middle East.

The Egyptian diplomats made it clear that an Israeli withdrawal must be to the boundaries that existed before the 1967 war. However, Israel has said modifications of those borders are necessary because they did not give the country security.

Life Says No Publish

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Life magazine says it has canceled plans to publish excerpts from a purported autobiography of billionaire Howard Hughes after determining that the manuscript is a hoax perpetrated by Clifford Irving.

The magazine's parent company, Time, Inc., dropped the agreement with Mc Graw Hill, Inc., on Friday, and said in a statement it had learned "how Irving put together the manuscript and carried out this hoax."

McGraw- Hill announced later it was still reconsidering its contract with Irving to publish the manuscript as a book but had "discovered additional information concerning a possible source of the material."

The information, it said, was provided by James Phelan, a free- lance investigative reporter who collaborated with former Hughes aide Noah Dietrich on a forthcoming book about the industrialist.

Phelan spent Friday helping both McGraw- Hill and Time piece together details on how the Hughes book was assembled. Time said it would release these details in a cover story in next week's Time magazine.

Juvenile In Custody
Man Killed

CHARLESTON — Curtis Eugene Fergerson, 30, was shot and killed at 2:40 a.m. today at the home of Mrs. Eula Mae Washington, route three, Charleston, Southeast of Wyatt.

According to Sheriff W. J. "Pedro" Simmons, Fergerson was shot by a 15-year-old juvenile once in the left side of the chest. Fergerson died instantly.

Simmons said Fergerson and Mrs. Washington had been arguing earlier in the bedroom of the home and he reportedly cut her in the palm of the right hand. After more arguing and scuffling, Simmons said the juvenile pointed a 20 gauge shotgun at Fergerson and told him was tired of him beating his mother.

Simmons said it was not clear why Fergerson and the boy went outside but apparently Fergerson followed the boy to attempt to take the gun away.

The boy went into the home through the back door and locked Fergerson out. Later, Fergerson knocked out a window and part of the door in and reportedly the juvenile warned him at this time not it come it. After the warning, the boy shot Fergerson.

The juvenile is on the custody of juvenile officer Gordon Galemore. An inquest has been set for 4 p.m. Monday.

City Elections

When municipal elections role around on April 4, at least two well-known names may be missing from their customary spot on the ballot.

Lee Austin Bowmen, school board president and long time member of the board is calling it quits.

"I've served a long time and now its time for other men to take over," Bowmen said. He is associated with the Scott County Milling Co.

Lee Shell is strongly considering leaving his city council seat and running for the school board. He has already filed for election to the board. Shell was first elected to the city council in 1966 and in April 1971, became mayor.

Shell said that he would make his decision soon, saying the situation is "up in the air at this point." He indicated that he doesn't want to leave the council unless someone else is running. Shell said that he doesn't want the city council to have to appoint someone to his seat.

Shell's concern of a vacancy on the council may be unjustified, as W.A. "Archy" Alliston, Jr., of 724 Davis Blvd., became the first person to file for election to the city council yesterday morning. He is associated with Missouri Utilities. Alliston has been unavailable for comment since he filed for election.

Kenny Bridger is expected to announce Monday that he is a candidate for re-election to his city council seat. Bridger, a resident of Sikeston for 21 years, was elected to the council in April of 1971.

Phil Barkett will seek re-election to his school board seat. Barkett is finishing his first three year term and said "I'm very privileged to be on the school board and would like to continue serving." Barkett has been operating Barkett's Big Star Supermarket for 13 years.

Mills Seeks Presidency

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Responding to a campaign generated by home-state supporters and congressional colleagues, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and a leading figure in many a Capitol Hill scrap, says he will actively seek the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mills moved off the list of presidential fence-sitters and into the battle proper Friday with the announcement that he knew his Arkansas delegation would nominate him at the Democratic convention and that he "intended to be in Miami seeking the support of other delegations."

The statement, ending a period in which Mills said he was not a candidate but would not fight a convention draft, came after his name was entered in the Wisconsin and Nebraska primaries.

Mills office said the congressman has written to the Wisconsin and Nebraska secretaries of state that he could not in good conscience sign the required affidavits to remove his name from the ballot.

Such a move, Mills wrote, would require him to say "he is not now and does not intend to be a candidate for President."

Mills, whose committee handles all tax legislation, has been a member of Congress since 1939. He is considered an expert on internal revenue matters and an effective backer of tax policies traditionally espoused by the Democrats.

Mills is reported to have the support of many fellow Southerners to run for the presidency as well as being a favorite son in Arkansas.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State William P. Rogers made it known he will give special foreign-policy briefings to all candidates, starting after "a winnowing out process" has narrowed the now-crowded field.

A department spokesman confirmed this when asked about a call by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., for the administration to give "in-depth discussions" to keep candidates informed.

The State Department said the briefings probably would not start until after Rogers returns from his trip to Peking with President Nixon.

Humphrey, appearing on NBC's "Today" show, also called on fellow presidential hopefuls to "refine the debate" over the President's latest peace moves.

That view was shared by another Democratic contender, Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, who urged Americans to support Nixon's Vietnam efforts "as long as he continues to negotiate effectively for peace."

Jackson, on the campaign trail in Florida, called for a "little moratorium" among presidential contenders.

"There will be ample time to hold Nixon accountable for what he has done—or hasn't done—come November," Jackson told a Jacksonville gathering.

Strike Settlement Discussion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Longshoremen's union leaders from Seattle to San Diego meet today to discuss a tentative settlement in the 127-day dock strike and arrange for a ratification ballot by 13,000 West Coast members.

The caucus, closed to outsiders and held under strict secrecy rules for the 110 delegates, could continue into Monday. Leaders said a Sunday session seemed certain.

Voting on the proposed settlement probably will take a week or more.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the International Longshoremen's Association on the East and Gulf Coasts said his union's 45,000 members are to vote on a new contract by March 8. East Coast dockworkers struck from Oct. 1 to Nov. 26 when President Nixon imposed a Taft-Hartley injunction there.

Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said ILWU members won't go back to their West Coast jobs until they approve the proposed two-year agreement in a secret ballot.

That's the way the strike began July 1 at the 24 ports and that's the way it will end, said Bridges, who headed the negotiating committee which has recommended approval.

After the ILWU caucus acts the 122 employer members of the Pacific Maritime Association will vote on the tentative agreement reached Tuesday. They agreed on economic issues and will submit noneconomic ones to private arbitration.

President Nixon received authority Wednesday from Congress to order an immediate end to the strike. The White House has said the authority will be held pending the ILWU ratification vote.

Nixon invoked the Taft-Hartley Act to send the strikers back to their jobs Oct. 9 after their strike was 100 days old. They resumed the walkout Jan. 17.

A key issue in the contract dispute was an ILWU demand for protection of its jurisdiction over jobs stuffing and unstuffing containers.

The ILWU claims to have lost 1,500 jobs on containers in the last two years, most of them to the Teamsters Union.

The proposed agreement with the PMA provides for a $1-a-ton royalty on container cargo not worked by ILWU men in a 50 mile radius from docks. Some West Coast Teamster leaders have voiced fears the proposed clause could cost the Teamsters jobs. In nearby Burlingame Friday, a committee from the Western Conference of Teamsters studied the ILWU-PMA agreement.

Einar Mohn, conference director, told newsmen no decision was reached on a Teamster position and another meeting, with attorneys, would be held next week.

"The last thing we want to do is create another stoppage of work on the waterfront," Mohn said. "I would like to see us work it out between the ILWU, the PMA and ourselves."

Hunting Fatality

McGEE, Mo. (AP) — Jackie Walker, 22, of Zalma, Mo., in Bollinger County was killed Friday when his hunting companion's .22 rifle accidentally discharged, Wayne County Sheriff's authorities said.

Walker and Ronald D. Owens, 19, of Dudley, Mo., were hunting for rabbits in a heavily - wooded area near here, authorities said.

GIVING UP THE HOUSE

A little lady in Youngstown, Ohio, recently sent us her thoughts after moving out of the house in Altoona, Pa., that she called home for half a century. Eighty this month, she finally gave in to the concern of her nine children about living alone any longer in the former dwelling place of the family. She put it all in poetry for us and we thought you might enjoy it. Her name is Edith Hopkins Courtney, and she has no less than 59 grandchildren:

Years ago we built this house, my husband and I.
I thought I'd never leave it until I die.
Our children all grew up and moved away,
There seems to be no reason I should stay.

My husband died and I am all alone,
But still I feel contented in our home.
Our children worry, bless their hearts, they're all so far away;
I've told them I would move — perhaps in May.

I'd have my own apartment, two bedrooms I would need,
I'd ask my friends to visit me, I would indeed.
Three families live in Youngstown and that is where I'll go.
The children all are glad, they've told me so.

This house, which was built of lumber and stone,
Through half a century has become a home.
The happiness and sorrow, the laughter and tears,
Have formed many memories through the years.

I'll sell our home and try to be brave,
"Into each life some rain must fall,"
This isn't the end of my world at all.

HIGH COST OF PARENTHOOD

It costs the average family about $40,000 to raise a child from birth through college, according to a study made by the federal commission on Population Growth and the American Future.

Even worse, the family "loses" between $40,000 and $120,000 in potential income if the wife stays home until the child is 14 years old, depending upon the wife's level of education. The cost of each additional child, including two more years of the wife's "lost" income, is another $49,000, says the study.

The moral for future American husbands: If you don't believe wives or mothers should work, marry a dingbat. It's cheaper.

HEALTH EDUCATION

While some politicians talk about health care for votes, most discussions of health care in the U.S. revolve around the controversy over whether or not there should be revolutionary changes in the system of health care delivery -- i.e. adoption of a government administered national health insurance program at staggering costs to taxpayers. The political controversy has helped obscure other factors in the national health care picture that help to determine the general health level.

Some of these factors are pointed out by Anne R. Somers, Associate Professor, Department of Community Medicine, Rutgers Medical School. Professor Somers admits that present health care has some shortcomings, but she says, "... the primary causes of America's major health problems -- automobile accidents, obesity, drug and alcohol abuse, venereal diseases, many cancers, much heart and circulatory disease, much mental illness -- and of the remaining infant mortality are the living conditions, lifestyle or ignorance of the consumer himself ... What is desperately needed -- along with reforms in the delivery and financing systems -- is a massive program of consumer health education."

The simple truth is that vast new expenditures for health care will of themselves be of little avail, as Professor Somers warns. Nations are like individuals in that good health depends on good living habits. Living habits in the U.S. are far from exemplary, and it shows in the statistics.

It is possible Professor Somers expects too much of education in the health field -- but, as she stresses, it is one of the keys to a more healthy America.

With Valentine's Day coming up, it makes many a man quiver at the thought of Cupid's arrow.

Some may consider the following dry reading, but I consider it so very important because of the message it has for us. The Twenty-Third Hour used it once before.

And that is, "Don't be fooled by deficit spending by your government. This can only lead to added inflation, for by printing money, your government is creating nothing, is only taking away from the present value of money.

"Only by producing more goods is our economy really growing." And here's how it's said in the Ten Pillars of Economic Wisdom:"

"1— Nothing in our material world can come from nowhere or go nowhere, nor can it be free: everything in our economic life has a source, a destination and a cost that must be paid.

"2 — Government is never a source of goods. Everything produced is produced by the people, and everything that government gives to the people, it must first take from the people.

"3— The only valuable money that government has to spend is that money taxed or borrowed out of the people's earnings. When government decides to spend more than it has thus received, that extra unearned money is created out of thin air, through the banks, and, when spent, takes on value only by reducing the value of all money, savings and insurance.

"4 — In our modern exchange economy, all payroll and employment come from customers, and the only worthwhile job security is customer security; if there are no customers, there can be no payroll and no jobs.

"5 — Customer security can be achieved by the worker only when he cooperates with management in doing the things that win and hold customers. Job security, therefore, is a partnership problem that can be solved only in a spirit of understanding and cooperation.

"6 — Because wages are the principal cost of everything, widespread wage increases, without corresponding increases in production, simply increase the cost of everybody's living.

"7 — The greatest good for the greatest number means, in its material sense, the greatest goods for the greatest number which, in turn, means the greatest productivity per worker.

"8 — All productivity is based on three factors: 1) natural resources, whose form, place and condition are changed by the expenditure of 2) human energy (both muscular and mental) with the aid of 3) tools.

"9 — Tools are the only one of these three factors that man can increase without limit, and tools come into being in a free society only when there is a reward for the temporary self- denial that people must practice in order to channel part of their earnings away from purchases that produce immediate comfort and pleasure, and into new tools of production. Proper payment for the use of tools is essential to their creation.

"10 — The productivity of the tools — that is, the efficiency of the human energy applied in connection with their use — has always been highest in a competitive society in which the economic decisions are made by millions of progress- seeking individuals, rather than in a state- planned society in which those decisions are made by a handful of all- powerful people, regardless of how well- meaning, unselfish, sincere and intelligent those people may be.

"Another point should be added:

"The cost of every good real thing that we enjoy is paid by profits from industry, agriculture and commerce, predominately by industry. This goes for education, social security, medicine and all other forms of welfare. We should foster, not handicap, our source of all good things. This statement does not condone anti- social acts by individuals or corporations." -- Brookfield News Bulletin.

POROUS PAVING TO THE RESCUE

We are still a long way from paving over the entire country, but the urbanization if not "highwayization" of America has already caused a problem in some localities. This is the runoff of uncalculable quantities of water which formerly soaked into the earth to replenish underground supplies, with a consequent overburdening of storm sewer systems, not to mention the contribution to the pollution of lakes, streams and rivers.

But technology may be coming to the rescue. Chemical & Engineering News reports on a porous pavement that lets rain pass through to underground water tables rather than be wasted via storm sewers.

Developed at Franklin Institute Research Laboratories in Philadelphia, the pavement is made of a new asphaltic material that allows up to 70 inches per hour of water to flow through.

Laboratory tests have shown that it has good resistance to mechanical stress, exposure to air and freeze- thaw cycles and should be chaeaper than conventional paving with its necessary runoff (sewer) system.

The next step will be to pave several acres in different locations with the material to test it in actual use. The institute is betting that porous pavement will be the preferred pavement of the future.

THIS IS FAIR
AND EQUITABLE?

The preferential treatment that Congress accorded a minute number of wage earners -- at the demands of organized labor -- could seriously jeopardize efforts to stabilize the economy, comments the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Congress, in extending authority to continue wage-price controls until 1973, directed the President to issue wage guidelines and standards which "shall be fair and equitable."

At the same time, the lawmakers loopholed the requirement by legislating that retroactive wages be paid to certain union members and government workers whose scheduled increases were stopped during the 90-day freeze.

Such special favors follow the Pay Board's action of announcing guidelines one day and then granting pay boosts to union groups that far exceed the stated guidelines.

No wonder that economic controls are being viewed as applicable only to nonunuon workers in the private sector, who constitute by far the greatest number of the work force. These unorganized workers are being asked to comply with a limit on any wage increases they might receive, while organized labor demands -- and gets -- another set of rules and guidelines with far more liberal terms.

The Federal government, in giving in to labor's demands, can destroy public belief that our national leaders are serious in their intent to bring inflation under control.

It's time that the future of all workers -- and we might add, indeed, the public's faith in the fairness of our system of government -- take precedence over the wishes of a few.

INDUSTRIALIST QUESTIONS INSTANT POLLUTION ACTIONS

The quickest route to depression would be to curtail the use of energy, suspend construction of new power plants, and resist technological advances—all in the name of a better environment, E. J. Dwyer, Board Chairman of the National Assoc. of Manuf. said recently.

"Is this the cost we want to pay for a cleaner environment?" Mr. Dwyer asked the members of the Philadelphia Rotary Club.

Mr. Dwyer, who is President of ESB Inc., Philadelphia, decried the current public obsession for "instant" solutions to pollution and other social problems.

"Although pollution control has been an industry activity for many years, the topic flared into national prominence several years ago, and saving the environment has now become a national passion," he said. "No one is against pure water and pure air, but the question is: 'How pure is pure?' Even Ivory soap never quite reached the ultimate."

Public is Real Loser.....Mr. Dwyer said that the public is the real loser when "irresponsible criticism and ill-conceived legislation impair faith in, and the operation of, our economic system. when harassments interfere with industry's ability to meet technical and other challenges, and when critics unfairly seek to fix the onus on industrial managers for a condition that we all help to create."

The NAM Chairman said that detractors who focus their prime attacks on the profit-making function of business are doing a great public disservice. "They tend to obscure the fact that by our ability to put the enterprise ona profitable basis we are able to provide jobs and generate the financial means for solving human needs," he said.

Business Will Respond...."By keeping the economic mechanism strong and functioning with a minimum of restrictions, American business will respond generously and effectively to the social demands of the American family, enhancing the dignity and security of its individual members, and providing a quality of life that is unsurpassed anywhere in the world."

PATRIOTISM MISSING

The radical left has enhanced the communist propaganda line for many months, demanding that the United States set a definite withdrawal date in the Indochina War and then get out lock, stock and barrel regardless of the dangers involved as regards our own forces and those of our allies. The harangue from this element divided the people of this country and sapped our strength.

Now it has been disclosed that Washington had made offers to Hanoi as far back as Oct., 1971, which included a provisional withdrawal date of Aug. 1, 1972, provided other conditions were met. These would include a cease-fire order on both sides and a release of all prisoners of war, a point uppermost in the minds of all. But the negotiations were fruitless since Hanoi wouldn't yield on certain issues. For one thing, the communists demanded that the U. S. unseat the present government of Saigon, a feat the North Vietnamese have not been able to accomplish. But these offers on the part of the U. S., including the specific withdrawal date, have not satisfied the radical left. That element in the U. S. still says that their own country is wrong in not getting out now despite the crisis it would create for our own armed forces in Indochina. Two liberal U. S. Senators, after hearing President Nixon outline his offer to end the war, declared that we ought to withdraw on a unilateral bases with no concessions from the aggressive forces of the communists. It makes one wonder whose side the radical left is on and what it would take to satisfy it. The statements of the radical left certainly don't coincide with old-fashioned patriotism. Right now our nation could use a dose of old-fashioned patriotism. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Trading With Peking: Can Nixon Deliver To Mao Without Support Of U.S. Labor?

WASHINGTON--During my own encounters with novelist-critic Andre Malraux, I soon discovered that the then-French Minister of Cultural Affairs never did lose his old Socialist sabre-like technique of slicing straight to the heart of the conversation piece.

Ted Kennedy, at dinner with him the other night, may not have recognized it but he did get a dose of Malraux's dialectics when the politico-essayist observed that Mao's or Chou's first question to President Nixon after the traditional amenities will be: What can you deliver to us in food, technology, fuel, machinery and trade?

But President Nixon, despite his awesome power, still will be bound in his answer by some Leninist truths. He can promise. But only American labor can deliver. Only American longshoremen can load and unload cargo in sufficient tonnage to repay Peking for all the duck it will put out for its guests.

And most American longshoremen, whether or not it is their right to affect foreign policy, at this moment have no intention of "handling" Sino-Soviet inbound or outbound cargo in ports on the Great Lakes, or on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts.

What if there is paralysis, as both International Longshoremen's Association (AFL-CIO) President Teddy Gleason and Executive Vice President Johnny Bowers tell me there may well be? President Nixon may not be able to deliver. And Malraux Mao's old friend, says this will be the end of the conversation except for banalities.

It is therefore premature for the Communist Chinese Canadian Embassy officials, through their UN Mission comrades, to draw up fanciful and endless gossamer bills of lading.

It was premature for Igor M. Avarin, Chief of the Foreign Relations Dept. of the Soviet Ministry of the Maritime Fleet, and his party to tour New York harbor and the container handling facilities of Port Newark, N.Y. as they did some two weeks ago. Or for Vladimir Matskevich, Soviet Minister of Agriculture and his party to confer here recently with Andy Gibson, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Maritime Affairs.

The port facilities are here. The grain is bountiful. But the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) has no more plans to move Soviet cargo than Chinese Communist material. It is the way of the dockwalloper. They haven't handled Communist vessels for over 20 years. Even these days they turn their backs on the Polish passenger craft the Batory when it puts into New York.

It is their way. They look at you and say, "ILA--it stands for I Love America." And you know they're not jingoist. They belive that trading with the Sino-Soviet bloc negates their patriotism. There are those who will mock the slogan. But it stays.

True the West Coast longshoremen, when they work, handle about 10 to 12 Soviet freighters a month--cargo ships which work cheaper hauling Japanese goods to America than can American freighters.

But Western ports couldn't handle the real bulk of Sino-Soviet trade. Thus the answer to Mao's question, presuming Malraux is correct, must come from those who follow Gleason and Bowers.

Here, on the service road of history's mainstream, it must be noted that Gleason clears it all with AFL-CIO President George Meany. And if there is any one thing which has the husky irreverent labor chief uptight with Mr. Nixon it is the President's trip to Peking and China. Raw acid is a diet cola compared with Meany's private characterization of the Nixon trips.

For years Meany and his federation have fought the exchange of labor delegations even with Yugoslavia. This hatred of anything Communist is as deeply rooted in his devout soul as his regularity at Saturday mass.

He has told this to the President. But he knows, as he gathers with his high command colleagues at their midwinter Executive Council session in B 1 Harbour, not even his literal and figurative bulk can dam the flow of Sino-Soviet-American relations. So there must be a quid pro quo, a bargain, concessions by the Moscow and Mainland China party bosses, Brezhnev and Mao if he's still competent.

And as Johnny Bowers told a Hollywood banquet honoring him the other night, there will be no handling of Russian or Chinese cargo if there is no release of American prisoners of war.

"We have not changed our mind," said Bowers later, "we hope they understand. We mean no disrespect to the President but that's our position and it's final.

"We don't want to embarrass Nixon. But he must understand the position of the ILA. No release of war prisoners, no use of Peking and Moscow influence on Hanoi for this, no lifting of the boycott."

And there is unity among most maritime unions--with the exception of Harry Bridges. Leaders of the waterfront and ocean-going workers held a series of secret sessions in New York last week to end internal feuding and form a solid bloc.

They want trade. They want to move grain to the hungry, even machinery and technology. But they're men who know how to bargain. They want to know what America will get in return. No one has told them. No one has contacted them. Not even the State Department which has been hosting the visiting Soviet dignitaries.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--We reported last September that the Better Business Bureaus, which consumers across the country rely upon for protection against dishonest businessmen, often put out misinformation intended more to protect the companies than their customers.

The national executive vice president, John O'Brien, told us the abuses we had uncovered were products of the past. "Now it's a new ball game," he said passionately.

We waited five months, then reviewed the BBB's operations. Here are our latest findings:

--The new ball game didn't last nine innings. Reformer O'Brien was yanked out, demoted and replaced by William Tankersley, a former CBS vice president.

--We examined a batch of reports prepared by the Trade Practices Department for distribution to the 142 local Better Business Bureaus. Most were so bland as to be useless. Many didn't even name the companies accused of questionable practices.

--Some BBB reports were actually written by the offending companies themselves. Instead of an independent assessment, the consumers got exactly what the company wanted them to know.

Of course, some reports on trade practices name the bad companies and call the shots honestly. But these tough reports, unhappily, are often ignored by the local BBBs.

--FACTS WITHHELD--

For example, a national report warned the locals on January 5 that Frederick Chusid and Company, nationwide career counselors, had been listed with firms that "do not enjoy good reputation." The report also mentioned lawsuits against Chusid.

My associate Les Whitten, posing as a middle-level administrator, asked the Washington BBB about Chusid. He was given no inkling of the unfavorable BBB report. Instead, a rushed clerk said there had been "a very few complaints."

At Chusid's Washington office, counselor Willy Welan told Whitten airily: "Nothing to the complaints. All companies have them. Look at General Motors. You don't get where we are if there's anything wrong."

Posing as a new homeowner, Whitten also asked BBB's national council for a report on Welcome Wagon. A cordial clerk assured him that "at no time have its activities been the subject of any unfavorable information or criticism to this office."

Yet only two months ago, Rep. Ogden Reid, R-N.Y., caused a national furore by producing evidence that Welcome Wagon hostesses sometimes snooped on people they visited.

Reid showed us written reports that the hostesses had submitted to business clients, giving details about the unsuspecting homeowners' economic situation.

Footnote: Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., has also concluded from an exhaustive, three-month study that the Better Business Bureaus put out "inaccurate" information and favor member companies.

--PRO-CONSUMER ATTORNEY GENERAL--

The powerful patent lobby has suffered a devastating setback from Attorney General John Mitchell who ignored his big business past to side vigorously with the consumer.

The lobby is made up of patent lawyers and the huge corporations they serve. For years, they have tried to push through amendments to exempt patents from anti-trust laws.

Without such laws, the consumers would be unprotected against price-fixing, but the big corporations would stand to make billions.

Last year, the lobby came within one vote of getting its exemption from a Senate subcommittee. But Sen. Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, turned the tables and crossed party lines to vote against it.

The dismayed patent lawyers blamed Washington Merry-Go-Round revelations about their lobbying for defeat of the bill. But privately they began work to reverse the subcommittee vote.

In confidential memos they urged patent lawyers with contacts in high places to undertake the "education of Senators," presumably Fong and others opposing the bill.

The lobby gathered support from two ex-patent commissioners, the Commerce Department and some members of the White House staff.

Against this heavyweight opposition, the consumer-minded Senators looked to the Justice Department. There, Mitchell had been mulling for weeks over a memo from his anti-trust staff urging a strong statement against the lobby's amendments.

Finally, despite fatcat GOP contributors among the lobbyists, Mitchell chomped on his pipe and ordered his anti-trust chief, Richard McLaren to lambaste the bill.

McLaren complied in a private letter a few days ago to the Senate Patents chairman, John McClellan, D-Ark. In it, McLaren said the lobby's bill would open the way to "price-fixing," "boycotts," "anti-competitive patent pools," and "predatory price discrimination."

Secretly, McLaren advised McClellan that the bill would ruin Justice's cases against such industrial giants as Westinghouse, Bristol-Myers, Mitsubishi, Ciba, American Home Products and Colgate-Palmolive.

Denver Ligons Family Named

Farm Family Of Year

GIDEON — The Denver Ligons family of route one, Gideon, has been selected as "The Farm Family of the Year" for 1971.

Denver, now married to Vada (Lance) of Gideon, has two sons, Dwain and Michael, ages 9 and 6.

Denver is renting 320 acres of land from the Fletcher Gin Company of Gideon, and owns 102 acres of land, giving him a total of 422 acres of this being in cultivated crops.

His major crops are:

Cotton,	92 Acres;
Wheat,	30 Acres;
Wheat soybeans,	30 Acres;
Corn,	50 Acres;
Early soybeans,	238 Acres;

The Ligons family began farming in 1964, with the assistance of FHA, on 160 acres of land with 80 acres being located near Frailey and the other 80 acres being located some 40 miles away at Campbell, Missouri. He continued farming on a small scale on rented land until he received a farm ownership loan through FHA to purchase 102 acres in 1970.

Denver has consistently shown his ability to produce high yields by using approved practices for the area, such as fertilization, chemicals, and rotating, backed by research at the Delta Experiment Station.

He credits the high yields to his excellent four years rotation of cotton, corn, wheat, and soybeans. He fertilizes according to soil test using a starter application and side dressing the corn and cotton annually.

His latest venture has been into a feeder pig enterprise which presently consists of 22 sows, two farrowings per year, with average weaning per litter of 8. These are housed in a central farrowing house using crates. Pigs are cared for in crates castrated, vaccinated, and weaned at six weeks of age, after which they are placed in a holding pen for marketing at about 7 or 8 weeks. He is presently using a York-Hampshire cross.

Mrs. Ligons is active in the Methodist Women's club while the two small sons are both enrolled in the Cub Scouts.

One of the important factors to the families success is due in part to the excellent set of records of farming expenses and income, kept by both husband and wife.

Option Offered Producer

NEW MADRID — As sign-up opened in the 1972 voluntary programs for feed grain, wheat and cotton producers, a new set- aside option was offered to corn and grain sorghum producers by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A higher set- aside payment rate can be earned by producers who agree to reduce their farm's corn- sorghum acreage below last year's planting.

At the same time, all previously- announced options remain open to feed grain producers, according to John Hutcheson, Missouri Farm Program Official. Provisions of the wheat and cotton set- aside programs are unchanged. Additional set- aside options for wheat had been announced in January.

Producer sign-up in the 1972 farm set- aside programs opened February 3 and will continue through March 10 at ASCS county offices throughout the Nation.

Under the new option for feed grain producers with corn-sorghum bases, the payment rate for up to at least 10 percent and possibly 15 percent voluntary additional set- aside will be the same as the qualifying set- aside rate -- 80 cents a bushel for corn and 76 cents a bushel for grain sorghum. USDA will accept up to 10 percent of this voluntary set- aside when offered by the producer at sign-up. The remaining 5 percent will be at the option of the Secretary of Agriculture, with a later announcement on whether it will be accepted.

If he chooses this new option, a producer will hold his 1972 corn- sorghum acreage at not more than last year's acreage minus twice the additional set- aside acreage.

Producers who choose the new corn- sorghum option in the feed grain program will forego the option previously announced for additional voluntary set- aside for corn, grain sorghum, and barley.

Explanations of all 1972 set- aside programs and options -- except this new corn-sorghum option -- have been presented to farmers, Hutcheson said. Details of the new option are currently being made available to farmers.

Beef Prices May Be On Verge Of Stampede

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supermarket beef prices, already at record highs, may be on the verge of a full-fledged stampede, according to new government smoke signals.

The Agriculture Department said Monday that January beefcattle prices broke a 21-year record set during the Korean War, reaching an average of $31.40 per hundredweight for live animals.

Meanwhile, the department says, retail prices of choicegrade beef in December—before the full effect of the record cattle market was felt—rose to a record all-cut average of $1.08 per pound.

Raw farm products are not included in federal price controls, and retailers may pass on added costs to customers.

Also, consumers appear willing to buy beef almost at any price. It is the favorite, by far, and, with second-ranked pork, comprises nearly one-third of the average family's food bill.

Doubts over the cost of meat production were raised Monday by the Food and Drug Administration which served notice it will curb the use of antibiotics in livestock feed unless the medicines are proved safe for meat eaters.

Some agricultural spokesmen say that, if feed antibiotics are banned, costs of livestock production would soar and consumers would end up paying much more. But government experts say the economic effects of an antibiotic ban are impossible to tell at this time.

Rising cattle prices are providing a mixed blessing for the Nixon administration, which wants to see farm incomes improved but shudders at the possibility of a consumer revolt over soaring prices in an election year.

In 1951, when the previous record of $30.30 per hundredweight was set for cattle, retail beef prices averaged 88 cents per pound, fully 20 cents less than today.

Cattleman costs for shipping, processing and marketing beef have risen much more sharply, so farmers are not the primary recipients of higher prices.

Little consumer relief is seen for the near future. Agriculture Department officials predict cattle prices will continue strong and see little likelihood of middleman markets shrinking much.

This, they say, is true even though more cattle are now being fed for slaughter later. As of Jan. 1, there were 8 per cent more in fattening pens than a year earlier, and cattlemen say herds are expanding gradually to take care of future needs.

One immediate solution, favored by many consumer groups, is expansion of meat imports. But those, mostly lowgrade meat used for hamburger and processing, are tightly supervised under a quota system.

Quality On Set-Aside Acreage

NEW MADRID — Farmers who use the set- aside inspection and early measurement service offered by the county ASCS office will be guaranteed that their set-aside acreage in the 1972 farm programs will be of acceptable quality and sufficient acreage to earn full program payments.

The quality guarantee is new, according to Bernard Recker, Chairman of the New Madrid County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The guarantee of sufficient acreage, provided the staked measurements are followed, has long been a major reason for wide- spread use of the ASCS measurement service by farm program participants.

"Guarantee means just that," Recker said. "If a farmer gets set- aside inspection and early measurement service -- and follows those measurements when he makes his set- aside -- then ASCS guarantees no deductions will be made from this program payments because of insufficient set- aside acreage or because the set- aside land was not of average productivity."

The quality- and- quantity set- aside guarantee was announced at the beginning of the sign-up period for the 1972 feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs. Signup opened February 3 and continues through March 10 at the county ASCS office.

Program participants who want measurement service usually request it when they sign up, since it is a convenient time. This year, Recker said, special consideration should be given to getting in early to sign up and to request set- aside inspection and early measurement. The service is provided at a nominal charge which covers the cost.

"The sooner a set- aside inspection and measurement request is made, the sooner that farm will get the service," he said, "and with double guarantee on both quality and quantity of set- aside acreage, the county ASCS office expects even more than the usual large number of measurement requests at sign-up this year. The way to get ahead of the rush would be to come in early to sign up for the 1972 feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs."

The quality guarantee for set- aside acreage is important because of the "average productivity" requirement for set- aside land, the ASC Committee Chairman said. Land designated for set- aside must have a productive capacity at least equal to the land on which program crops are grown this year -- or the land on which program crops would have been grown. Failure to meet this requirement can result in reduction or loss of farm program payments.

Recker also said that the local ASCS office had been instructed not to accept for set- aside land any acreage which is known in advance to be of below average quality.

Under the Agricultural Act of 1970, which embodies the set- aside program, farmers participating in the voluntary feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs may plant their cropland almost as they wish, if they maintain their set- aside acreage, and conserving base. Some crops which are under quota, such as rice, peanuts, extra long staple cotton and a few others, may be grown only within farm allotments.

It is essential that good quality set- aside land be offered by program participants in order to help reduce the potential American agriculture has for excess production, Recker said.

Farm Producer Program Choices

NEW MADRID — In order to participate in the 1972 Feed Grain Set- Aside Program, an eligible producer must make the following choices:

Qualifying participation. In all cases, in order to participate, a producer must set aside a cropland acreage of average productivity equal to 25 percent of his total feed grain base. He will receive a payment rate of 80 cents a bushel for corn, 76 cents for grain sorghum, and 64 cents for barley on the established yeild of the set- aside acres.

In addition, he may choose one of the following two alternatives:

(1) He may set aside an additional acreage up to 10 percent of his corn- sorghum base, at a payment rate of 52 cents a bushel for corn, 49 cents for grain sorghum. Barley gorwers may elect up to 20 percent additional set-aside at 42 cents per bushel. This is the only option that offers additional voluntary set- aside for barley. (If a producer with a corn- sorghum base wants to make maximum set- aside under this choice, he may offer an additional 5 or 10 percent of that base at the 52-cent rate for corn, 49-cent rate for sorghum, at the option of the Secretary of Agriculture who will announce at a later date whether he will accept this offer.)

OR

(2) He may set- aside an additional 10 percent of his corn- sorghum base at an 80-cent rate for corn, 76 cent rate for grain sorghum provided, he agrees to reduce his corn- sorghum planting from last year by twice the acreage of his additional set-aside. (If a producer wants to make maximum set- aside under his choice, he may offer an additional 5 percent of his corn- sorghum base at the 80-cent rate for corn, 76-cent rate for sorghum, at the option of the Secretary of Agriculture who will announce at a later date whether he will accept this offer. If the additional 5 percent offer is accepted, the producer must also reduce his corn- sorghum planting from last year by twice the acreage of this additional offer.)

Butz Strong For More Farm Income To Families

"Most wage-earning Americans who have received their regular pay increases do not protest very much when their fellow workers also receive pay boosts," Butz said in a luncheon address to the National Farm Institute.

"I hope they can see the justice in fair treatment for farmers, especially when the record shows that farmers are making only three-fourths as much income per person as non-farm people," he added.

Butz said it is necessary to fight for better farm income, to get fair prices for farm products, to strengthen corn prices, to prevent labor tieups so farmers can get their harvest to market, to give farmers more freedom to manage their own business, and to "fight for a better break for family farmers."

Stressing that the fight to provide a better income for farmers "is the biggest battle of all," Butz said "We want to see farmers do better so that they will find more opportunity to stay in agriculture.

"That's good for farmers, good for farm communities, good for the rural countryside, and good for the nation."

Butz noted that some progress is being made in stemming the trend of the diminishing small farm.

"The average decline in the number of farms during the past three years has been 47,000 a year," he said. "That's considerably better than the average loss of 106,000 farms a year from 1961 through 1968. But we want to do still better."

A study released by the Iowa Farm Bureau earlier this week noted that Iowa had lost 2,000 farms from 1970 to 1971.

Butz said that in order to "do still better," the Department of Agriculture and the Nixon Administration are taking a twopronged approach to improving farm and rural opportunity.

"Our first is the battle to improve farm income," he said. "Our second is the effort to improve economic opportunities in rural America."

"We want more of this nation's future to be invested in rural America, so that farm and rural people can find more and better jobs in their home areas instead of having to move to some far-off city that is already overcrowded and congested.

Earlier in the morning he said that farm income will be at an all-time high in 1972.

But he said at a news conference at the Iowa Statehouse that legislation must be enacted to prevent further crippling dock strikes that hurt American farmers.

"Farm income in 1972 will be up $1.5 to $2 billion over 1971," he said.

He said one of his main charges is to raise the income of farm families and other rural people.

"The President backs me all the way," Butz said. "He understands the problems of farm people."

Butz, in Des Moines to address the National Farm Institute, said food is a bargain in the United States. "Americans this year will spend only 15.5 per cent of their disposable income for food," he said, adding that last year they spent 16.5 per cent.

"I make no apology for wanting decent prices for farm products," the agriculture secretary said.

Butz said he has faith in the family farm but thinks such farms must not be too small.

"I want the small farmer to have enough land to produce enough for an adequate income," he said. "The small farm in Iowa a few years ago was only 80 acres. That is too small. Let's make sure the family farmer has enough to produce for an adequate income."

Butz criticized labor committees in Congress for holding up legislation to allow the President to end dock strikes.

"I'm getting tired of our farmers being bloodied between the eyes because of somebody else's labor strikes," he said. "We've got a right for access to markets. I don't want the farmer to spend a year raising crops and then sent down the drain because of a jurisdictional fight on the West Coast."

BOOMING ON SKIS

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — The 19th century's silver boom prompted 10,000 people to make their homes here, but they fled when the silver ran out.

Now another boom is underway, one that could bring more riches to the mountain community than mining ever did. Four ski areas are located on the surrounding mountains, and the influx of skiers each winter has prompted construction of multi-million dollar condominium complexes and attracted a permanent population of several thousand.

Scott County Crop Meetings

PORTAGEVILLE — According to John Garrett, Area Agronomy Specialist, three Crop Production Meetings will be held in Scott County. The locations for the meetings will be Chaffee, Sikeston and Illmo. Similar topics will be discussed at each location.

The meeting at Chaffee will be held February 10 at the VFW Hall from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. 1972 crop production practices for corn, milo and soybeans will be discussed.

The meeting at Sikeston will be held February 15 at the Holiday Inn from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. You will notice this will be an all day meeting. 1972 crop production practices for corn, milo, soybeans and cotton will be discussed at this location. The noon meal will be sponsored by the Scott County Milling Company, Sikeston Oil Mill and Sikeston Federal Compress.

The meeting at Illmo will be held February 17 at the Illmo- Scott City High School from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. 1972 crop production practices for corn, milo and soybeans will be discussed. Crop varieties, herbicides, diseases, soil testing and storage will be brought into each discussion.

Speakers on each program will be Charles Baldwin, Pathologist; Joe Scott, Agronomist; John Yount, Farm Management; and John Garrett, Agronomist. Pick out the above meeting that will be of most interest to you and plan to attend. The practices recommended at these meetings may increase your 1972 crop yields. Mark the date on your calendar now.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Lindell Hadley

Hadley-McClellan

The Shady Acres Church of Christ was the setting for the candlelight wedding of Diane Marie McClellan and Doyle Lindell Hadley Jan. 22 at three o'clock in the afternoon. Don C. Glover officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. McClellan, 816 Pine, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis.

The bride chose "The Lord's Prayer", "Just a Closer Walk With Thee" and "Because" to be sung before the wedding ceremony began.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. For her wedding she chose a formal gown of chiffon velvet and cotton crochet lace. The scooped neckline and the empire waistline along with the victorian sleeves were the accent points of the gown.

Her chapel length veil of bridal illusin was held securely with a flowered Juliet cap. She carried a cascade of red and white sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor was Joyce Carroll of Dayton, Ohio. The bridesmaids were Janie Price and Ronnie Delle Wolf, cousin of the bride.

Tammy Davis, sister of the groom, was the flower girl.

The best man was Mike Hadley, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Jim Christie of Sikeston and Kenny Stricker of Elgin, Ill. John Paul McClellan, brother of the bride was ringbearer. Jimmy McClellan, another brother of the bride was the candlelighter. Ushers were Johnny Ensor and Mark McClellan.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The guest book attendant was Janet Mock. Serving at the reception table were Mrs. Kenny Stricker and Mrs. Jim Christie.

After the reception the bride and groom left for their home in Elgin, Ill.

Vickrey-Watkins

JACKSON — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vickrey of Jackson have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Judy Kay Vickrey, to Terrence Leigh Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Leigh Watkins of Sikeston.

The bride- elect is a 1970 graduate of Jackson High School and attended Office Training School in Cape Girardeau. She is employed by the Bennett Paper Corp. there.

Watkins, a 1968 graduate of Sikeston High School, attended college in St. Louis and State College in Cape Girardeau. He is employed there by KGMO.

An April 14 wedding is planned.

Judy Kay Vickrey

Ligons-Albright

CLARKTON — The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Beverly Darlene Ligons to Clinton Vernon Albright of Steele has been announced.

Miss Ligons is the daughter of Mrs. Bertha Ligons of Clarkton and the late Robert Ligons. She is a 1971 graduate of Clarkton high school and is employed in the W. T. Dye Tax office in Kennett.

Albright, son of Rev. and Mrs. Fred Albright of Steele, is a 1970 graduate of Woodruff high school in Peoria, Ill. He is employed at the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti.

Wedding plans are being made for March 11 at the Assembly of God Church in Clarkton.

Bloomfield Homemaker Chosen

BLOOMFIELD--Carol L. Shipman has been named Bloomfield High School's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972. Selected on the basis of her score in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to senior girls last December 7, she will receive a specially designed award charm from General Mills, sponsor of the annual educational program. Additionally, she is now eligible for state and national honors.

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow, to be chosen from all school winners in the state in judging centering on their performance in the December 7 test, will be awarded a $1,500 college scholarship. A complete set of Encyclopaedia Britannica will also be awarded to her school by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc. The second-ranking girl in the state will receive a $500 educational grant.

In April, the 51 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow representing every state and the District of Columbia--each accompanied by a faculty adviser--will join for an expense-paid educational tour of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D.C. Climax of the tour will be announcement of the 1972 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and three runners-up. To be chosen through personal observation and interviews, together with the earlier state-level judging results, they will be awarded scholarship increases to $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

In addition to the grants awarded state and national winners, a $1,000 National Nutrition Scholarship has been added to the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow this year. To earn this award, a young woman must be planning a college major in nutrition or a related field, rank among the highest in her state in the overall Search test and achieve the top score, from those meeting the first two criteria, on the examination's nutrition questions.

All judging and selection of winners in the Betty Crocker Search is conducted by Science Research Associates, Chicago, which also constructed and grades the written examination.

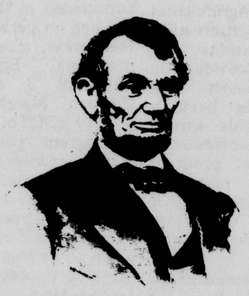
—The first nationally franchised Girl Scout cookie sale was launched in 1936.



You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong. You can not help small men by tearing down big men. You can not help the poor by destroying the rich. You can not lift the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer. You can not keep out of trouble by spending more than your income. You can not further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatreds. You can not establish security on borrowed money. You can not build character and courage by taking away a man's initiative and independence. You can not help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do themselves.

22 Couples Attend Enrichment Program

Twenty-two couples attended the marriage enrichment program sponsored by the Knights of Columbus last Sunday night. The program, which is non-denominational, was conducted by Brother Hillary Schmitsze of Cape Girardeau.

The program was designed to put more meaning and understanding into the marriage. All aspects of the marriage from the man-woman relationship to the child-parent relationship was discussed. A group discussion was also held.

Sundays session was the first of four, with the next one being held Sunday night at 7 p.m. in the basement of St. Francis Xavier school. The other sessions will be held Feb. 20 and March 5. The public is invited.

OUTSTANDING WEBELOES SCOUT AWARD was presented to Gary Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Davis, by Scoutmaster Mike Euer at Thursday night's annual appreciation dinner in East Prairie. Outstanding Boy Scout award was given to Jeff Emory, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Emory, who was not available for picture.

Ann Landers

Mother Playing Hanky Panky

Dear Ann Landers: I can't give you much information because I don't want anyone to guess who wrote this letter.

My father is a trucker. He's away sometimes as long as five nights in a row. My mother is seeing another man, I am sure. He comes through the back door and has a key. Mom's bedroom is in the back of the house and this man goes right in and leaves the same way--sometimes at dawn.

I have seen him a few times but he doesn't know it. I've also heard his voice and it sounds familiar, like a friend of my father's. I think this is pretty raunchy but I don't know if I should say anything to my dad. He has a hot temper and he just might kill somebody. I need some advice.---Know Too Much

Dear K.T.M.: If you are absolutely certain and not guessing or imagining things, I suggest that you say something to your mother. But do NOT repeat NOT say anything to your father. A child should not inform on either parent. The feeling of guilt for whatever happens afterwards could be too much of a burden for young shoulders to carry.

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column about a son who bought his parents' cast-offs (second-hand car, broken appliances, etc.), you said that after 25 years he wasn't going to change, that he was emotionally immature and still needed parental approval to feel like a good boy. Your advice was, "Let him continue to do it. He needs it for emotional security."

I am considering marriage to a 44-year-old bachelor who is still tied to his older sister's apron strings. If I try to cut him loose will I be threatening his emotional security?

When my opinion differs with his sister's he becomes withdrawn and he invariably ends up siding with her. Even though his sister is married and has a family of her own he seems to lean on her as if she were his mother.

I am a widow and would be moving to his community if I married him. What do you think?---Nebraska Fan

Dear Neb.: I think his sister is a mother-substitute and will remain the dominant woman in his life as long as she lives. You will never change the pecking order, dear, so the questions you must answer are these: Can you live with it? Do the advantages outweight the disadvantages? Only you can provide the answers.

Dear Ann Landers: Hooray for the advice you gave the daughter who screamed at her mother! (Her mother also screamed at her.) I hope she listens.

My mother and I were both screamers and it was terrible. Things finally got to the point where we couldn't carry on a civilized conversation. Every discussion ended in a shrieking match. Over my husband's objections I decided to get counseling. The results were spectacular. Mom and I will never be bosom buddies but we can at least conduct ourselves like adults. I actually enjoy being in her company for the first time in my life.

It's impossible to feel like a good person when you think your own mother dislikes you. And it's worse when you think it's all your fault. I learned a great deal about myself, and about her, too, from verbalizing the things that were bothering me. I used to believe your advice to "get counseling" was a copout. Now I know better.---Happy At Last

Dear Happy: Thanks for letting me know you are happy at last and that counseling did it. Are you listening, students?

REVEREND X.Y.Z'S WEEKLY SUGAR-COATED BIBLE WISDOM PILL NO. 11

Reverend Xavier Y. Zanzibar (pseudonym), P.O. Box 252, Dexter, Mo., 63841, advises it is factual the spring made by Moses smiting the rock (Exodus 17) still produces good water, also, that quail continue to fly over the Wilderness of Paran (Numbers 11), very slow, and close to the ground (tired after long sea flight), so can easily be killed with a club. Further, it is inscribed on the face of an ancient rock in the upper Nile River how for seven consecutive years the river failed to overflow its banks, thus causing famine (Genesis 41). And also, a cliff overlooking the Red Sea, presumably near the actual scene, contains a graphic written account, apparently by an eyewitness, of the destruction of the Egyptian army. (Exodus 14). Take five!!!

55,000 Children's Car Seats Not Up To Par

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has found that more than 55,000 car seats for children fail to meet new safety standards.

Involved are children's car seats made by four manufacturers between last April and November. The new safety rules went into effect April 1.

The manufacturers have agreed to take corrective action, NHTSA said.

Cosco Household Products, Inc., of Columbus, Ind., and Frank F. ,Taylor, Inc. of Frankfort, Ky., are asking owners of the faulty seats to return them for replacement without cost. There are 9,600 Cosco and 2,900 Taylor seats involved in the recall, NHTSA said.

Pride Trimble, Inc. of Burbank, Calif., maker of 34,000 of the seats, and Buckeye Plastics Co. of Reynoldsburg, Ohio, producer of 8,700, have revised installation instructions to indicate that the vehicle's seat belt should be placed around the child in the small seat for added security.

Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe said that in tests the hip of a dummy child moved forward more than 12 inches in reaction to a 1,000pound force, thus exceeding the federal safety limits. In addition, the Taylor seat failed to meet webbing strength requirements.

Mules End Jinx

A big performance by John Griffin sparked Poplar Bluff to a 61-51 victory over Sikeston in a SEMO conference basketball game at senior high fieldhouse Friday. It was the first time the Mules had won on the tartan surface since its opening in 1969.

Griffin scored 23 points, 19 in the second half, and led coach Tom Hoover's team in rebounding. The 6-foot-2 center- forward had a free hand in the second half as Sikeston played without center Pope Hunt, their number one rebounder and number two scorer. Undra West paced the Bulldogs scoring and claimed high game honors with 24 points, his high mark of the season.

Poplar Bluff took an eight point lead in the first period but Sikeston, with a spark from guard Bob Blankenship and eight points by West in the second period, battled back to tie the scored 29-29 at half.

Late in the third period, West hit four straight shots from the 15-20 foot range and seemed to give the Bulldogs some momentum as the score stood 44-44 at the end of the third frame.

In the fourth period Bluff doubled the defense on West, holding him to just one field goal and took a five point lead with three minutes to play. The Mules then put the game in a freeze which forced the Bulldogs to foul and then ran up their 10 point advantage.

Ken Chronister led Bluff in the first half with 13 points but the Mules outside shooting was cold and in the second half they worked their offense to Griffin underneath the basket. Griffin, Chronister and Curtis Hinton dominated the rebounding with Sikeston seldom getting more than one shot. Many of Poplar Bluff's field goals came on the second shot and even the third as the Mules completely dominated the rebounding.

In the middle of the fourth period Sikeston had a one point lead but a charging foul, a pass that went out of bounds and a walking violation turned the game around. Free throws were a big difference too as the Dogs canned only one of nine for the game while Bluff connected on 17 of 31. From the field, Sikeston outshot the visitors 25-22.

The loss was the ninth straight for the Bulldogs, who beat Fredericktown for its last win in early January.

Poplar Bluff's basketballers started the night's action with a 50-42 win.

Bengals Breeze

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A cold shooting third quarter led to Cape Girardeau Central's easy 82-60 triumph over the Dexter Bearcats Friday night in SEMO conference action.

Dexter, who upset the district's top rated Richland Rebels Tuesday night stayed close to the tall Bengals through the first half but hit a cold shooting spell and failed to rebound with the giants and fell back 25-12 in the third quarter.

Central opened up a 15-14 edge in the first period and added four points to the margin in the second quarter to take a 40-35 lead at intermission

The victory boosted Central's win to 17-3 and 4-0 in the league. Mike Steigemeyer had 21 points to pace a five player double figure Bengal offensive attack. Dan Summers had 19 for the Bearcats.

Cape swept to a 55-36 junior varsity win and lead the conference in both divisions.

Morrow Paces Hawks

BENTON–The Kelly Hawks used a 33 point performance by sharp shooting guard Mike Morrow to down the Chaffee Red Devils here Friday night, 76-62.

Kelly wasted little time in taking the lead over Chaffee as Morrow began to hit his favorite jump shot and the Hawks were ahead 22-12 after the first period had come to a close.

Chaffee battled back in the second period to erase four points off their 10 point deficit and trail 42-36 at the half.

Kelly came out in the third period to add to their lead scoring 17 points to 11 for Chaffee. The Hawks ran away in the last period 23-14.

Kelly hit 33 field goals to 24 for Chaffee. Scott Thomas once again led the Red Devils with 26 points.

Kelly ran away with the B game 81-27 with Kenny Urhahn hitting 27 points and Seibert had 13 for Chaffee.

Second Quarter Fatal

ORAN--Joe Scott's Eagles outscored the Parma Pirates 89-79 in an offensive battle here Friday night.

The second quater was the big one for Oran and the downfall for the Pirates as the Eagles took a 28-18 advantage, mostly in the final minute of the half.

The Eagles outscored Parma 18-17 in the initial period. The third quarter saw the Eagles continue to build up their lead scoring 22 points to 19 for Parma.

Parma made an effort to come back in the last quarter but the buzzer sounded before they could make a big enough threat after closing within seven. Oran held a 20 point lead once.

Joe Barnes had 22 points for the Pirates. Oran won the B game 70-56 with Curtis Caldwell getting 29 points. Gaines had 28 for the Pirates.

"My husband's name is Jim. He is a Lieutenant in the Navy.
He's been missing for 4½ years.
They're bargaining to get the prisoners released.
But what I want to know...
is he still alive? Is he well?
I can't find out.
Hanoi won't tell our government.
Hanoi won't tell me."

There need be no "bargaining table" when the plea is for humane treatment of prisoners of war.

THE prisoner-of-war issue is complex and confusing. It is loaded with political overtones and emotional tension.

But one side of the prisoner-of-war issue is simple. That's the part which deals with the condition of prisoners.

Who are they? Where are they? How are they?

Those are the questions the families of American prisoners want answered. Those are the questions the conscience of the world wants answered...now.

Of course, they want the war to end and the prisoners of war to be released as soon as possible.

But meanwhile there is no need for Hanoi and its allies to delay even a day in answering this plea:

Admit official neutral observers into the prison camps in North Vietnam, South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos, where Americans are being held in secret captivity.

Assure the world, through these neutral observers, that American prisoners are being decently and humanely treated, according to the standards of civilized nations.

Hanoi can do this without bargaining, even without consultation.

By opening the prisons now to official neutral observers, Hanoi would earn the gratitude of millions of Americans and find new stature in the eyes of the world.

We ask and pray they will.

SUPPORT OUR PLEA TO HANOI AND ITS ALLIES:

Clear away the doubts—
Open your prison camps to neutral observers...
now!

We ask no more than we give. All American and South Vietnamese prison camps are inspected regularly by official neutral observers—The International Committee of the Red Cross.

Objections To Program

Most of the objections to the Department of Conservation's proposed "Design for Conservation" have been on the method of financing it -- a proposed tax on soft drinks -- rather than on the program itself, but there have been some objections to the program as well.

Some critics have charged the proposal is "another scenic rivers bill." The "Design for Conservation" proposes acquisition of access sites on floatable streams, and strips of land on a number of non- floatable streams. Streamside zoning is not considered, nor is placing entire rivers or streams in public domain.

"It is recognized," the proposal says, "that stream preservation is a controversial, emotion - charged subject. At the same time, no logical expansion of conservation efforts can ignore these needs. The rate, time and place of acquisition of access and frontage proposed here would entirely be subject to control of the landowners of Missouri, whose cooperation is essential to the success of the entire program."

Proposed is acquisition of 480 tracts, five to ten acres in size, for use as access sites to floatable streams. Proposed acquisition of strips of land bordering a number of streams would provide for nature hiking, wading, bank fishing, natural stream preservation and protection of rare or endangered fish and wildlife. Frontage would be acquired either by purchase or easement from willing landowners.

Critics have also suggested the Department will use eminent domain to wrest land from unwilling landowners. The Department of Conservation can use eminent domain now, but has done so only five times in over 30 years. Again, the "Design for Conservation" stresses cooperation with willing landowners.

Another charge is that the Department of Conservation is "building an empire."

"Our lands are held in trust for the people of Missouri, says Harry Mills, chairman of the Conservation Commission. "They're heavily used by the people of Missouri. All our resources are dedicated to enhancing our lands and private lands for wildlife benefits. If this is building an empire, it sounds like a pretty good empire to be a part of."

Some critics have said that some counties will suffer from the loss of taxable lands. "Along with an increased land acquisition program by the Department," the proposal says, "a plan should be developed to offer counties payment to help compensate for a loss in tax base if these public land holdings become a significant burden to the counties."

The increase in outdoor recreation on public lands has brought additional money into the local economy of the locale in similar situations here and in other states. Public lands such as state forests play an important part in the economy of Missouri. Over the past ten years, timber harvest on state forests alone has resulted in additional business and jobs for 300 timber buyers and more than 1,000 sawmill and wood workers.

"We're aware of the finite quality of natural Missouri, and the necessity of preserving a quality environment for the future," Mills says.

Cards Scare AHS

LUTESVILLE – The Woodland Cardinals came very close to pulling one of the biggest upsets in the area here Friday as they bowed to the Advance Hornets, 56-49.

Woodland used a tenacious zone defense to shut off the fast breaking tactics of the Hornets and stopped their high scoring offense machine.

Woodland took a one point lead, 14-13, going into the second period. Advance played a little more defense and in the second quarter and held the Cardinals to only eight points while they were netting 14. John Rhodes, who led the Hornets in scoring, came off the bench in the second period and hit four straight jump shots and added three more in the third period before missing for 14 quick points to pull Advance out of the fire.

Woodland never gave up as the Cardinals took the third quarter 17-15. Advance put the game away in the last period with 14 points to 10 for Woodland.

Woodland was led in scoring by Gary Allmond with 18 points.

Bobcats Take Overtime Win

DELTA--A last minute shot by Doug Tropf went in the baskets and came out as the buzzer sounded to preserve Delta's 67-66 overtime victory over the Bell City Cubs Friday night.

Coach Danny Rowland's Cubs rallied to tie the score at 62-all with a 19 point fourth quarter that erased a six point Bobcat lead.

Delta raced to an early five point lead in the overtime and held on for the one point verdict.

Bill O'Conner netted 20 points to pace the Bobcats offense. David Swindell, the Cubs star sophomore center, had 25 points for high game honors.

The win was the sixth of the season in 18 games for Delta.

Freshman Troy Martin scored 27 points to lead Delta's junior varsity to a 63-41 win.

Malden In Dunklin Final

HOLCOMB — Senath-Hornersville's B team hit 11 free throws in the game to only one for Holcomb and went on to win 45-39 in the Junior Varsity game and Malden advanced to the varsity finals with a 67-46 win over the Holcomb in the Dunklin County tourney here Friday night.

Holcomb was down 14-4 after the first period of play but kept battling back until with two minutes to go in the game climbed to within one point of the lead but had to foul to get the ball and the Lions calmly put the free throw through the hoop for the victory.

Holcomb took the second quarter 12-7 as the Lions led 21-16 at the half. Holcomb took the third quarter 13-12 and Senath held on to win the fourth quarter 12-10 with the free throws.

Malden had an easy time defeating Holcomb in the A game as the Greenwave ran to an 18-6 first period lead and snuffed out the Holcomb attack the rest of the way. Holcomb took the second quarter 15-11 but trailed 29-21 at the half.

Malden continued to pull away in the third period outscoring Holcomb 17-11 and took the last quarter 21-14.

Tommy Lee had 15 points to lead Malden and Randy Harris had 19 for Holcomb. Scoring:

Tigers Upset

STEELE--The North Pemiscot Mustangs pulled one of the biggest upsets in southeast Missouri Friday night when they turned back the favored Caruthersville Tigers 60-49 in the varsity contest and Caruthersville's B team edged Hayti 44-41 in semifinal round action of the Bootheel Conference Tournament.

Joe Cagle and Johnny Holmes fouled out early in the game and the Tigers were not able to do anything right as the Mustang degense was more than they could handle.

Cagle scored only 14 points but that was high for the Tigers. Ron Young led the Mustangs with 16 points.

Caruthersville started slow but still managed to hold a 10-8 first quarter lead.

North Pemiscot came back and tied the score 23-23 at the half. The Mustangs came out after the intermission and ran up a 19-13 quarter advantage and used a fine defense the rest of the way to hold onto the lead. The Mustangs scored 18 in the last quarter to 13 for Caruthersville.

North Pemiscot hit 22 field goals to 21 for the Tigers but the free throws made the difference as the Mustangs hit 16 to only seven for the Tigers.

In the B game each team had a low first quarter with Hayti taking a 9-7 advantage. Caruthersville took the second period 13-10 to lead 20-19 at the intermission.

Hayti battled back to tie the score 27-27 going into the last quarter but Caruthersville had the hot hand to win the game.

The finals are set for Saturday night. Scoring:

Students Enroll For Next Year

Pre-enrollment for the 1972-73 school year took place this week in a process beginning Monday night.

Freshmen and their parents were invited and urged to meet with counselors Monday evening for the purpose of making out plans for the remaining three years of their high school careers.

Counselors took small groups of parents and teachers at intervals and discussed offerings and pre-requisite courses. Four year plan cards were distributed and parents aided their sons and daughters in making out these cards.

Four- year plans made during the freshman year provide a basis for class enrollment, however, this does not limit the courses to be taken. Courses will not be limited to those listed on the card. These plans are flexible and may be changed, as the student's interests change.

Tuesday juniors met in the library during their American history classes in an effort to schedule next year's seniors. History teachers supervising were Miss Lucile Mount, Mrs. Lena Brogan, Mrs. Kathleen Mitchell, Carl Wright, and Gene Dawson.

Wednesday counselors met in the library with sophomores during their respective world history classes. Teachers participating with these students were Mrs. Catherine Matthews, Miss Lucile Mount, Walter Messmer, and Blair Moran.

Today those freshmen who did not attend the enrollment session Monday night were enrolled by one of the four high school counselors.

Counselor Chester Masterson commented, "We hope by today to have all students for the 1972-73 school year enrolled except incoming freshmen. We will not be able to make our schedules until all the enrollment has been taken care of."

Future Shock

by Alvin Toffler

By Hunter Moore

We are all children of the future, a world which no one of us can now be sure. Our world is changing at such an extreme rate that total comprehension is impossible.

"Western society for the past 300 years has been caught up in a firestorm of change. This storm, far from abating, now appears to be gathering force. Change sweeps through the highly industrialized countries with waves of ever accelerating speed and unprecedented impact. It spawns in its wake all sorts of curious social flora -- from psychedelic churches and "free universities" to science cities in the Arctic and wife- swap clubs in California."

FUTURE SHOCK is a new type of book, realistically foretelling the future of the United States as it is submerged in a tidal wave of technological advancement. It is not only frightening as other books concerning the future have been, but is stimulating in that it gives the reader instructions on coping with future shock.

Dealing with everyday matters, such as the products we buy and our leaisure time, Mr. Toffler probes the things to come, discussing the changes in family life, sex, politics, and friendship. He looks at change impartially and his innovative predictions are far from being impossible.

In fact, Mr. Toffler drives home the point that future shock is not a distant danger, but rather a real sickness that many of today's people suffer from. He explores adaptability to change and analyzes groups and individuals that blindly resist change, our modern day reactionaries.

Very few books read in high school today are particularly relevant to our future here on earth, Mr. Toffler has presented a very timely manual on how we will live and conditions under which life will be carried on.

Huff Announces Book Exhibit For Next Week

Librarian Frederick W. Huff announces that a one- day book exhibit will be held in the library next Monday

Robert D. Olson will be in charge of the exhibit and will arrange the books for the display. He will be here for the day to explain the exhibit to the students and faculty.

Students will be requested to furnish their own ballots when voting for the books of their choice.

Mr. Huff commented that Mr. Olson will be a guest in the Sikeston high school, and he should be treated as a guest by the students and faculty.

Mr. Huff further said, "How he is treated will determine if he will return to the high school."

High school teachers and students as well as the middle school faculty will have an opportunity to examine the books during the day Monday. Approximately 1,000 books from grades six to 12 will be on exhibit.

Mr. Olson will visit the various elementary schools in Sikeston during the other days next week.

Mr. Olson will have an exhibit in Southwest school Tuesday; Southeast school, Wednesday; Airport school, Thursday, and also students from Morehouse and Matthews will attend this display; Lee Hunter school, Friday.

Approximately 800 books will be on exhibit for the elementary schools.

Mr. Huff's last comment was that if a great book loss occurs, the school will have to pay the loss, and Mr. Olson may not return a second time. Students should keep this in mind when examining the books.

Debaters Win Six, Lose Six At Senath Meet

Sikeston debaters participated in a meet at Senath last Thursday afternoon, winning six and losing six.

Students making the trip were Elisabeth DuPont, Tom Walls, David Ziegenhorn, Thom Lemmons, Don Rogers, Andrea Harber, Richard Dale, and Mike Marsh. James Abbott was not able to debate, but he made the trip and observed.

Judges use a new criteria to grade the debates. This includes analysis of case, attack and defense, evidence, delivery, and cross- examination, making a total of 30 points for a perfect debate.

The debate format is eight-minute constructive speeches, three- minute cross-examination, and four- minute rebuttals.

Blair Moran, sponsor, was pleased with the Sikeston Forensic Leaguers in the first debate. Seven other schools participated.

East Prairie will be the host of the next debate Saturday, Feb. 19.

Thanksgiving Day was proclaimed a national holiday, to be observed on the fourth Thursday in November by President Abraham Lincoln on Oct. 3, 1863. The World Almanac recalls. In July, 1863, Lincoln designated Thursday, Aug. 6, 1863, "to subdue the anger which has produced and so long sustained a needless and cruel rebellion."

Council Sends Four Delegates To Convention

Student body president Hunter Moore, council members Cathy Patterson, Charles Waters, and Bruce Lawrence were elected Monday afternoon by the council to be delegates to the Missouri Association of Student Council's convention in Jefferson City next month.

Meeting is scheduled for mid- March and will last approximately three days during which the delegates will participate in various discussion groups and forums on issues related to student government.

Students will be housed by the host council members in Jefferson City.

Last year's convention was held in Mehlville, and it was also attended by SHS council members. At that time Jefferson City ran in an election for the host school in 1972 and won despite tough competition from other state schools.

Accompanying the students will be vice- principal W. L. Clayton who will also assist in the drive to Jeff City.

Another student council sponsored activity coming up shortly is the talent assembly scheduled for next Wednesday in the field house. In all likelihood, the assembly will take place during one of the morning hours.

Approximately seven acts have signed covering a broad range of entertainment. Talent assemblies over the last two years have been outstanding in the amount of student participation that takes place and this one promises more than ever.

Mr. Steinmetz Is Guest Speaker in Sociology

Ron Steinmetz, a social worker from the Diagnostic Clinic, was a guest speaker in Mrs. Catherine Matthews' sociology class on Tuesday.

Mr. Steinmetz came to the class to talk about the field of social workers and their training. The students, who visited the Clinic last week, had so many questions that he spent most of his time answering them.

Many of the students were interested in volunteer work and he explained what would be expected of them.

Mr. Steinmetz said that the mentally retarded are a group of people who get little attention from others. That is why they enjoyed the visits made to the clinic and are pleased just to be able to speak to visitors or touch them.

The group also had many questions about the Shelter

Art Students View Artistry At Semo State

Art students accompanied by instructors Mrs. Craig Hahs and Miss Susan Ward and by vice- principal W. L. Clayton made a field trip to Cape Girardeau last Friday afternoon.

Upon arrival in Cape Girardeau, the students headed for the campus of Southeast Missouri State College where they were to view the mural being painted on one of the entrance walls of Kent Library and an art display in the department.

Mrs. Hahs' students viewed the exhibit for 30 minutes while Miss Ward's students were observing the mural in the library, and then the students changed places.

Students were quite impressed with the vast amount of glazes and working materials available to SEMO students. They have many more types of materials available to choose from than SHS students.

Students making the field trip were Paul Adams, Donna Adamson, George Baker, Demetra Beck, Charles Berry, Larry Blue, Evelyn Bohnert, Janet Caldwell, Deborah Carmack, Debbie Clark, Deborah Cloud.

Bulldog spotlight falls this week on Freddy Mangum, Bulldog wrestler.

Freddy, a sophomore this year, is enrolled in typing, physical education, algebra I, English II, world history, and biology I.

Wrestling and other sports occupies much of Freddy's spare time when he is not busily engaged in his school work.

Freddy's plans after graduation are indefinite.

Freddy resides at 318 Dixie street with his family.

Ron Williams Establishes Stage Band

Stage band was established three weeks ago in Sikeston high school, and Ron Williams is the director. Stage band meets every Tuesday night at 7 o'clock and has 20 members.

Stage band members are made up of people who have a desire to be in the band, and play a particular instrument. The instruments used in stage band are trumpets, trombones, saxophones, drums, guitars, a string bass and a piano.

Anthology Cover Designs Are Due On Feb. 18

Anyone who would like to submit a cover design for this year's student anthology should submit the design to either Mrs. Les Mitkos or Mrs. Larry Lancaster by Friday.

Each year Sikeston high school students submit stories as well as cover designs for the anthology. Stories were due last Friday.

Four representatives, one from each class, will be selected soon to assemble the entered material into the book and select the design which will be placed on the cover.

Concerned Citizens Should Have Opinions

IN A CONTEMPORARY HISTORY class recently, a poll was taken concerning capital punishment. If the student was for capital punishment, he marked the box labeled "yes", and if he was against it, he marked the box labeled "no."

One other box was listed. It was labeled "no opinion." The subject of this editorial is not capital punishment, but rather those two seemingly unimportant words, "no opinion."

One student was made fun of because he expressed his view as "no opinion." Of course, he should not have been ridiculed for this, but it did make the incident stand out.

What would this world be like if nobody had an opinion on anything? That is stretching the idea a little too far, but it does make one think. Any truly concerned citizen of a country, state, city, or even school, should have an opinion about matters concerning that country, state, city, or school.

A disease is spreading throughout the entire country. If it is not treated properly now, it could grow to epidemic proportions. That disease is commonly known as apathy.

Apathy is almost too harsh a word to use to describe this feeling among the people. Instead of people not caring, the true problem is usually that they are too wrapped up in their own affairs to take a look at the problems around them.

Right now many young people and adults are fighting this disease. It may take time, but the more people that help, the faster it can be conquered.

The best cure, though, is for the victims themselves to recognize and conquer the disease. In that way, it is less likely that he will contract it again.

English IV Students Go To View Play 'Macbeth'

Four English IV classes, three instructed by Mrs. Larry Lancaster and the other by Mrs. Helen Reuber, made a field trip to the Malone Theater Wednesday morning.

"Macbeth" takes place in the 11th century in Scotland. The play begins with three witches that tell Macbeth that he will become Thane of Glamis, Thane of Cawdor, and shall be king.

This is all true and Macbeth really wants to be all these, but he has to kill some people to get what he wants which he doesn't want to do.

With the help of his wife, Lady Macbeth, the witches, and his one flaw, ambition, he becomes King of Scotland only to meet death in the end himself.

Students who saw the movie were Darrell Barksdale, Joe Barnett, Judy Bess, Bob Blankenship, Terri Bohannon, Betty Brandy, Barbara Brewer, Bill Britt.

Mary Caldwell, Dean Carroll, Glenda Carter, Maria Cejas, Joy Clark, Chuck Clinton, Carolyn Cooper, Ray Crawford, Pat DaBelko, Nancy Dillender.

PRIZES FOR MEDALS

FRANKLIN CENTER, Pa. (AP) — A nationwide bicentennial medal design competition for professional and amateur artists is being held through March 31 with the Franklin Mint offering a half million dollars in prizes.

Artists are being invited to design medals portraying their state's contributions to the heritage of America. There will be 200 winners, four from each state.

Improvement Needed In Student Parking Lot

The complaint lodged is about the terrible condition the parking lot is in.

Suggestions for improvement were also mentioned.

Only the outside part is paved and the rest is dirt, or mud, with holes throughout the area. Where the pavement meets dirt, there are deep holes that cannot be avoided.

During winter, the parking lot is frozen in the morning, but often, in the afternoon, there is nothing frozen about it, in fact, it is mud. Frequently one must have help in getting his car from the lot because it is stuck.

In the springtime, the wind blows sand from the parking area up the walk. This affects all students, not just those who bring cars.

The juniors and seniors who were here in '70 may remember that it was planned that an addition to the parking lot would be added each year until the lot was completely paved. So far, nothing has been done.

We believe the student body is aware the student parking lot cannot be paved because of the high price that will be charged for resurfacing.

Since the money isn't available to pave the lot, at least chat could be obtained to fill in the deep holes found throughout the area.

If the condition could be improved, then the groundwork might be laid for next year's student council to pave the student parking lot, wholly or partly.

TV Production Studio Is Important Department Of SHS

by Linda Spitzmiller

Jim Woods of the TV production studio is teaching five young men about studio techniques. It is a highly informal course.

Student becomes familiar with procedures, and the experience he gains is beneficial if he should decide to go into the field of television.

This is the first operation of this type in this area, and Mr. Woods has managed it from the beginning. He designed the studio and chose the equipment for it.

Five students were able to work with Mr. Woods this year. They are all from electronics and are either juniors or seniors.

Students are taught about lighting, background, audio-signal, camera techniques, photography, and composition.

Students learn to use the various pieces of equipment necessary for recording. They become familiar with problems of studio production in directing, writing, filming, narrating, editing, and sound dubbing.

Student starts with a simple battery - operated camera and works up. He works on composition, focusing, zooming, panning, lighting, and background.

One requirement for these students is to make a commercial completely on their own. The student must write it, film it, and narrate it.

To film something, there is a need for about five men. Two cameramen are needed, one man on the recorder, one on the audio- signal, and one on the video- signal. The TV studio uses only two men for all of this.

Students have filmed basketball games, the band's performances, and classroom activities. They also show these films to the classes.

Educational TV is becoming an important teaching aid. It has been used and accepted by many educational institutions.

Contrary to belief, it is no designed to replace the teacher. Its primary use is to strengthen the material presented by the teacher. In surveys and studies made in controlled situations where educational TV is used, the results are favorable enough to justify use in the classroom.

When Lynn Twitty was superintendent, it was decided that SHS would make educational TV a part of the students' educational program. A great amount of progress has been made in this program. However, the ability to transmit to all the classrooms has not yet been completed. When it is, the studio will be able to tape and transmit live programs to all classes.

"Persons from out of state visiting SHS have commented that it is one of the most unusual and enviable installations that they have seen on any high school campus. Our facilities compare very favorably with most college installations," stated Jim Woods.

TWO HEARTS WITH NEW LIVES

THEY HAVE NEW LEASES ON LIFE thanks to medical science. Louis B. Russell, Jr., the world's longest-living heart transplant recipient, is pictured with four-year-old Betty Wills of Noblesville, Ind., who has undergone heart surgery five times, and now wears her third pacemaker, a battery-charged power source attached to her heart to keep it beating regularly. Russell, an Indianapolis school teacher and leading Heart Fund volunteer, received his new heart three and one-half years ago.

FUNNY BUSINESS — By Roger Bollen

The earliest known horse was about the size of a small dog and is called Eohippus.

About 4.6 million U.S. workers are engaged in farming.

The Newspaper Story

THE FIGHT FOR PRESS FREEDOM

Americans today take freedom of the press for granted and seldom stop to examine its meaning or appraise its value. Knowing the origin and development of press freedom may help understand why American civilization must have a free press or die.

Few persons in ancient times could read or write. They were dominated by leaders who, backed by prophets and priests, proclaimed their god-given right to rule and perpetuate their rule. Freedom of expression in politics and religion was suppressed. Until printing presses started spreading ideas, there was no means of mass communication. The world hasn't been the same since.

It was not until 250 years after Gutenberg developed the printing press that licensing of printers and newspapers was abandoned in England. Efforts to muffle and muzzle the press continued for still another 100 years, but with decreasing success as people realized how closely their freedom was linked with a free press.

Church and state leaders in the American colonies disapproved of freedom of thought and expression, believing control of the press essential to preserve public morality and maintain constituted authority. So, when newspapers first appeared, they were promptly suppressed or licensed and heavily censored.

Early American patriots would have been unable to marshal public opinion and spread the news of their actions without the printers and publishers who risked imprisonment and bankruptcy to criticize the colonial government and agitate for independence.

The history of the American people really cannot be separated from the History of American journalism.

Historian David Ramsey said, "In establishing American independence, the pen and the press had a merit equal to that of the sword."

The first significant victory for freedom of the press in America was won in court in 1735 by John Peter Zenger against a libel charge. It established the right of the press to publish news or criticism of government officials, if the facts published were true.

But this was by no means the end of government interference and harrassment of newspapers. They were goaded and annoyed by discriminatory taxation and other oppressive acts until the Declaration of Independence was adopted, the Revolutionary War fought, and the guarantees of free speech and a free press were written into the United States Constitution.

The nation's press serves as the eyes and ears of the public, acting as their proxies wherever the people's business is being conducted.

Attempts continue down to the present day to abridge or restrict the right of the press to report certain types of news, to comment freely on the government, or to criticize the actions of public officials.

It is the absence of licensing that makes newspapers free. It is the absence of restraints — within responsibility — that defines freedom. That is the essential character of our political process, and the vigilance of newspapers in keeping taxpaying citizens fully informed is one of the primary factors in preserving and protecting individual freedom in our nation.

American Businessmen Can Be Lead By Drumm

By ROBERT FURLOW

WASHINGTON--If anyone can guide American businessmen through the maze of government programs in Washington, Thomas E. Drumm, Jr., should be that man.

Drumm's position as "ombudsman for business" was established by Sec. Maurice Stans within the Commerce Department last April to give business a central point within the bureaucracy to bring its problems.

In his office Drumm will point to his files of more than 3,000 cases as evidence the program is filling a need.

And what a variety in those 3,000 cases.

They range from questions on pollution abatement to product safety, FDA requirements, mining and salvage rights, even the regulations for exporting tripe to Japan and the prospects for marketing cosmetics in South America.

This morning a man from the west coast needs information on government loans--he's got $6,000 and wants to start a trucking company. The ombudsman can help him.

A company doing business in millions of dollars wants to know about possible trade with Red China. Not much on that yet, but the ombudsman can steer the company to what information is available and offer advice on what to do while waiting for results of the upcoming presidential visit.

The ombudsman doesn't pretend to know everything about today's business and industry. Recently he was asked about an exotic cement additive needed for building a bridge overseas.

Drumm smiles, "I say what the heck is that--but then I can get a guy right in this building who can give the answers they need."

In government since 1946, Drumm's background helps him find the answers. He says, "In 25 years I've gotten to learn who does what; I deal with a lot of guys who've been at it a long time."

Formerly an attorney in private practice, Drumm's government positions include work with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the Hoover Commission, the President's Management Improvement Program from 1954-58 and five years as commercial counselor to the U.S. embassy in Paris.

"I can give instructions directly and get results, cut red tape and stumbling blocks," he says.

"These businessmen have come here and bounced all around Washington; we're trying to end the ceaseless referrals."

Drumm says these businessmen most often have questions about financing or government procurement.

Small businessmen want to know how to get financing to start or expand a business. Whole residential areas may ask advice in attracting or keeping industry.

Selling to the government is such big business the ombudsman keeps pamphlets giving advice on finding government needs, applying for contracts, making bids, even in negotiating contracts.

With billion-dollar government procurement patterns sometimes changing, Drumm says, "the big game here in Washington is finding out where the procurement dollar is going to be."

The ombudsman is aided by 42 field offices of the Commerce Department and 81 Small Business Association branches around the country.

Holcomb School Board Asks Superintendent To Resign

HOLCOMB — James Dement, superintendent of the Holcomb Public Schools, said Wednesday he plans to confer with his attorney before giving the Holcomb School Board an answer in response to last night's request that he resign his position held for the past 16 years.

The school board, in its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, requested the resignation of Dement "because I couldn't control my wife's behavior," Dement said.

The request by the board came after 40 Holcomb citizens appeared at Tuesday night's session presenting petitions in regard to a recent incident at the school involving Dement's wife and the school secretary, Mrs. Chris Meriwether.

Dement said he was not able to see the exact wording of the petitions presented Tuesday night, "but in effect it requested the board to get rid of me and Mrs. Meriwether," he said. Dement said Mrs. Meriwether resigned her position last Friday.

After the petitions were presented, the board went into a closed session, Dement said. "They invited me in and asked me to resign. I refused to do it and told them I would think it over and talk to my lawyer first," he said Wednesday.

Dement said the reasons given by the board involved his wife, who is presently hospitalized at the Dunklin Memorial Hospital here with injuries sustained in an incident at the school last Friday.

Dement said the board also requested back his contract, which reportedly doesn't expire until June, 1973. "I didn't give back the contract," he added.

Tuesday night's meeting drew a large crowd, on hand to discuss last Friday's incident.

"The board said I couldn't control my wife's actions and conduct and said it was detrimental to the school," Dement said. He added that other incidents between Mrs. Dement and Mrs. Meriwether had occurred during the past three years, "when all the trouble started." Dement said ill feelings between the two apparently developed while he and his wife were separated for about nine months.

After Tuesday night's meeting, Dement said he and his three children returned to their rural home when they spotted two vehicles, "driving real slow near our house." Dement said he became suspicious but the cars drove away. When he and his children entered the house he said he detected the strong fumes of gasoline. Upon examining the house, Dement said someone had apparently just thrown gasoline on the back outside wall of the house "and it was still wet and dripping."

Dement said he notified Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott and Holcomb Police Chief Gene Bomar of the incident, but no investigation was conducted. Scott said today Dement related he didn't know who had done it and said there was no need of anyone coming out.

The school official said his 18-year-old daughter, who has had a perfect attendance at the school for the past two years, was not in school Wednesday "because of the harassment." He noted his children, particularly the daughter, had received numerous harassing phone calls since last Friday. "Apparently it was so obvious that yesterday a teacher noticed it and asked my daughter to come stay with her for a few days," Dement said about the treatment the child had received during school hours. "People can get cruel and nasty sometimes," he said.

Prior to his 16 years as the school superintendent, Dement served as the high school coach for four years and high school principal for two years. A native of Broseley, Dement and his wife have been married 25 years.

"I suppose the headlines will read 'Holcomb School Superintendent Fired Because of His Wife's Behavior,'" Dement said when contacted by a reporter. "That's what people would like to see at least," he added, emphasizing he would not voluntarily resign and make no decision until he conferred with an attorney.

Jack Moore, president of the school board, said the board had tabled the matter for further discussion. "The reason we gave him in asking for the resignation was there's just too much confusion and it's affecting the school district too much." When pressed for the specific reason, Moore answered "Over this affair that happened last week, this whole incident—from last Friday and the little incidents on through were just getting out of hand. It's just come down to where something's got to be done. It's affecting the school and the school district, the children as well as the parents are upset."

Gentlemen,

As an armchair political enthusiast, I went into St. Louis for the Lincoln Day Republican Get- Together and I came back with some observations that I don't think your paper brought out.

I was really impressed with the entusuiasm of all the young people who came from near every part of the State in support of Representative King. I checked a little further and found out that there is an active Youth for King chapter on almost every college campus in the State.

These 18 to 21 year old voters are, as I see it, taking their enfranchisement pretty seriously, seeking out a candidate with a workable plan and the experience and humility to carry it through with dignity. They aren't interested in just another pretty face with no real direction other than some unkept promises.

Gentlemen, I am enlightened, and judging from the reactions of the folks I've mentioned this to, there's little doubt that Bus King will be the next Governor of Missouri.

Thanks for reading my letter.

Armed Forces

ALEXANDRIA, La.--U.S. Air Force Staff Sergeant James R. Presson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Presson of North Main Road, Charleston, Mo., has arrived at England AFB, La., for duty.

Sergeant Presson is an inventory management supervisor in a unit of the Tactical Air Command which provides combat units for air support of U.S. ground forces. He previously served at Phan Rang AB, Vietnam.

The sergeant, a 1965 graduate of Charleston High School, attended Southeast Missouri State College.

His wife, Marian, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion D. Oakley of Wyatt, Mo.

What's The Law

Creditor Not Guilty

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Wilma bought her clothes on time but she never paid for them on time. The result? Her creditors were constantly on her back. One creditor, however, a Mr. Portnow, finally decided he had all he could take from Wilma and decided to take what he could. Finding Wilma not at home, he jimmied open one of her ground floor windows and reappropriated all the unpaid-for items that he had sold her. Unfortunately, upon leaving, he left the window open. That night, two burglars happened by and, taking advantage of the opening, removed every dress Wilma owned.

"I was robbed," she complained in court, "because that bird-brain left my window open."

"It wouldn't have happened," was Mr. Portnow's answer, "if Wilma had paid her bills. Consequently, if anyone was at fault for the robbery, it was Wilma herself. Besides, leaving the window open didn't cause the robbery. The robbers caused it."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Wilma to have re-dress against Mr. Portnow?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that there was no direct relationship between the open window and the burglary. In so ruling, the judge pointed out that locked windows are not apt to deter burglars from entering an unoccupied home. They make their rounds regardless of locked windows.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Feb. 12, the 43rd day of 1972. There are 323 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1809, Abraham Lincoln was born in what was then Hardin County, Kentucky.

On this date:

In 1554, Lady Jane Grey, who had been queen of England for 10 days, was beheaded after being charged with treason.

In 1733, English colonists led by James Edward Oglethorpe landed at Savannah, Ga.

In 1809, the scientist who developed the theory of evolution, Charles Darwin, was born in Shrewsbury, England.

In 1912, China became a republic as the Manchu dynasty was overthrown by nationalists led by Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union backed down from an attempt to restrict allied use of the air corridors to Berlin.

One year ago: Eight U.S. helicopters were shot down over Laos.

Capp Guilty

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP) — Cartoonist Al Capp has pleaded guilty to one of three morals charges resulting from accusations made by a university coed last spring.

The other two charges were dropped Friday. Capp, 62-yearold creator of L'il Abner, was fined $500 and court costs.

Circuit Court Judge Merrill Farr said the alternative to paying the fine and costs would be one year in prison.

"You are a public figure," Farr told Capp. "I don't think you'll ever seriously be tempted to do something like this again."

Shortly after his arraignment, Capp pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted adultery. He also had been charged with sodomy and indecent exposure.

Missouri U. Discussed

Guests of the Kiwanis Club at the Tuesday night meeting at the Ramada Inn were Doug White, sales and promotion manager at the J.C. Penney Co.; Tim Bucek, Ramada Inn manager; Tom B. Stroup of Benton, area associate director for the bootheel extension, University of Missouri; Glenn Patton of Portageville, Delta center area director for extension, University of Missouri. Gary Chullino was introduced as a new member.

Claude Benney was in charge of the program and introduced Glenn Patton who introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Carl Scheneman, vice-president of extension at the University of Missouri.

Dr. Scheneman told the club about the U. of Mo. There are 47,000 students enrolled on its four campuses. This includes about 22,000 at Columbia; 9,500 at Kansas City; 4,800 at Rolla and 10,200 att St. Louis.

The University has a full time faculty of 2,700 persons. The typical faculty member has a doctor's degree or a terminal professional degree.

"As part of the University's obligation as a state land grant institution, extensive research in an extremely wide variety of fields is conducted. The university ranks 29th among colleges and universities in the nation in terms of federal research funding," Dr. Scheneman said.

Dr. Scheneman told the club that the extension division is not only for those in agriculture.

"There is an explosion of knowledge and the extension division acts to get this knowledge to the public, to businessmen, to labor groups, to farmers, to doctors, to lawyers, to government officials, to housewives, to law enforcement personnel, to young people, to individuals and groups in all walks of life. Last year the extension provided more than seven million hours of instruction for more than one and one quarter million citizens in Missouri," Dr. Schenemen said.

Extension field operations are administered through 20 area units encompassing all 114 Missouri counties. University extension centers are maintained in each count. The centers are operated jointly by the University and the local University Extension Council. The extension councils are composed largely of elected members and are units of local government.

"The University of Missouri is sincerely attempting to be responsible and responsive to the people of the state," Dr. Scheneman said. "Perhaps the best example of this is the exhaustive self- evaluation known as institutional reappraisal, which the University has been undergoing for the last year. This reappraisal is an effort by the University to adjust its programs to the changing needs of society and to face up to the financial realities confronting the institution."

"Under the reappraisal, which will take some three years to complete, every program of the University -- both academic and and non-academic -- is being evaluated. It will pinpoint those programs that can be eliminated, those that should be combined with others and those that need to be strengthened. In addition, the reappraisal seeks to streamline the University's decision making process, assure effective and efficient administration and bring about more cooperation among the various units of the University in order to reduce costs and improve quality."

Dr. Scheneman next discussed the role and scope plan of university President Brice C. Ratchford. "The role and scope statement was designed as a discussion document and was prepared only after lengthy consultation and study between University and campus administrators, the four chancellors and members of the faculty. President Ratchford asked that alternative ideas be offered for consideration. He now has received those suggestions and undoubtedly there will be changes before the plan finally is presented to the Board of Curators," he said.

The basic assumptions of the plan are: (1) The University of Missouri will be comprehensive but no individual campus will be, and (2) Each campus will have programs ranging from the freshman year to the doctorate in some areas.

"The goal is to make a fine University even better, for the benefit of all Missourians, and I have every confidence that this goal will be achieved," Dr. Scheneman said.

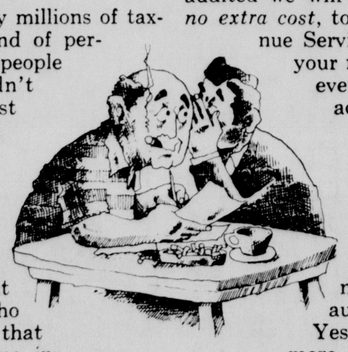
Do you really want your brother-in-law to know how much you earned last year?

Of course not. It's nobody's business but your own.

However, annually millions of taxpayers bear this kind of personal information to people who really shouldn't know. For what? Just so they can save a few dollars doing their income tax.

That's some price to pay.

You see, for only a few dollars more than it costs to do it with any amateur who might not know that work clothes in some instances are deductible, or that income averaging might save tax dollars, you can have your tax return done by a specially trained member of the H & R Block team with complete confidentiality. There are thousands of them in over 6,000 conveniently located offices. H & R Block's fees start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for the 7 million families we served last year.



Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

This means that H & R Block is ready to offer you year 'round tax service for just one low fee a year, with no extra charge for audits and estimates. Yes, we cost a little bit more than your relatives or friends or neighbors but when you think of what we deliver, you can't afford anything less than H & R Block.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB.

H&R Block.
The income tax people.

What You Want To Know

Q. I am a fan of "Laugh-In" but I miss Arte Johnson. Is he coming back and is Judy Carne ever going to come back to the show as a regular? I miss these two performers on the show more than anyone else. S.R., Perkasie, Pa.

A. Arte Johnson and Judy Carne are pursuing other career opportunities at present and have no intentions of returning to "Laugh-In" as regulars.

Q. I seldom read anything in your column about "Medical Center" and handsome, irresistible and truly magnificen Chad Everett. Please say something about Mr. Wonderful (Chad Everett in your column. I understand he also sings.... that's really the whipped cream on the cake. Is there nothing he can't do? Mrs. N.V.. Charlotte. N.C.

A. You haven't left us much to say about Chad Everett. However, you neglected to mention that he's an expert fencer and horseman.

Q. Why don't they put "Nanny and the Professor" and "The Brady Bunch" back- to-back on TV? I understand that "Nanny" might be taken off the air. I think the show is wonderful nd more people would probably watch it if it were placed in a better time spot. After all, it is hardly the best show to have just before a football or basketball game. Mrs. R.F.V., Lancaster, S.C.

A. I'm afraid it's too late for changing time slots or days, as far as "Nanny and the Professor" is concerned ...the show has been cancelled.

Last Year two young singers whose names are Wes Helm and Bill Dees joined together to form a most delightful entertainment duo. Performing under the name "The Brothers" these two young men now hold length of engagement records at various nite spots in Nashville, Tenn., where both of them make their home. Wes and Bill have had much success writing for "Acuff Rose" a publishing company in Nashville.

Before joining to make one act the two performed as singles for several years. In this period of time Bill Dees was to become acquainted with a man by the name of Roy Orbison with whom he wrote the nations number one selling record in 1964 entitled "Pretty Woman." Dees and Orbison have written over 100 songs together, several reaching the "hit" category.

Wes Helm wrote and recorded as a single artist for Chart Records in Nashville for two years having over fifty songs that he had written recorded by other artists. Before Wes came to Nashville he was the featured singer on a cruise ship making trips to Nassau and The Bahamas.

The Brothers -- a great act to see. They will be appearing nitely at the Ramada Inn Lounge in Miner, Mo.

What You Want To Know

Q. I'm crazy about David Cassidy, and I know I'm not alone. But I have one small criticism about him. I wish he would cut his bangs just a little so that we could see his beautiful eyes better on TV. That's the only thing about him that bothers me. Otherwise, he's perfect. Just perfect. L.B., Bridgeport, Conn.

A. Why don't you try writing David Cassidy directly and offer your suggestion? The address is Screen Gems, Hollywood, Calif.

Q. Is Michael Caine going to star in a TV series? I think he's terrific. I saw "The Ipcress File" on TV not too long ago, and he really came across in that one. I think a TV series with him playing he character he did in 'Ipcress File" would go over. M.H., Clermont, Fla.

A. Michael Caine is not set to star in a TV series playing double-agent Harry Palmer nor anyone else. He's very busy making one film after the other. His talent films are "Kidnapped" and "X Y and Zee."

Funding Public TV-A Top Priority

WASHINGTON, D.C. (KFS) - There are a lot of urgent issues facing television, including issues of national consequence caused by television. This roster would include such questions as what, if anytiing, can or should be done about fraudulent TV ads including political campaign pitches, the continuing deplorable state of children's television on the three commercial networks, the FCC's virtual rubber stamp policy regarding TV station license renewals, etc.

But if I had to single out just one issue that I thought was THE most important question concerning television in the 1970's, I would unhesitatingly consider it to be the question of procuring massive funds for public television, while, at the same time, keeping it insulated from the process of annual governmental review.

I will be commenting on this crucial question frequently in the next few months, but I am pleased to report that there is an influential member of the U.S. Congress who is concerned about your right and my right to a vital, properly funded system of Public Television and he is doing something important about it NOW.

I am referring to Congressman Torbert Macdonald (Dem.-Mass.), who is Chairman of the House Communications Subcommittee, and who started hearings on Feb. 1, here in Washington designed to expedite Public Television's getting the large sums it needs, deserves, and has been promised by Presidents Johnson and Nixon.

It really is a national scandal the way both national and local public TV stations are continuously having to beg for money, and refrain from covering their communities adequately because of a lack of funds. Cong. Macdonald is angered, as are many other supporters of public television including this reporter, by the way public television continues to be treated as a stepchild in America.

The British Broadcasting Corporation, which is far and away the best and most innovative TV organization in the world, operates on an annual budget of $13.20 for each and every citizen. America's expenditure on public television is, by way of contrast, a disgracefull small FIFTEEN CENTS. Canada spends between six and seven dollars per capita on non-commercial TV in recent years.

In a recent speech on the floor of the House of Representatives, Cong. Macdonald made the following observations.

"The Subcommittee on Communications and Power, which I am privileged to chair, will begin hearings on the future of public broadcasting. The primary concern of the subcommittee will be to work out an acceptable plan for providing long-range financing for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

"In 1967 working from the fine recommendations of the Carnegie Commission, the subcommittee developed legislation which established the Corporation and gave public broadcasting its real impetus for growth. And that growth has been exceptional over the past several years. It is unfortunate that during the last year the prospects for continued growth have become clouded, because of uncertainty as to financing, which all concerned agree is the essential factor in the development of public broadcasting."

Cong. Macdonald's legislation would provide the corporation for Public Broadcasting with 575 million dollars over the next five years. In the same speech on the floor of the House, Cong. Macdonald said:

"Permanent financing will insulate public television and radio from the type of governmental pressure which seems to have been asserted increasingly in recent months. I have previously referred to this new type of pressure, which has surfaced in Washington, as a new technique which utilizes a well-placed phone call, a well-timed speech, or a coincidental personal investigation to apply government pressure."

At a time when President Nixon is angry even with William F. Buckley for having put anti-Nixon CONSERVATIVES on nationwide TV, it is more urgent than ever that the public support Cong. Macdonald and all others wanting to build a vital and an INDEPENDENT system of public television in America.

'Man On A String': Chris George

HOLLYWOOD (KFS) - The annual unveiling of TV pilots competing for network berths in '72 is in full swing this month.

The big three and independent producers are swamped with the little beauties. Over at Screen Gems, Doug Cramer has nine shows in the mill, a record for that company, guady packages containing the likes of Connie Stevens and Christopher George.

With competition at an all-time peak, odds are higher than ever against landing a September starting time, something the hustling Greek, Chris George, a gambler by inheritance, just shakes off. He is putting his acting career on the line again with "Man on a String," a series pilot on an undercover agent, airing on the CBS Friday Night Movie, Feb. 18

A breakthrough winner with "Rat Patrol," in sand battles against the wily Nazis, for his second big run George picked a far-out concept as a character who couldn't die in "The Immortal," and guessed wrong. Even Mrs. George, the luscious Lynda Day - who brightens "Mission Impossible" - shed no tears over "The Immortal's" demise, feeling her husband wasn't right for the role.

Cancellation didn't hurt George a bit, according to network thinking. ABC quickly cast Chris in an ESP show about a magic castle, then ran into legal difficulties with a similar venture, "The Sixth Sense," and backed off.

George pulled over other properties, nixing three on the current market, before choosing "Man on a String," a distant relative to the old TV series, "Tightrope," starring Mike Connors. This one is about a lieutenant detective, sent up for an 18-month stretch in prison, only to come out and resume life as a hood. Using his gangster contacts, the ex-cop becomes a government undercover man, working from the inside, always a step away from a burial dump in the river.

George's hero represents a logical move away from the exotic, far-out type. He goes with simple, straight action material this time, as good as guess as any, shunning gimmicks in a market that should be heavy with characters reaching.

The Greek's choice reflects his attitude on the acting business. "I came out of New York at that studied moment in which we were all taught to use the Method, and every actor kept busy with face and hand movements," said Chris recently.

"On 'Rat Patrol' I resolve not to move a muscle because I was so tired of an actor making a big thing about crossing a room to pick up his coat. The arrogance of it all, saying, 'Watch me, watch me do this unimportant act,' annoyed me, and I stopped with the I want to do a role honestly, or normally as you might say. The problem with The Method in those days was that it proscribed one way upon us all, rather than work as a tool to help us reach into ourselves.

Chris had just come from a screening of "Man on a String" and appeared pleased with the result." "Renee Valente (Screen Gems talent exec) said I was more relaxed, more confidant than in the past," he reported. "I was checking my moves and noticed I had my hands up- tuptight as usual. I spend 90 per cent of the time this way. It's part of me."

What You Want To Know

Q. I thought the movie "Maybe I'll Come Home in the Spring" was one of the best I have ever seen on TV about teenaged runaways. I particularly liked the sexy guy who played Sally Field's lover who came back to take her with him. Who is he and will he be appearing on TV in anything else? L.P., Farmland, Ind.

A. David Carradine, son of the famed actor John Carradine, played the part of the hippie lover. He starred in the short-lived TV series, "Shane," some time back andhas been a frequent guest star on many of the leading TV series. On February 22, he will star in an ABC Movie of the Week titled "Kung Fu."

Q. I'm one of the few people who prefer Sammy Davis Jr. as an actor rather than a singer. I hope he plays some dramatic parts on TV series soon. He's a truly good actor. Mrs. T.E., Rio Vista, Calif.

A. Sammy Davis Jr. takes an occasional acting job in TV and films. One of his latest appearances was in a "Courtship of Eddie's Father" episode scheduled for airing on Wednesday, February 9, 1972.

Q. I would like to know if Jan Clayton was the first actress to play the woman inthe "Lassie" series. My friend, who is usually good at remembering things about TV, tells me I may be wrong and that he thinks June Lockhart was the first female star to appear on "Lassie." - D.M., Garden City, Kans.

A. Jan Clayton was the first to play the mother role of the young owner of Lassie. Miss Lockhart came later.

Q. I was appalled to see the Movie of the Week put on "Women in Chains," a disgusting tale about the lewd conditions that prevail in women's prisons. It was downright dirty in my opinion. I made my youngest teenager go and watch our second TV set in another part of the house. Mrs. V.M., Broderick, Calif.

A. "Women in Chains" was melodramatic and did serve up a few scenes bordering on violence, but it was not intended to be smutty, which is your accusation. All you have to do is tune in some of the talk shows which discuss present prison conditions to see that "Women in Chains" was really tame fare. However, you are entitled to your opinion.

Q. My husband will watch only one show, and that's "Owen Marshall' Counselor at Law." He says all the rest of the shows have mamby-pamby types playing men.....he says Arthur Hill is the only real, believable man on TV. Is Hill married and does he have many children? Mrs. P.S., Allentown, Pa.

A. Arthur Hill has been married to his wife, Peggy, for many years now and they have two children...Douglas, 21 and Jenny 19.

Q. Did Peggy Lipton recently get married to Michael Cole, her co-star on "Mod Squad?" I thought I heard this on the late TV news but I haven't seen any word about it in the papers. M.R., Rensselaer, N.Y.

A. You haven't read anything about it because it is not true.

Hardware Store Broken Into

DEXTER — A breakin at Ringer Hardware and Lumber Co., Nine W. Stoddard, was reported today to the highway patrol. Entrance was gained by breaking the lock on one of the north doors at the back of the store.

The store's more expensive shotguns were taken leaving the cheaper ones behind and the cash register at the back of the store was completely emptied of an undetermined amount of cash. It has not been determined if anything else was taken. The merchandise was taken out the west door of the store.

The breakin is under investigagion by the Stoddard county sheriff's department and highway patrol.

Scott City Couple Killed

SCOTT CITY — An elderly Scott City couple died yesterday when the car they were riding in collided with a freight train at 9:15 a.m.

The highway patrol said that Mrs. Bendia M. Culbertson was killed instantly. Her husband, the Rev. Jessie Culbertson, who was driving the car, died of his injuries at 5:05 p.m. at St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

The patrol said that the southbound Missouri Pacific train was going about 45 miles per hour. Mrs. Culbertson's body was thrown from the car and carried by the engine about 85 feet down the track.

The patrol said the crossing was not protected by a warning signal.

Dufur Arrested For Stealing

Police announced today the arrest of Clifford Dufur of St. Louis on a charge of stealing a television set and bedspread from the Cyrus Motel.

The theft occurred Thursday when Dufur and his wife allegedly walked out the motel with the TV and bedspread. The wife has not been arrested, police said.

The TV is valued at $60 and the bedspread at $12. Both were recovered soon after the theft.

Oral Sturgis Johnson, 41 of Rochester, Minn., is in city jail this morning after trying to cash a bogus $10 check at the A and P supermarket. Police said Johnson had taken a blank check from a local motel where he was staying and tried to cash it, but that an employ had become suspicious and called police.

The arresting officer was Brad Wilson.

2 Deaths Confirmed By Jury

GAINESVILLE, Mo. — (AP) — A coroner's jury has ruled that Aleta Goad, 17, of Dora, Mo., and William R. Coy, 20, of Mountain Home, Arklk died in a barn fire near Dora Feb. 5.

Bones found in the ashes were determined to be human.

The coroner's jury said Friday the fire was accidental.

Increase Slight For Farmers

Put on another basis, farmers last year got only 38 cents of each dollar consumers spent on food, down one cent from 1970.

The report, issued Friday, was another in a series issued by USDA this week on food prices. Earlier, the department predicted supermarket grocery prices will rise this year about 4 per cent, compared with a 2.4-per-cent gain in 1971.

But that includes all food consumers buy at retail stores, imported and seafood products as well as items which begin on U.S. farms. The market-basket list includes only farm-originated food products and is used to gauge where the consumer dollar goes.

On that basis, the latest report said, farmers can expect a larger share of consumer food spending in 1972. Also, middlemen will widen their margins.

"If marketing spreads widen about as much as they did in 1971 and returns to farmers strengthen, the retail cost of the market basket of U.S. farm foods may rise about 3.5 per cent compared with last year's rise of 1.7 per cent," the report said.

Detective Cowger Resigns

James R. Cowger, detective on the Sikeston Police told the Standard that he has quit his post to take a better paying job.

Cowger, route 2 Sikeston, joined the detective division on November 29, 1971 and said that he hated to leave the force but could not make ends meet on the salary he was paid.

Home-Car Robberies In City

Two robberies were reported to police yesterday. Robert Bom, of 1601 E. Matthews, told police that his home was entered several days ago and a metal box which contained $400 in old coins was stolen.

Lonnie Hodges of 108 West Gladys parked his car on the lot of the Midtowner Village yesterday afternoon and when he came back his 12-gauge shotgun was missing. He told police that the gun's value is $60.

Police are investigating both robberies.

$26,576 Collected In County

Scott County Collector Tom Marshall reported $26,576 in merchants, personal, and real estate taxes were collected in January.

The distribution of the January collections are state, $157.69; county, 42,367.08; county special road, $1,507.50; health, $524.21; library, $330.95; Johnson Grass, $105.27; county drainage, $271.80.

Monies distributed to the area school districts include Illmo-Scott City, R-1, $3,862.78; Chaffee, R-2, $1,401.19; Oran, R-3, $1,594.05; Kelly, R-4, $3,176.57; Scott Central, R-5, $2,427.17; Sikeston, R-6, $7,864.65; and Kelso, C-7, $200.36.

Marshall said that any 1971 taxes collected in February are delinquent and bear a two per cent penalty plus two percent interest.

Aduition Times Announced

Bill Ewing, Entertainment Chairman for the 1972 KFVS Cerebral Palsy Telethon, has announced the audition dates for people interested in appearing on the program to raise funds for United Cerebral Palsy.

Ewing said that auditions will be held on Saturday, February 19, at the KFVS Building, 310 Broadway in Cape Girardeau. Persons interested in performing should call Area Code 314 334-7746 to set an appointment time.

The Telethon is scheduled for March 4 and 5, and is the second annual event of its kind.

The monies raised will assist those afflicted with Cerebral Palsy in the surrounding area.

We Both Had The Green Light?

BOTH DRIVERS THOUGHT that they had the green light. Bernie Joe Lacy, 312 Virginia, was driving his 1969 Plymouth North on Main when he collided with a 1969 Buick being driven east on Malone by William Edgar Hawkins of New Madrid. No arrests were made according to the police.

Juvenile In Custody

Man Killed

CHARLESTON — Curtis Eugene Fergerson, 30, was shot and killed at 2:40 a.m. today at the home of Mrs. Eula Mae Washington, route three, Charleston, Southeast of Wyatt.

According to Sheriff W. J. "Pedro" Simmons, Fergerson was shot by a 15-year-old juvenile once in the left side of the chest. Fergerson died instantly.

Simmons said Fergerson and Mrs. Washington had been arguing earlier in the bedroom of the home and he reportedly cut her in the palm of the right hand. After more arguing and scuffling, Simmons said the juvenile pointed a 20 gauge shotgun at Fergerson and told him was tired of him beating his mother.

Simmons said it was not clear why Fergerson and the boy went outside but apparently Fergerson followed the boy to attempt to take the gun away.

The boy went into the home through the back door and locked Fergerson out. Later, Fergerson knocked out a window and part of the door in and reportedly the juvenile warned him at this time not it come it. After the warning, the boy shot Fergerson.

The juvenile is on the custody of juvenile officer Gordon Galemore. An inquest has been set for 4 p.m. Monday.

City Elections

When municipal elections role around on April 4, at least two well-known names may be missing from their customary spot on the ballot.

Lee Austin Bowmen, school board president and long time member of the board is calling it quits.

"I've served a long time and now its time for other men to take over," Bowmen said. He is associated with the Scott County Milling Co.

Lee Shell is strongly considering leaving his city council seat and running for the school board. He has already filed for election to the board. Shell was first elected to the city council in 1966 and in April 1971, became mayor.

Shell said that he would make his decision soon, saying the situation is "up in the air at this point." He indicated that he doesn't want to leave the council unless someone else is running. Shell said that he doesn't want the city council to have to appoint someone to his seat.

Shell's concern of a vacancy on the council may be unjustified, as W.A. "Archy" Alliston, Jr., of 724 Davis Blvd., became the first person to file for election to the city council yesterday morning. He is associated with Missouri Utilities. Alliston has been unavailable for comment since he filed for election.

Kenny Bridger is expected to announce Monday that he is a candidate for re-election to his city council seat. Bridger, a resident of Sikeston for 21 years, was elected to the council in April of 1971.

Phil Barkett will seek re-election to his school board seat. Barkett is finishing his first three year term and said "I'm very privileged to be on the school board and would like to continue serving." Barkett has been operating Barkett's Big Star Supermarket for 13 years.

Nine Injured In Mishaps

The highway patrol reported nine persons were injured in four separate traffic accidents last night.

Four persons were injured in a three- car accident at 9:40 p.m. at the intersection of I-55 and I-57 just south of Sikeston.

According to the patrol, a 1969 Buick, being driven south by George Milton Lindsey, 58 of Omaha, Neb., struck a 1969 tractor trailer in the rear as it entered I-55 from I-57. Lindsey's Buick then spun around and came to a stop in the middle of I-55 and was struck by a 1970 Dodge being driven south by James Clayton Keller of Topeka, Kansas.

Injured were Matte Lindsey, 56 of Omaha, with leg and head injuries; and Annie Kotton, 79, of Omaha, with multiple bruises and contusions. Both were passengers in the Buick.

Keller had minor abrasions and cuts on the jaw, while his wife Regina Katherine had head cuts and possible internal injuries.

The truck driver was not injured.

All were taken to Missouri Delta community Hospital.

Two persons were slightly injured when the car they were riding in struck the rear of another auto at 5:45 p.m. on route A, one mile east of Wardell.

The patrol said that a 1970 ford was being driven at a high rate of speed by Ronnie McAdee, 24, of Kennett, when it overtook and stuck a 1964 Chevrolet being driven by George Dickson, 50, of Wardell. Both cars were eastbound at the time of the accident.

Injured were Rosie Lee Dickson, 17 and Calvon Dickson, 6, both of Wardell and passengers in the Dickson auto. They were taken to Pemiscot County Hospital in Hayti with minor injuries.

McAdee was arrested for driving while intoxicated and careless and imprudent driving, according to the patrol.

Two men were injured at 1 a.m. three miles north of Dudley on route WW in a one car accident.

William Franklin Martin, 54 of Dudley, suffered cuts on the face and head, while a passenger in the car he was driving, Charles Griffen, suffered a right leg injury. Both were taken to Dexter Hospital.

The patrol said that Martin was driving his 1971 Chevrolet pickup northbound at an excessive rate of speed, when it ran off the road and hit a ditch embankment.

Gary Leonard Vaughn, 21, of Senath, was slightly injured at 1:15 a.m. on highway 25 north of the Senath city limits.

The patrol said Vaughn's 1956 Ford left the east side of the highway and struck the dirt embankment and ended up back on the highway.

Vaughn was taken to Dunklin County Hospital where he was treated for cuts on the head and then released.

Life Says No Publish

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Life magazine says it has canceled plans to publish excerpts from a purported autobiography of billionaire Howard Hughes after determining that the manuscript is a hoax perpetrated by Clifford Irving.

The magazine's parent company, Time, Inc., dropped the agreement with Mc Graw Hill, Inc., on Friday, and said in a statement it had learned "how Irving put together the manuscript and carried out this hoax."

McGraw- Hill announced later it was still reconsidering its contract with Irving to publish the manuscript as a book but had "discovered additional information concerning a possible source of the material."

The information, it said, was provided by James Phelan, a free- lance investigative reporter who collaborated with former Hughes aide Noah Dietrich on a forthcoming book about the industrialist.

Phelan spent Friday helping both McGraw- Hill and Time piece together details on how the Hughes book was assembled. Time said it would release these details in a cover story in next week's Time magazine.

Mills Seeks Presidency

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Responding to a campaign generated by home-state supporters and congressional colleagues, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and a leading figure in many a Capitol Hill scrap, says he will actively seek the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mills moved off the list of presidential fence-sitters and into the battle proper Friday with the announcement that he knew his Arkansas delegation would nominate him at the Democratic convention and that he "intended to be in Miami seeking the support of other delegations."

The statement, ending a period in which Mills said he was not a candidate but would not fight a convention draft, came after his name was entered in the Wisconsin and Nebraska primaries.

Mills office said the congressman has written to the Wisconsin and Nebraska secretaries of state that he could not in good conscience sign the required affidavits to remove his name from the ballot.

Such a move, Mills wrote, would require him to say "he is not now and does not intend to be a candidate for President."

Mills, whose committee handles all tax legislation, has been a member of Congress since 1939. He is considered an expert on internal revenue matters and an effective backer of tax policies traditionally espoused by the Democrats.

Mills is reported to have the support of many fellow Southerners to run for the presidency as well as being a favorite son in Arkansas.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State William P. Rogers made it known he will give special foreign-policy briefings to all candidates, starting after "a winnowing out process" has narrowed the now-crowded field.

A department spokesman confirmed this when asked about a call by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., for the administration to give "in-depth discussions" to keep candidates informed.

The State Department said the briefings probably would not start until after Rogers returns from his trip to Peking with President Nixon.

Humphrey, appearing on NBC's "Today" show, also called on fellow presidential hopefuls to "refine the debate" over the President's latest peace moves.

That view was shared by another Democratic contender, Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, who urged Americans to support Nixon's Vietnam efforts "as long as he continues to negotiate effectively for peace."

"There will be ample time to hold Nixon accountable for what he has done—or hasn't done—come November," Jackson told a Jacksonville gathering.

Turbine Engine Vehicle

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Bill Lear has rolled out his first vapor-powered turbine engine vehicle for public inspection and predicts it will help clear the smog from U.S. cities.

The 69-year-old industrialistinventor who developed the Lear Jet says he has spent $12 million and five years in developing the engine which powered a bus at the display for 200 persons Friday.

Entertainer Art Linkletter, a member of the Lear Motor Corp. board of directors, said, "We have smog now where they never thought it would be. It's virtually everywhere. Vehicles are the villain and Bill Lear's steam engine may well be the means to solve this problem we face."

"I want to see it operating. I want to see some facts and figures," said Peter Bertogolio, western regional director for the U.S. Department of Transportation.

"We don't know enough about it to say what action—if any— the department will take."

In short demonstration runs, observers noted that the bus' steam power plant—which fits in the standard engine compartment—provides quieter, smoother acceleration than the standard diesel motor. Otherwise, the ride was like that of a normal bus.

Lear's company is one of three under contract with California agencies working on a low pollution bus under a Department of Transportation allocation.

"If I can drive up in front of the Capitol in Washington, D.C., with a bus which is as pollution-free as this one, the auto industry can no longer complain it can't be done," Lear said.

Warren Dorn, a member of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, said the Leardeveloped steam engine might well be the salvation of the Los Angeles basin—where four million vehicles dump 13,000 tons of fumes into the air each day.

Lear said General Motors Corp. sold him the bus for $1 because "they didn't want the liability in case our vapor engine blew up. But they have provided us with equipment and technical knowledge." The project has received $202,000 of a $450,000 contract from the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Lear said it will take $35 million to get the engine into mass production for autos, and he estimated cost of the engine in production at $200.

Lear said his vapor-turbine auto would be ready for public display in about 60 days. The Lear bus is scheduled for showing at the Los Angeles Sports Show Feb. 17-21, and the Lear auto—a 1971 Chevrolet Monte Carlo—is to be at the International Auto Show in New York in April.

Mideast Diplomacy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian diplomats have hinted strongly their government may agree to face-to-face negotiations with Israel if Israel makes a firm withdrawal commitment.

The Washington-based diplomats, who could not be named, also said Friday that the government of President Anwar Sadat might drop its insistence on crossing the Suez Canal if the Israelis make a "clear commitment" to withdraw to prewar borders within six months.

Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel has maintained that no Egyptian troops should cross the canal if Israel withdraws from the prime defense line in accordance with the U.S. proposal to reopen the stalled waterway. The Egyptians have insisted their troops cross the canal.

While the Egyptians have shunned direct negotiations, Israel has maintained that only face-to-face talks would produce real peace in the Middle East.

The Egyptian diplomats made it clear that an Israeli withdrawal must be to the boundaries that existed before the 1967 war. However, Israel has said modifications of those borders are necessary because they did not give the country security.

Strike Settlement Discussion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Longshoremen's union leaders from Seattle to San Diego meet today to discuss a tentative settlement in the 127-day dock strike and arrange for a ratification ballot by 13,000 West Coast members.

The caucus, closed to outsiders and held under strict secrecy rules for the 110 delegates, could continue into Monday. Leaders said a Sunday session seemed certain.

Voting on the proposed settlement probably will take a week or more.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the International Longshoremen's Asociation on the East and Gulf Coasts said his union's 45,000 members are to vote on a new contract by March 8. East Coast dockworkers struck from Oct. 1 to Nov. 26 when President Nixon imposed a Taft-Hartley injunction there.

Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said ILWU members won't go back to their West Coast jobs until they approve the proposed two-year agreement in a secret ballot.

That's the way the strike began July 1 at the 24 ports and that's the way it will end, said Bridges, who headed the negotiating committee which has recommended approval.

After the ILWU caucus acts the 122 employer members of the Pacific Maritime Association will vote on the tentative agreement reached Tuesday. They agreed on economic issues and will submit noneconomic ones to private arbitration.

President Nixon received authority Wednesday from Congress to order an immediate end to the strike. The White House has said the authority will be held pending the ILWU ratification vote.

Nixon invoked the Taft-Hartley Act to send the strikers back to their jobs Oct. 9 after their strike was 100 days old. They resumed the walkout Jan. 17.

A key issue in the contract dispute was an ILWU demand for protection of its jurisdiction over jobs stuffing and unstuffing containers.

The ILWU claims to have lost 1,500 jobs on containers in the last two years, most of them to the Teamsters Union.

The proposed agreement with the PMA provides for a $1-a-ton royalty on container cargo not worked by ILWU men in a 50 mile radius from docks. Some West Coast Teamster leaders have voiced fears the proposed clause could cost the Teamsters jobs. In nearby Burlingame Friday, a committee from the Western Conference of Teamsters studied the ILWU-PMA agreement.

Einar Mohn, conference director, told newsmen no decision was reached on a Teamster position and another meeting, with attorneys, would be held next week.

"The last thing we want to do is create another stoppage of work on the waterfront," Mohn said. "I would like to see us work it out between the ILWU, the PMA and ourselves."

Hunting Fatality

McGEE, Mo. (AP) — Jackie Walker, 22, of Zalma, Mo., in Bollinger County was killed Friday when his hunting companion's .22 rifle accidentally discharged, Wayne County Sheriff's authorities said.

Walker and Ronald D. Owens, 19, of Dudley, Mo., were hunting for rabbits in a heavily - wooded area near here, authorities said.

GIVING UP THE HOUSE

A little lady in Youngstown, Ohio, recently sent us her thoughts after moving out of the house in Altoona, Pa., that she called home for half a century. Eighty this month, she finally gave in to the concern of her nine children about living alone any longer in the former dwelling place of the family. She put it all in poetry for us and we thought you might enjoy it. Her name is Edith Hopkins Courtney, and she has no less than 59 grandchildren:

Years ago we built this house, my husband and I.
I thought I'd never leave it until I die.
Our children all grew up and moved away,
There seems to be no reason I should stay.

My husband died and I am all alone,
But still I feel contented in our home.
Our children worry, bless their hearts, they're all so far away;
I've told them I would move — perhaps in May.

I'd have my own apartment, two bedrooms I would need,
I'd ask my friends to visit me, I would indeed.
Three families live in Youngstown and that is where I'll go.
The children all are glad, they've told me so.

This house, which was built of lumber and stone,
Through half a century has become a home.
The happiness and sorrow, the laughter and tears,
Have formed many memories through the years.

I'll sell our home and try to be brave,
"Into each life some rain must fall,"
This isn't the end of my world at all.

HIGH COST OF PARENTHOOD

It costs the average family about $40,000 to raise a child from birth through college, according to a study made by the federal commission on Population Growth and the American Future.

Even worse, the family "loses" between $40,000 and $120,000 in potential income if the wife stays home until the child is 14 years old, depending upon the wife's level of education. The cost of each additional child, including two more years of the wife's "lost" income, is another $49,000, says the study.

The moral for future American husbands: If you don't believe wives or mothers should work, marry a dingbat. It's cheaper.

HEALTH EDUCATION

While some politicians talk about health care for votes, most discussions of health care in the U.S. revolve around the controversy over whether or not there should be revolutionary changes in the system of health care delivery -- i.e. adoption of a government administered national health insurance program at staggering costs to taxpayers. The political controversy has helped obscure other factors in the national health care picture that help to determine the general health level.

Some of these factors are pointed out by Anne R. Somers, Associate Professor, Department of Community Medicine, Rutgers Medical School. Professor Somers admits that present health care has some shortcomings, but she says, "... the primary causes of America's major health problems -- automobile accidents, obesity, drug and alcohol abuse, venereal diseases, many cancers, much heart and circulatory disease, much mental illness -- and of the remaining infant mortality are the living conditions, lifestyle or ignorance of the consumer himself ... What is desperately needed -- along with reforms in the delivery and financing systems -- is a massive program of consumer health education."

The simple truth is that vast new expenditures for health care will of themselves be of little avail, as Professor Somers warns. Nations are like individuals in that good health depends on good living habits. Living habits in the U.S. are far from exemplary, and it shows in the statistics.

It is possible Professor Somers expects too much of education in the health field -- but, as she stresses, it is one of the keys to a more healthy America.

With Valentine's Day coming up, it makes many a man quiver at the thought of Cupid's arrow.

Some may consider the following dry reading, but I consider it so very important because of the message it has for us. The Twenty-Third Hour used it once before.

And that is, "Don't be fooled by deficit spending by your government. This can only lead to added inflation, for by printing money, your government is creating nothing, is only taking away from the present value of money.

"Only by producing more goods is our economy really growing." And here's how it's said in the Ten Pillars of Economic Wisdom:"

"1— Nothing in our material world can come from nowhere or go nowhere, nor can it be free: everything in our economic life has a source, a destination and a cost that must be paid.

"2 — Government is never a source of goods. Everything produced is produced by the people, and everything that government gives to the people, it must first take from the people.

"3— The only valuable money that government has to spend is that money taxed or borrowed out of the people's earnings. When government decides to spend more than it has thus received, that extra unearned money is created out of thin air, through the banks, and, when spent, takes on value only by reducing the value of all money, savings and insurance.

"4 — In our modern exchange economy, all payroll and employment come from customers, and the only worthwhile job security is customer security; if there are no customers, there can be no payroll and no jobs.

"5 — Customer security can be achieved by the worker only when he cooperates with management in doing the things that win and hold customers. Job security, therefore, is a partnership problem that can be solved only in a spirit of understanding and cooperation.

"6 — Because wages are the principal cost of everything, widespread wage increases, without corresponding increases in production, simply increase the cost of everybody's living.

"7 — The greatest good for the greatest number means, in its material sense, the greatest goods for the greatest number which, in turn, means the greatest productivity per worker.

"8 — All productivity is based on three factors: 1) natural resources, whose form, place and condition are changed by the expenditure of 2) human energy (both muscular and mental) with the aid of 3) tools.

"9 — Tools are the only one of these three factors that man can increase without limit, and tools come into being in a free society only when there is a reward for the temporary self- denial that people must practice in order to channel part of their earnings away from purchases that produce immediate comfort and pleasure, and into new tools of production. Proper payment for the use of tools is essential to their creation.

"10 — The productivity of the tools — that is, the efficiency of the human energy applied in connection with their use — has always been highest in a competitive society in which the economic decisions are made by millions of progress- seeking individuals, rather than in a state- planned society in which those decisions are made by a handful of all- powerful people, regardless of how well- meaning, unselfish, sincere and intelligent those people may be.

"Another point should be added:

"The cost of every good real thing that we enjoy is paid by profits from industry, agriculture and commerce, predominately by industry. This goes for education, social security, medicine and all other forms of welfare. We should foster, not handicap, our source of all good things. This statement does not condone anti- social acts by individuals or corporations." -- Brookfield News Bulletin.

POROUS PAVING TO THE RESCUE

We are still a long way from paving over the entire country, but the urbanization if not "highwayization" of America has already caused a problem in some localities. This is the runoff of uncalculable quantities of water which formerly soaked into the earth to replenish underground supplies, with a consequent overburdening of storm sewer systems, not to mention the contribution to the pollution of lakes, streams and rivers.

But technology may be coming to the rescue. Chemical & Engineering News reports on a porous pavement that lets rain pass through to underground water tables rather than be wasted via storm sewers.

Developed at Franklin Institute Research Laboratories in Philadelphia, the pavement is made of a new asphaltic material that allows up to 70 inches per hour of water to flow through.

Laboratory tests have shown that it has good resistance to mechanical stress, exposure to air and freeze- thaw cycles and should be chaeaper than conventional paving with its necessary runoff (sewer) system.

The next step will be to pave several acres in different locations with the material to test it in actual use. The institute is betting that porous pavement will be the preferred pavement of the future.

THIS IS FAIR
AND EQUITABLE?

The preferential treatment that Congress accorded a minute number of wage earners -- at the demands of organized labor -- could seriously jeopardize efforts to stabilize the economy, comments the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Congress, in extending authority to continue wage-price controls until 1973, directed the President to issue wage guidelines and standards which "shall be fair and equitable."

At the same time, the lawmakers loopholed the requirement by legislating that retroactive wages be paid to certain union members and government workers whose scheduled increases were stopped during the 90-day freeze.

Such special favors follow the Pay Board's action of announcing guidelines one day and then granting pay boosts to union groups that far exceed the stated guidelines.

No wonder that economic controls are being viewed as applicable only to nonunuon workers in the private sector, who constitute by far the greatest number of the work force. These unorganized workers are being asked to comply with a limit on any wage increases they might receive, while organized labor demands -- and gets -- another set of rules and guidelines with far more liberal terms.

The Federal government, in giving in to labor's demands, can destroy public belief that our national leaders are serious in their intent to bring inflation under control.

It's time that the future of all workers -- and we might add, indeed, the public's faith in the fairness of our system of government -- take precedence over the wishes of a few.

INDUSTRIALIST QUESTIONS INSTANT POLLUTION ACTIONS

The quickest route to depression would be to curtail the use of energy, suspend construction of new power plants, and resist technological advances—all in the name of a better environment, E. J. Dwyer, Board Chairman of the National Assoc. of Manuf. said recently.

"Is this the cost we want to pay for a cleaner environment?" Mr. Dwyer asked the members of the Philadelphia Rotary Club.

Mr. Dwyer, who is President of ESB Inc., Philadelphia, decried the current public obsession for "instant" solutions to pollution and other social problems.

"Although pollution control has been an industry activity for many years, the topic flared into national prominence several years ago, and saving the environment has now become a national passion," he said. "No one is against pure water and pure air, but the question is: 'How pure is pure?' Even Ivory soap never quite reached the ultimate."

Public is Real Loser.....Mr. Dwyer said that the public is the real loser when "irresponsible criticism and ill-conceived legislation impair faith in, and the operation of, our economic system. when harassments interfere with industry's ability to meet technical and other challenges, and when critics unfairly seek to fix the onus on industrial managers for a condition that we all help to create."

The NAM Chairman said that detractors who focus their prime attacks on the profit-making function of business are doing a great public disservice. "They tend to obscure the fact that by our ability to put the enterprise ona profitable basis we are able to provide jobs and generate the financial means for solving human needs," he said.

Business Will Respond...."By keeping the economic mechanism strong and functioning with a minimum of restrictions, American business will respond generously and effectively to the social demands of the American family, enhancing the dignity and security of its individual members, and providing a quality of life that is unsurpassed anywhere in the world."

PATRIOTISM MISSING

The radical left has enhanced the communist propaganda line for many months, demanding that the United States set a definite withdrawal date in the Indochina War and then get out lock, stock and barrel regardless of the dangers involved as regards our own forces and those of our allies. The harangue from this element divided the people of this country and sapped our strength.

Now it has been disclosed that Washington had made offers to Hanoi as far back as Oct., 1971, which included a provisional withdrawal date of Aug. 1, 1972, provided other conditions were met. These would include a cease-fire order on both sides and a release of all prisoners of war, a point uppermost in the minds of all. But the negotiations were fruitless since Hanoi wouldn't yield on certain issues. For one thing, the communists demanded that the U. S. unseat the present government of Saigon, a feat the North Vietnamese have not been able to accomplish. But these offers on the part of the U. S., including the specific withdrawal date, have not satisfied the radical left. That element in the U. S. still says that their own country is wrong in not getting out now despite the crisis it would create for our own armed forces in Indochina. Two liberal U. S. Senators, after hearing President Nixon outline his offer to end the war, declared that we ought to withdraw on a unilateral bases with no concessions from the aggressive forces of the communists. It makes one wonder whose side the radical left is on and what it would take to satisfy it. The statements of the radical left certainly don't coincide with old-fashioned patriotism. Right now our nation could use a dose of old-fashioned patriotism. HLH

By Victor Riesel

Trading With Peking: Can Nixon Deliver To Mao Without Support Of U.S. Labor?

WASHINGTON--During my own encounters with novelist-critic Andre Malraux, I soon discovered that the then-French Minister of Cultural Affairs never did lose his old Socialist sabre-like technique of slicing straight to the heart of the conversation piece.

Ted Kennedy, at dinner with him the other night, may not have recognized it but he did get a dose of Malraux's dialectics when the politico-essayist observed that Mao's or Chou's first question to President Nixon after the traditional amenities will be: What can you deliver to us in food, technology, fuel, machinery and trade?

But President Nixon, despite his awesome power, still will be bound in his answer by some Leninist truths. He can promise. But only American labor can deliver. Only American longshoremen can load and unload cargo in sufficient tonnage to repay Peking for all the duck it will put out for its guests.

And most American longshoremen, whether or not it is their right to affect foreign policy, at this moment have no intention of "handling" Sino-Soviet inbound or outbound cargo in ports on the Great Lakes, or on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts.

What if there is paralysis, as both International Longshoremen's Association (AFL-CIO) President Teddy Gleason and Executive Vice President Johnny Bowers tell me there may well be? President Nixon may not be able to deliver. And Malraux Mao's old friend, says this will be the end of the conversation except for banalities.

It is therefore premature for the Communist Chinese Canadian Embassy officials, through their UN Mission comrades, to draw up fanciful and endless gossamer bills of lading.

It was premature for Igor M. Avarin, Chief of the Foreign Relations Dept. of the Soviet Ministry of the Maritime Fleet, and his party to tour New York harbor and the container handling facilities of Port Newark, N.Y. as they did some two weeks ago. Or for Vladimir Matskevich, Soviet Minister of Agriculture and his party to confer here recently with Andy Gibson, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Maritime Affairs.

The port facilities are here. The grain is bountiful. But the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) has no more plans to move Soviet cargo than Chinese Communist material. It is the way of the dockwalloper. They haven't handled Communist vessels for over 20 years. Even these days they turn their backs on the Polish passenger craft the Batory when it puts into New York.

It is their way. They look at you and say, "ILA--it stands for I Love America." And you know they're not jingoist. They belive that trading with the Sino-Soviet bloc negates their patriotism. There are those who will mock the slogan. But it stays.

True the West Coast longshoremen, when they work, handle about 10 to 12 Soviet freighters a month--cargo ships which work cheaper hauling Japanese goods to America than can American freighters.

But Western ports couldn't handle the real bulk of Sino-Soviet trade. Thus the answer to Mao's question, presuming Malraux is correct, must come from those who follow Gleason and Bowers.

Here, on the service road of history's mainstream, it must be noted that Gleason clears it all with AFL-CIO President George Meany. And if there is any one thing which has the husky irreverent labor chief uptight with Mr. Nixon it is the President's trip to Peking and China. Raw acid is a diet cola compared with Meany's private characterization of the Nixon trips.

For years Meany and his federation have fought the exchange of labor delegations even with Yugoslavia. This hatred of anything Communist is as deeply rooted in his devout soul as his regularity at Saturday mass.

He has told this to the President. But he knows, as he gathers with his high command colleagues at their midwinter Executive Council session in B 1 Harbour, not even his literal and figurative bulk can dam the flow of Sino-Soviet-American relations. So there must be a quid pro quo, a bargain, concessions by the Moscow and Mainland China party bosses, Brezhnev and Mao if he's still competent.

And as Johnny Bowers told a Hollywood banquet honoring him the other night, there will be no handling of Russian or Chinese cargo if there is no release of American prisoners of war.

"We have not changed our mind," said Bowers later, "we hope they understand. We mean no disrespect to the President but that's our position and it's final.

"We don't want to embarrass Nixon. But he must understand the position of the ILA. No release of war prisoners, no use of Peking and Moscow influence on Hanoi for this, no lifting of the boycott."

And there is unity among most maritime unions--with the exception of Harry Bridges. Leaders of the waterfront and ocean-going workers held a series of secret sessions in New York last week to end internal feuding and form a solid bloc.

They want trade. They want to move grain to the hungry, even machinery and technology. But they're men who know how to bargain. They want to know what America will get in return. No one has told them. No one has contacted them. Not even the State Department which has been hosting the visiting Soviet dignitaries.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--We reported last September that the Better Business Bureaus, which consumers across the country rely upon for protection against dishonest businessmen, often put out misinformation intended more to protect the companies than their customers.

The national executive vice president, John O'Brien, told us the abuses we had uncovered were products of the past. "Now it's a new ball game," he said passionately.

We waited five months, then reviewed the BBB's operations. Here are our latest findings:

--The new ball game didn't last nine innings. Reformer O'Brien was yanked out, demoted and replaced by William Tankersley, a former CBS vice president.

--We examined a batch of reports prepared by the Trade Practices Department for distribution to the 142 local Better Business Bureaus. Most were so bland as to be useless. Many didn't even name the companies accused of questionable practices.

--Some BBB reports were actually written by the offending companies themselves. Instead of an independent assessment, the consumers got exactly what the company wanted them to know.

Of course, some reports on trade practices name the bad companies and call the shots honestly. But these tough reports, unhappily, are often ignored by the local BBBs.

--FACTS WITHHELD--

For example, a national report warned the locals on January 5 that Frederick Chusid and Company, nationwide career counselors, had been listed with firms that "do not enjoy good reputation." The report also mentioned lawsuits against Chusid.

My associate Les Whitten, posing as a middle-level administrator, asked the Washington BBB about Chusid. He was given no inkling of the unfavorable BBB report. Instead, a rushed clerk said there had been "a very few complaints."

At Chusid's Washington office, counselor Willy Welan told Whitten airily: "Nothing to the complaints. All companies have them. Look at General Motors. You don't get where we are if there's anything wrong."

Posing as a new homeowner, Whitten also asked BBB's national council for a report on Welcome Wagon. A cordial clerk assured him that "at no time have its activities been the subject of any unfavorable information or criticism to this office."

Yet only two months ago, Rep. Ogden Reid, R-N.Y., caused a national furore by producing evidence that Welcome Wagon hostesses sometimes snooped on people they visited.

Reid showed us written reports that the hostesses had submitted to business clients, giving details about the unsuspecting homeowners' economic situation.

Footnote: Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., has also concluded from an exhaustive, three-month study that the Better Business Bureaus put out "inaccurate" information and favor member companies.

--PRO-CONSUMER ATTORNEY GENERAL--

The powerful patent lobby has suffered a devastating setback from Attorney General John Mitchell who ignored his big business past to side vigorously with the consumer.

The lobby is made up of patent lawyers and the huge corporations they serve. For years, they have tried to push through amendments to exempt patents from anti-trust laws.

Without such laws, the consumers would be unprotected against price-fixing, but the big corporations would stand to make billions.

Last year, the lobby came within one vote of getting its exemption from a Senate subcommittee. But Sen. Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, turned the tables and crossed party lines to vote against it.

The dismayed patent lawyers blamed Washington Merry-Go-Round revelations about their lobbying for defeat of the bill. But privately they began work to reverse the subcommittee vote.

In confidential memos they urged patent lawyers with contacts in high places to undertake the "education of Senators," presumably Fong and others opposing the bill.

The lobby gathered support from two ex-patent commissioners, the Commerce Department and some members of the White House staff.

Against this heavyweight opposition, the consumer-minded Senators looked to the Justice Department. There, Mitchell had been mulling for weeks over a memo from his anti-trust staff urging a strong statement against the lobby's amendments.

Finally, despite fatcat GOP contributors among the lobbyists, Mitchell chomped on his pipe and ordered his anti-trust chief, Richard McLaren to lambaste the bill.

McLaren complied in a private letter a few days ago to the Senate Patents chairman, John McClellan, D-Ark. In it, McLaren said the lobby's bill would open the way to "price-fixing," "boycotts," "anti-competitive patent pools," and "predatory price discrimination."

Secretly, McLaren advised McClellan that the bill would ruin Justice's cases against such industrial giants as Westinghouse, Bristol-Myers, Mitsubishi, Ciba, American Home Products and Colgate-Palmolive.

Corn,	50 Acres;
Early soybeans,	238 Acres;

The Ligons family began farming in 1964, with the assistance of FHA, on 160 acres of land with 80 acres being located near Frailey and the other 80 acres being located some 40 miles away at Campbell, Missouri. He continued farming on a small scale on rented land until he received a farm ownership loan through FHA to purchase 102 acres in 1970.

Denver has consistently shown his ability to produce high yields by using approved practices for the area, such as fertilization, chemicals, and rotating, backed by research at the Delta Experiment Station.

He credits the high yields to his excellent four years rotation of cotton, corn, wheat, and soybeans. He fertilizes according to soil test using a starter application and side dressing the corn and cotton annually.

His latest venture has been into a feeder pig enterprise which presently consists of 22 sows, two farrowings per year, with average weaning per litter of 8. These are housed in a central farrowing house using crates. Pigs are cared for in crates castrated, vaccinated, and weaned at six weeks of age, after which they are placed in a holding pen for marketing at about 7 or 8 weeks. He is presently using a York-Hampshire cross.

Mrs. Ligons is active in the Methodist Women's club while the two small sons are both enrolled in the Cub Scouts.

One of the important factors to the families success is due in part to the excellent set of records of farming expenses and income, kept by both husband and wife.

Option Offered Producer

NEW MADRID — As sign-up opened in the 1972 voluntary programs for feed grain, wheat and cotton producers, a new set- aside option was offered to corn and grain sorghum producers by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A higher set- aside payment rate can be earned by producers who agree to reduce their farm's corn- sorghum acreage below last year's planting.

At the same time, all previously- announced options remain open to feed grain producers, according to John Hutcheson, Missouri Farm Program Official. Provisions of the wheat and cotton set- aside programs are unchanged. Additional set- aside options for wheat had been announced in January.

Producer sign-up in the 1972 farm set- aside programs opened February 3 and will continue through March 10 at ASCS county offices throughout the Nation.

Under the new option for feed grain producers with corn-sorghum bases, the payment rate for up to at least 10 percent and possibly 15 percent voluntary additional set- aside will be the same as the qualifying set- aside rate -- 80 cents a bushel for corn and 76 cents a bushel for grain sorghum. USDA will accept up to 10 percent of this voluntary set- aside when offered by the producer at sign-up. The remaining 5 percent will be at the option of the Secretary of Agriculture, with a later announcement on whether it will be accepted.

If he chooses this new option, a producer will hold his 1972 corn- sorghum acreage at not more than last year's acreage minus twice the additional set- aside acreage.

Producers who choose the new corn- sorghum option in the feed grain program will forego the option previously announced for additional voluntary set- aside for corn, grain sorghum, and barley.

Explanations of all 1972 set- aside programs and options -- except this new corn-sorghum option -- have been presented to farmers, Hutcheson said. Details of the new option are currently being made available to farmers.

Beef Prices May Be On Verge Of Stampede

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supermarket beef prices, already at record highs, may be on the verge of a full-fledged stampede, according to new government smoke signals.

The Agriculture Department said Monday that January beefcattle prices broke a 21-year record set during the Korean War, reaching an average of $31.40 per hundredweight for live animals.

Meanwhile, the department says, retail prices of choicegrade beef in December—before the full effect of the record cattle market was felt—rose to a record all-cut average of $1.08 per pound.

Raw farm products are not included in federal price controls, and retailers may pass on added costs to customers.

Also, consumers appear willing to buy beef almost at any price. It is the favorite, by far, and, with second-ranked pork, comprises nearly one-third of the average family's food bill.

Doubts over the cost of meat production were raised Monday by the Food and Drug Administration which served notice it will curb the use of antibiotics in livestock feed unless the medicines are proved safe for meat eaters.

Some agricultural spokesmen say that, if feed antibiotics are banned, costs of livestock production would soar and consumers would end up paying much more. But government experts say the economic effects of an antibiotic ban are impossible to tell at this time.

Rising cattle prices are providing a mixed blessing for the Nixon administration, which wants to see farm incomes improved but shudders at the possibility of a consumer revolt over soaring prices in an election year.

In 1951, when the previous record of $30.30 per hundredweight was set for cattle, retail beef prices averaged 88 cents per pound, fully 20 cents less than today.

Cattleman costs for shipping, processing and marketing beef have risen much more sharply, so farmers are not the primary recipients of higher prices.

Little consumer relief is seen for the near future. Agriculture Department officials predict cattle prices will continue strong and see little likelihood of middleman markets shrinking much.

This, they say, is true even though more cattle are now being fed for slaughter later. As of Jan. 1, there were 8 per cent more in fattening pens than a year earlier, and cattlemen say herds are expanding gradually to take care of future needs.

One immediate solution, favored by many consumer groups, is expansion of meat imports. But those, mostly lowgrade meat used for hamburger and processing, are tightly supervised under a quota system.

Quality On Set-Aside Acreage

NEW MADRID — Farmers who use the set- aside inspection and early measurement service offered by the county ASCS office will be guaranteed that their set-aside acreage in the 1972 farm programs will be of acceptable quality and sufficient acreage to earn full program payments.

The quality guarantee is new, according to Bernard Recker, Chairman of the New Madrid County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The guarantee of sufficient acreage, provided the staked measurements are followed, has long been a major reason for wide- spread use of the ASCS measurement service by farm program participants.

"Guarantee means just that," Recker said. "If a farmer gets set- aside inspection and early measurement service -- and follows those measurements when he makes his set- aside -- then ASCS guarantees no deductions will be made from this program payments because of insufficient set- aside acreage or because the set- aside land was not of average productivity."

The quality- and- quantity set- aside guarantee was announced at the beginning of the sign-up period for the 1972 feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs. Signup opened February 3 and continues through March 10 at the county ASCS office.

Program participants who want measurement service usually request it when they sign up, since it is a convenient time. This year, Recker said, special consideration should be given to getting in early to sign up and to request set- aside inspection and early measurement. The service is provided at a nominal charge which covers the cost.

"The sooner a set- aside inspection and measurement request is made, the sooner that farm will get the service," he said, "and with double guarantee on both quality and quantity of set- aside acreage, the county ASCS office expects even more than the usual large number of measurement requests at sign-up this year. The way to get ahead of the rush would be to come in early to sign up for the 1972 feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs."

The quality guarantee for set- aside acreage is important because of the "average productivity" requirement for set- aside land, the ASC Committee Chairman said. Land designated for set- aside must have a productive capacity at least equal to the land on which program crops are grown this year -- or the land on which program crops would have been grown. Failure to meet this requirement can result in reduction or loss of farm program payments.

Recker also said that the local ASCS office had been instructed not to accept for set- aside land any acreage which is known in advance to be of below average quality.

Under the Agricultural Act of 1970, which embodies the set- aside program, farmers participating in the voluntary feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs may plant their cropland almost as they wish, if they maintain their set- aside acreage, and conserving base. Some crops which are under quota, such as rice, peanuts, extra long staple cotton and a few others, may be grown only within farm allotments.

It is essential that good quality set- aside land be offered by program participants in order to help reduce the potential American agriculture has for excess production, Recker said.

Farm Producer Program Choices

NEW MADRID — In order to participate in the 1972 Feed Grain Set- Aside Program, an eligible producer must make the following choices:

Qualifying participation. In all cases, in order to participate, a producer must set aside a cropland acreage of average productivity equal to 25 percent of his total feed grain base. He will receive a payment rate of 80 cents a bushel for corn, 76 cents for grain sorghum, and 64 cents for barley on the established yeild of the set- aside acres.

In addition, he may choose one of the following two alternatives:

(1) He may set aside an additional acreage up to 10 percent of his corn- sorghum base, at a payment rate of 52 cents a bushel for corn, 49 cents for grain sorghum. Barley gorwers may elect up to 20 percent additional set-aside at 42 cents per bushel. This is the only option that offers additional voluntary set- aside for barley. (If a producer with a corn- sorghum base wants to make maximum set- aside under this choice, he may offer an additional 5 or 10 percent of that base at the 52-cent rate for corn, 49-cent rate for sorghum, at the option of the Secretary of Agriculture who will announce at a later date whether he will accept this offer.)

OR

(2) He may set- aside an additional 10 percent of his corn- sorghum base at an 80-cent rate for corn, 76 cent rate for grain sorghum provided, he agrees to reduce his corn- sorghum planting from last year by twice the acreage of his additional set-aside. (If a producer wants to make maximum set- aside under his choice, he may offer an additional 5 percent of his corn- sorghum base at the 80-cent rate for corn, 76-cent rate for sorghum, at the option of the Secretary of Agriculture who will announce at a later date whether he will accept this offer. If the additional 5 percent offer is accepted, the producer must also reduce his corn- sorghum planting from last year by twice the acreage of this additional offer.)

Butz Strong For More Farm Income To Families

"Most wage-earning Americans who have received their regular pay increases do not protest very much when their fellow workers also receive pay boosts," Butz said in a luncheon address to the National Farm Institute.

"I hope they can see the justice in fair treatment for farmers, especially when the record shows that farmers are making only three-fourths as much income per person as non-farm people," he added.

Butz said it is necessary to fight for better farm income, to get fair prices for farm products, to strengthen corn prices, to prevent labor tieups so farmers can get their harvest to market, to give farmers more freedom to manage their own business, and to "fight for a better break for family farmers."

Stressing that the fight to provide a better income for farmers "is the biggest battle of all," Butz said "We want to see farmers do better so that they will find more opportunity to stay in agriculture.

"That's good for farmers, good for farm communities, good for the rural countryside, and good for the nation."

Butz noted that some progress is being made in stemming the trend of the diminishing small farm.

"The average decline in the number of farms during the past three years has been 47,000 a year," he said. "That's considerably better than the average loss of 106,000 farms a year from 1961 through 1968. But we want to do still better."

A study released by the Iowa Farm Bureau earlier this week noted that Iowa had lost 2,000 farms from 1970 to 1971.

Butz said that in order to "do still better," the Department of Agriculture and the Nixon Administration are taking a twopronged approach to improving farm and rural opportunity.

"Our first is the battle to improve farm income," he said. "Our second is the effort to improve economic opportunities in rural America."

"We want more of this nation's future to be invested in rural America, so that farm and rural people can find more and better jobs in their home areas instead of having to move to some far-off city that is already overcrowded and congested.

Earlier in the morning he said that farm income will be at an all-time high in 1972.

But he said at a news conference at the Iowa Statehouse that legislation must be enacted to prevent further crippling dock strikes that hurt American farmers.

"Farm income in 1972 will be up $1.5 to $2 billion over 1971," he said.

He said one of his main charges is to raise the income of farm families and other rural people.

"The President backs me all the way," Butz said. "He understands the problems of farm people."

Butz, in Des Moines to address the National Farm Institute, said food is a bargain in the United States. "Americans this year will spend only 15.5 per cent of their disposable income for food," he said, adding that last year they spent 16.5 per cent.

"I make no apology for wanting decent prices for farm products," the agriculture secretary said.

Butz said he has faith in the family farm but thinks such farms must not be too small.

"I want the small farmer to have enough land to produce enough for an adequate income," he said. "The small farm in Iowa a few years ago was only 80 acres. That is too small. Let's make sure the family farmer has enough to produce for an adequate income."

Butz criticized labor committees in Congress for holding up legislation to allow the President to end dock strikes.

"I'm getting tired of our farmers being bloodied between the eyes because of somebody else's labor strikes," he said. "We've got a right for access to markets. I don't want the farmer to spend a year raising crops and then sent down the drain because of a jurisdictional fight on the West Coast."

Butz said last year's dock strikes cost the American farmers $1 billion.

Scott County Crop Meetings

PORTAGEVILLE — According to John Garrett, Area Agronomy Specialist, three Crop Production Meetings will be held in Scott County. The locations for the meetings will be Chaffee, Sikeston and Illmo. Similar topics will be discussed at each location.

The meeting at Chaffee will be held February 10 at the VFW Hall from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. 1972 crop production practices for corn, milo and soybeans will be discussed.

The meeting at Sikeston will be held February 15 at the Holiday Inn from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. You will notice this will be an all day meeting. 1972 crop production practices for corn, milo, soybeans and cotton will be discussed at this location. The noon meal will be sponsored by the Scott County Milling Company, Sikeston Oil Mill and Sikeston Federal Compress.

The meeting at Illmo will be held February 17 at the Illmo- Scott City High School from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. 1972 crop production practices for corn, milo and soybeans will be discussed. Crop varieties, herbicides, diseases, soil testing and storage will be brought into each discussion.

Speakers on each program will be Charles Baldwin, Pathologist; Joe Scott, Agronomist; John Yount, Farm Management; and John Garrett, Agronomist. Pick out the above meeting that will be of most interest to you and plan to attend. The practices recommended at these meetings may increase your 1972 crop yields. Mark the date on your calendar now.

BOOMING ON SKIS

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — The 19th century's silver boom prompted 10,000 people to make their homes here, but they fled when the silver ran out.

Now another boom is underway, one that could bring more riches to the mountain community than mining ever did. Four ski areas are located on the surrounding mountains, and the influx of skiers each winter has prompted construction of multi-million dollar condominium complexes and attracted a permanent population of several thousand.

Soils And Crops Program Noted

BLOOMFIELD — Plans for the 1972 Stoddard County Soils and Crops Conference are nearing completion, according to Tom Brown, Area Agronomy Specialist. This event will be held on Friday, February 11, in the Farm Bureau Building Basement in Bloomfield.

Soybean production will be the principal feature of the program which will include talks by local farmers and area and state Extension personnel. The preliminary program for this event is as follows:

9:30 a.m. Registration

9:40 a.m. Call to Order and Opening Remarks — Hubert Swinger, Chairman

9:45 a.m. Discussions of Soil Improvement and Crops Production Practices:

1. "Costs of and Profits From Producing Soybeans at different Yield Levels", John Yount, Area Farm Management Specialist.

2. A Panel Discussion on "Fertilizing Soybeans":

"Farm Results" — Hubert Swinger

"Farm Results" — Glenn Heflin

"Farm Results" — Joe Fields

"Farm Results" — Ken Sides

"General Recommendations" — Tom Brown, Area Agronomy Specialist and Discussion Leader

3. Panel Discussion on "Controlling Soybean Cyst Nematode"

"Effect of Fumigant on Early Soybeans" — Jerry Snider

"Effect of Fumigant on Late Soybeans" — Bill Swinger

"Effect of Crop Rotation" — James Ross

"Residual Effect of Resistant Varieties" — Glenn Heflin

"Results of Research" — Dr. Charles Baldwin, Plant Pathologist, University of Missouri Delta Center, Portageville

4. "How the New Soybean Cyst Nematode -- Resistant Mack Variety Performed on My Farm" — N. L. Hueckel

5. Presentation of Awards to Soybean Yield Contest Winners — Everett Craig, Soybean Committee Chairman

12:00 Noon- Lunch

1:00 p.m. Election of Soils and Crops Officers and Committeemen

1:10 p.m. Discussion of Soils and Crops Practices Continued:

7. "Disease Control in Soybeans" — Dr. Charles Baldwin.

8. "Recommendations for Other Aspects of Soybean Production" (Varieties, Weed Control, Irrigation, Growth Regulators, etc. — Joe Scott, State Extension Agronomy Specialist — University of Missouri Delta Center, Portageville

9. "Computer Soil Test Recommendations" — John Garrett, Area Agronomy Specialist, University of Missouri Delta Center Portageville.

All farmers and other interested persons are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Lindell Hadley

Hadley-McClellan

The Shady Acres Church of Christ was the setting for the candlelight wedding of Diane Marie McClellan and Doyle Lindell Hadley Jan. 22 at three o'clock in the afternoon. Don C. Glover officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. McClellan, 816 Pine, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis.

The bride chose "The Lord's Prayer", "Just a Closer Walk With Thee" and "Because" to be sung before the wedding ceremony began.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. For her wedding she chose a formal gown of chiffon velvet and cotton crochet lace. The scooped neckline and the empire waistline along with the victorian sleeves were the accent points of the gown.

Her chapel length veil of bridal illusin was held securely with a flowered Juliet cap. She carried a cascade of red and white sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor was Joyce Carroll of Dayton, Ohio. The bridesmaids were Janie Price and Ronnie Delle Wolf, cousin of the bride.

Tammy Davis, sister of the groom, was the flower girl.

The best man was Mike Hadley, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Jim Christie of Sikeston and Kenny Stricker of Elgin, Ill. John Paul McClellan, brother of the bride was ringbearer. Jimmy McClellan, another brother of the bride was the candlelighter. Ushers were Johnny Ensor and Mark McClellan.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The guest book attendant was Janet Mock. Serving at the reception table were Mrs. Kenny Stricker and Mrs. Jim Christie.

After the reception the bride and groom left for their home in Elgin, Ill.

Bloomfield Homemaker Chosen

BLOOMFIELD--Carol L. Shipman has been named Bloomfield High School's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972. Selected on the basis of her score in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to senior girls last December 7, she will receive a specially designed award charm from General Mills, sponsor of the annual educational program. Additionally, she is now eligible for state and national honors.

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow, to be chosen from all school winners in the state in judging centering on their performance in the December 7 test, will be awarded a $1,500 college scholarship. A complete set of Encyclopaedia Britannica will also be awarded to her school by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc. The second-ranking girl in the state will receive a $500 educational grant.

In April, the 51 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow representing every state and the District of Columbia--each accompanied by a faculty adviser--will join for an expense-paid educational tour of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D.C. Climax of the tour will be announcement of the 1972 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and three runners-up. To be chosen through personal observation and interviews, together with the earlier state-level judging results, they will be awarded scholarship increases to $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

In addition to the grants awarded state and national winners, a $1,000 National Nutrition Scholarship has been added to the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow this year. To earn this award, a young woman must be planning a college major in nutrition or a related field, rank among the highest in her state in the overall Search test and achieve the top score, from those meeting the first two criteria, on the examination's nutrition questions.

All judging and selection of winners in the Betty Crocker Search is conducted by Science Research Associates, Chicago, which also constructed and grades the written examination.

22 Couples Attend Enrichment Program

Twenty-two couples attended the marriage enrichment program sponsored by the Knights of Columbus last Sunday night. The program, which is non-denominational, was conducted by Brother Hillary Schmitsze of Cape Girardeau.

The program was designed to put more meaning and understanding into the marriage. All aspects of the marriage from the man-woman relationship to the child-parent relationship was discussed. A group discussion was also held.

Sundays session was the first of four, with the next one being held Sunday night at 7 p.m. in the basement of St. Francis Xavier school. The other sessions will be held Feb. 20 and March 5. The public is invited.

OUTSTANDING WEBELOES SCOUT AWARD was presented to Gary Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Davis, by Scoutmaster Mike Euer at Thursday night's annual appreciation dinner in East Prairie. Outstanding Boy Scout award was given to Jeff Emory, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Emory, who was not available for picture.

Ann Landers

Mother Playing Hanky Panky

Dear Ann Landers: I can't give you much information because I don't want anyone to guess who wrote this letter.

My father is a trucker. He's away sometimes as long as five nights in a row. My mother is seeing another man, I am sure. He comes through the back door and has a key. Mom's bedroom is in the back of the house and this man goes right in and leaves the same way--sometimes at dawn.

I have seen him a few times but he doesn't know it. I've also heard his voice and it sounds familiar, like a friend of my father's. I think this is pretty raunchy but I don't know if I should say anything to my dad. He has a hot temper and he just might kill somebody. I need some advice.---Know Too Much

Dear K.T.M.: If you are absolutely certain and not guessing or imagining things, I suggest that you say something to your mother. But do NOT repeat NOT say anything to your father. A child should not inform on either parent. The feeling of guilt for whatever happens afterwards could be too much of a burden for young shoulders to carry.

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column about a son who bought his parents' cast-offs (second-hand car, broken appliances, etc.), you said that after 25 years he wasn't going to change, that he was emotionally immature and still needed parental approval to feel like a good boy. Your advice was, "Let him continue to do it. He needs it for emotional security."

I am considering marriage to a 44-year-old bachelor who is still tied to his older sister's apron strings. If I try to cut him loose will I be threatening his emotional security?

When my opinion differs with his sister's he becomes withdrawn and he invariably ends up siding with her. Even though his sister is married and has a family of her own he seems to lean on her as if she were his mother.

I am a widow and would be moving to his community if I married him. What do you think?---Nebraska Fan

Dear Neb.: I think his sister is a mother-substitute and will remain the dominant woman in his life as long as she lives. You will never change the pecking order, dear, so the questions you must answer are these: Can you live with it? Do the advantages outweight the disadvantages? Only you can provide the answers.

Dear Ann Landers: Hooray for the advice you gave the daughter who screamed at her mother! (Her mother also screamed at her.) I hope she listens.

My mother and I were both screamers and it was terrible. Things finally got to the point where we couldn't carry on a civilized conversation. Every discussion ended in a shrieking match. Over my husband's objections I decided to get counseling. The results were spectacular. Mom and I will never be bosom buddies but we can at least conduct ourselves like adults. I actually enjoy being in her company for the first time in my life.

It's impossible to feel like a good person when you think your own mother dislikes you. And it's worse when you think it's all your fault. I learned a great deal about myself, and about her, too, from verbalizing the things that were bothering me. I used to believe your advice to "get counseling" was a copout. Now I know better.---Happy At Last

Dear Happy: Thanks for letting me know you are happy at last and that counseling did it. Are you listening, students?

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's And Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 35 cents in coin along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and your request to this newspaper.

REVEREND X.Y.Z'S WEEKLY SUGAR-COATED BIBLE WISDOM PILL NO. 11

Reverend Xavier Y. Zanzibar (pseudonym), P.O. Box 252, Dexter, Mo., 63841, advises it is factual the spring made by Moses smiting the rock (Exodus 17) still produces good water, also, that quail continue to fly over the Wilderness of Paran (Numbers 11), very slow, and close to the ground (tired after long sea flight), so can easily be killed with a club. Further, it is inscribed on the face of an ancient rock in the upper Nile River how for seven consecutive years the river failed to overflow its banks, thus causing famine (Genesis 41). And also, a cliff overlooking the Red Sea, presumably near the actual scene, contains a graphic written account, apparently by an eyewitness, of the destruction of the Egyptian army. (Exodus 14). Take five!!!

55,000 Children's Car Seats Not Up To Par

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has found that more than 55,000 car seats for children fail to meet new safety standards.

Involved are children's car seats made by four manufacturers between last April and November. The new safety rules went into effect April 1.

The manufacturers have agreed to take corrective action, NHTSA said.

Cosco Household Products, Inc., of Columbus, Ind., and Frank F. ,Taylor, Inc. of Frankfort, Ky., are asking owners of the faulty seats to return them for replacement without cost. There are 9,600 Cosco and 2,900 Taylor seats involved in the recall, NHTSA said.

Pride Trimble, Inc. of Burbank, Calif., maker of 34,000 of the seats, and Buckeye Plastics Co. of Reynoldsburg, Ohio, producer of 8,700, have revised installation instructions to indicate that the vehicle's seat belt should be placed around the child in the small seat for added security.

Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe said that in tests the hip of a dummy child moved forward more than 12 inches in reaction to a 1,000pound force, thus exceeding the federal safety limits. In addition, the Taylor seat failed to meet webbing strength requirements.

Mules End Jinx

A big performance by John Griffin sparked Poplar Bluff to a 61-51 victory over Sikeston in a SEMO conference basketball game at senior high fieldhouse Friday. It was the first time the Mules had won on the tartan surface since its opening in 1969.

Griffin scored 23 points, 19 in the second half, and led coach Tom Hoover's team in rebounding. The 6-foot-2 center- forward had a free hand in the second half as Sikeston played without center Pope Hunt, their number one rebounder and number two scorer. Undra West paced the Bulldogs scoring and claimed high game honors with 24 points, his high mark of the season.

Poplar Bluff took an eight point lead in the first period but Sikeston, with a spark from guard Bob Blankenship and eight points by West in the second period, battled back to tie the scored 29-29 at half.

Late in the third period, West hit four straight shots from the 15-20 foot range and seemed to give the Bulldogs some momentum as the score stood 44-44 at the end of the third frame.

In the fourth period Bluff doubled the defense on West, holding him to just one field goal and took a five point lead with three minutes to play. The Mules then put the game in a freeze which forced the Bulldogs to foul and then ran up their 10 point advantage.

Ken Chronister led Bluff in the first half with 13 points but the Mules outside shooting was cold and in the second half they worked their offense to Griffin underneath the basket. Griffin, Chronister and Curtis Hinton dominated the rebounding with Sikeston seldom getting more than one shot. Many of Poplar Bluff's field goals came on the second shot and even the third as the Mules completely dominated the rebounding.

In the middle of the fourth period Sikeston had a one point lead but a charging foul, a pass that went out of bounds and a walking violation turned the game around. Free throws were a big difference too as the Dogs canned only one of nine for the game while Bluff connected on 17 of 31. From the field, Sikeston outshot the visitors 25-22.

The loss was the ninth straight for the Bulldogs, who beat Fredericktown for its last win in early January.

Poplar Bluff's basketballers started the night's action with a 50-42 win.

Bengals Breeze

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A cold shooting third quarter led to Cape Girardeau Central's easy 82-60 triumph over the Dexter Bearcats Friday night in SEMO conference action.

Dexter, who upset the district's top rated Richland Rebels Tuesday night stayed close to the tall Bengals through the first half but hit a cold shooting spell and failed to rebound with the giants and fell back 25-12 in the third quarter.

Central opened up a 15-14 edge in the first period and added four points to the margin in the second quarter to take a 40-35 lead at intermission

The victory boosted Central's win to 17-3 and 4-0 in the league. Mike Steigemeyer had 21 points to pace a five player double figure Bengal offensive attack. Dan Summers had 19 for the Bearcats.

Morrow Paces Hawks

BENTON--The Kelly Hawks used a 33 point performance by sharp shooting guard Mike Morrow to down the Chaffee Red Devils here Friday night, 76-62.

Kelly wasted little time in taking the lead over Chaffee as Morrow began to hit his favorite jump shot and the Hawks were ahead 22-12 after the first period had come to a close.

Chaffee battled back in the second period to erase four points off their 10 point deficit and trail 42-36 at the half.

Kelly came out in the third period to add to their lead scoring 17 points to 11 for Chaffee. The Hawks ran away in the last period 23-14.

Kelly ran away with the B game 81-27 with Kenny Urhahn hitting 27 points and Seibert had 13 for Chaffee.

Second Quarter Fatal

The second quater was the big one for Oran and the downfall for the Pirates as the Eagles took a 28-18 advantage, mostly in the final minute of the half.

The Eagles outscored Parma 18-17 in the initial period. The third quarter saw the Eagles continue to build up their lead scoring 22 points to 19 for Parma.

Parma made an effort to come back in the last quarter but the buzzer sounded before they could make a big enough threat after closing within seven. Oran held a 20 point lead once.

Joe Barnes had 22 points for the Pirates. Oran won the B game 70-56 with Curtis Caldwell getting 29 points. Gaines had 28 for the Pirates.

"My husband's name is Jim. He is a Lieutenant in the Navy.
He's been missing for 4½ years.
They're bargaining to get the prisoners released.
But what I want to know...
is he still alive? Is he well?
I can't find out.
Hanoi won't tell our government.
Hanoi won't tell me."

There need be no "bargaining table" when the plea is for humane treatment of prisoners of war.

THE prisoner-of-war issue is complex and confusing. It is loaded with political overtones and emotional tension.

But one side of the prisoner-of-war issue is simple. That's the part which deals with the condition of prisoners.

Who are they? Where are they? How are they?

Those are the questions the families of American prisoners want answered. Those are the questions the conscience of the world wants answered...now.

Of course, they want the war to end and the prisoners of war to be released as soon as possible.

But meanwhile there is no need for Hanoi and its allies to delay even a day in answering this plea:

Admit official neutral observers into the prison camps in North Vietnam, South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos, where Americans are being held in secret captivity.

Assure the world, through these neutral observers, that American prisoners are being decently and humanely treated, according to the standards of civilized nations.

Hanoi can do this without bargaining, even without consultation.

By opening the prisons now to official neutral observers, Hanoi would earn the gratitude of millions of Americans and find new stature in the eyes of the world.

We ask and pray they will.

SUPPORT OUR PLEA TO HANOI AND ITS ALLIES:

Clear away the doubts—
Open your prison camps to neutral observers...
now!

We ask no more than we give. All American and South Vietnamese prison camps are inspected regularly by official neutral observers—The International Committee of the Red Cross.

Objections To Program

Most of the objections to the Department of Conservation's proposed "Design for Conservation" have been on the method of financing it -- a proposed tax on soft drinks -- rather than on the program itself, but there have been some objections to the program as well.

Some critics have charged the proposal is "another scenic rivers bill." The "Design for Conservation" proposes acquisition of access sites on floatable streams, and strips of land on a number of non- floatable streams. Streamside zoning is not considered, nor is placing entire rivers or streams in public domain.

"It is recognized," the proposal says, "that stream preservation is a controversial, emotion - charged subject. At the same time, no logical expansion of conservation efforts can ignore these needs. The rate, time and place of acquisition of access and frontage proposed here would entirely be subject to control of the landowners of Missouri, whose cooperation is essential to the success of the entire program."

Proposed is acquisition of 480 tracts, five to ten acres in size, for use as access sites to floatable streams. Proposed acquisition of strips of land bordering a number of streams would provide for nature hiking, wading, bank fishing, natural stream preservation and protection of rare or endangered fish and wildlife. Frontage would be acquired either by purchase or easement from willing landowners.

Critics have also suggested the Department will use eminent domain to wrest land from unwilling landowners. The Department of Conservation can use eminent domain now, but has done so only five times in over 30 years. Again, the "Design for Conservation" stresses cooperation with willing landowners.

Another charge is that the Department of Conservation is "building an empire."

"Our lands are held in trust for the people of Missouri, says Harry Mills, chairman of the Conservation Commission. "They're heavily used by the people of Missouri. All our resources are dedicated to enhancing our lands and private lands for wildlife benefits. If this is building an empire, it sounds like a pretty good empire to be a part of."

Some critics have said that some counties will suffer from the loss of taxable lands. "Along with an increased land acquisition program by the Department," the proposal says, "a plan should be developed to offer counties payment to help compensate for a loss in tax base if these public land holdings become a significant burden to the counties."

The increase in outdoor recreation on public lands has brought additional money into the local economy of the locale in similar situations here and in other states. Public lands such as state forests play an important part in the economy of Missouri. Over the past ten years, timber harvest on state forests alone has resulted in additional business and jobs for 300 timber buyers and more than 1,000 sawmill and wood workers.

"We're aware of the finite quality of natural Missouri, and the necessity of preserving a quality environment for the future," Mills says.

Cards Scare AHS

LUTESVILLE -- The Woodland Cardinals came very close to pulling one of the biggest upsets in the area here Friday as they bowed to the Advance Hornets, 56-49.

Woodland used a tenacious zone defense to shut off the fast breaking tactics of the Hornets and stopped their high scoring offense machine.

Woodland took a one point lead, 14-13, going into the second period. Advance played a little more defense and in the second quarter and held the Cardinals to only eight points while they were netting 14. John Rhodes, who led the Hornets in scoring, came off the bench in the second period and hit four straight jump shots and added three more in the third period before missing for 14 quick points to pull Advance out of the fire.

Woodland never gave up as the Cardinals took the third quarter 17-15. Advance put the game away in the last period with 14 points to 10 for Woodland.

Woodland was led in scoring by Gary Allmond with 18 points.

Tigers Upset

STEELE--The North Pemiscot Mustangs pulled one of the biggest upsets in southeast Missouri Friday night when they turned back the favored Caruthersville Tigers 60-49 in the varsity contest and Caruthersville's B team edged Hayti 44-41 in semifinal round action of the Bootheel Conference Tournament.

Joe Cagle and Johnny Holmes fouled out early in the game and the Tigers were not able to do anything right as the Mustang degense was more than they could handle.

Cagle scored only 14 points but that was high for the Tigers. Ron Young led the Mustangs with 16 points.

Caruthersville started slow but still managed to hold a 10-8 first quarter lead.

North Pemiscot came back and tied the score 23-23 at the half. The Mustangs came out after the intermission and ran up a 19-13 quarter advantage and used a fine defense the rest of the way to hold onto the lead. The Mustangs scored 18 in the last quarter to 13 for Caruthersville.

North Pemiscot hit 22 field goals to 21 for the Tigers but the free throws made the difference as the Mustangs hit 16 to only seven for the Tigers.

In the B game each team had a low first quarter with Hayti taking a 9-7 advantage. Caruthersville took the second period 13-10 to lead 20-19 at the intermission.

Hayti battled back to tie the score 27-27 going into the last quarter but Caruthersville had the hot hand to win the game.

Students Enroll For Next Year

Pre-enrollment for the 1972-73 school year took place this week in a process beginning Monday night.

Freshmen and their parents were invited and urged to meet with counselors Monday evening for the purpose of making out plans for the remaining three years of their high school careers.

Counselors took small groups of parents and teachers at intervals and discussed offerings and pre-requisite courses. Four year plan cards were distributed and parents aided their sons and daughters in making out these cards.

Four- year plans made during the freshman year provide a basis for class enrollment, however, this does not limit the courses to be taken. Courses will not be limited to those listed on the card. These plans are flexible and may be changed, as the student's interests change.

Tuesday juniors met in the library during their American history classes in an effort to schedule next year's seniors. History teachers supervising were Miss Lucile Mount, Mrs. Lena Brogan, Mrs. Kathleen Mitchell, Carl Wright, and Gene Dawson.

Today those freshmen who did not attend the enrollment session Monday night were enrolled by one of the four high school counselors.

Counselor Chester Masterson commented, "We hope by today to have all students for the 1972-73 school year enrolled except incoming freshmen. We will not be able to make our schedules until all the enrollment has been taken care of."

Huff Announces Book Exhibit For Next Week

Librarian Frederick W. Huff announces that a one- day book exhibit will be held in the library next Monday

Robert D. Olson will be in charge of the exhibit and will arrange the books for the display. He will be here for the day to explain the exhibit to the students and faculty.

Students will be requested to furnish their own ballots when voting for the books of their choice.

Mr. Huff commented that Mr. Olson will be a guest in the Sikeston high school, and he should be treated as a guest by the students and faculty.

Mr. Huff further said, "How he is treated will determine if he will return to the high school."

High school teachers and students as well as the middle school faculty will have an opportunity to examine the books during the day Monday. Approximately 1,000 books from grades six to 12 will be on exhibit.

Mr. Olson will visit the various elementary schools in Sikeston during the other days next week.

Mr. Olson will have an exhibit in Southwest school Tuesday; Southeast school, Wednesday; Airport school, Thursday, and also students from Morehouse and Matthews will attend this display; Lee Hunter school, Friday.

Approximately 800 books will be on exhibit for the elementary schools.

Mr. Huff's last comment was that if a great book loss occurs, the school will have to pay the loss, and Mr. Olson may not return a second time. Students should keep this in mind when examining the books.

Debaters Win Six, Lose Six At Senath Meet

Students making the trip were Elisabeth DuPont, Tom Walls, David Ziegenhorn, Thom Lemmons, Don Rogers, Andrea Harber, Richard Dale, and Mike Marsh. James Abbott was not able to debate, but he made the trip and observed.

Judges use a new criteria to grade the debates. This includes analysis of case, attack and defense, evidence, delivery, and cross- examination, making a total of 30 points for a perfect debate.

The debate format is eight-minute constructive speeches, three- minute cross-examination, and four- minute rebuttals.

East Prairie will be the host of the next debate Saturday, Feb. 19.

During the late 1940s, when aircraft increased in weight, disk brakes replaced drum brakes. The World Almanac recalls that disk brakes were first used on racing cars at Le Mans, France, in the early 1950s.

BARKER STAFF would like to take this opportunity to say to Larry Johnson that we are happy to have him back in school and we are glad that he has had a wonderful recovery.

GIRLS WANTING TO try out for "B" team cheerleader should sign up in Mrs. Snider's office before February 15. Clinic will start on February 22.

Thanksgiving Day was proclaimed a national holiday, to be observed on the fourth Thursday in November by President Abraham Lincoln on Oct. 3, 1863. The World Almanac recalls. In July, 1863, Lincoln designated Thursday, Aug. 6, 1863, "to subdue the anger which has produced and so long sustained a needless and cruel rebellion."

Future Shock

by Alvin Toffler

By Hunter Moore

We are all children of the future, a world which no one of us can now be sure. Our world is changing at such an extreme rate that total comprehension is impossible.

"Western society for the past 300 years has been caught up in a firestorm of change. This storm, far from abating, now appears to be gathering force. Change sweeps through the highly industrialized countries with waves of ever accelerating speed and unprecedented impact. It spawns in its wake all sorts of curious social flora -- from psychedelic churches and "free universities" to science cities in the Arctic and wife- swap clubs in California."

FUTURE SHOCK is a new type of book, realistically foretelling the future of the United States as it is submerged in a tidal wave of technological advancement. It is not only frightening as other books concerning the future have been, but is stimulating in that it gives the reader instructions on coping with future shock.

Dealing with everyday matters, such as the products we buy and our leaisure time, Mr. Toffler probes the things to come, discussing the changes in family life, sex, politics, and friendship. He looks at change impartially and his innovative predictions are far from being impossible.

In fact, Mr. Toffler drives home the point that future shock is not a distant danger, but rather a real sickness that many of today's people suffer from. He explores adaptability to change and analyzes groups and individuals that blindly resist change, our modern day reactionaries.

Very few books read in high school today are particularly relevant to our future here on earth, Mr. Toffler has presented a very timely manual on how we will live and conditions under which life will be carried on.

Council Sends Four Delegates To Convention

Student body president Hunter Moore, council members Cathy Patterson, Charles Waters, and Bruce Lawrence were elected Monday afternoon by the council to be delegates to the Missouri Association of Student Council's convention in Jefferson City next month.

Meeting is scheduled for mid- March and will last approximately three days during which the delegates will participate in various discussion groups and forums on issues related to student government.

Last year's convention was held in Mehlville, and it was also attended by SHS council members. At that time Jefferson City ran in an election for the host school in 1972 and won despite tough competition from other state schools.

Accompanying the students will be vice- principal W. L. Clayton who will also assist in the drive to Jeff City.

Another student council sponsored activity coming up shortly is the talent assembly scheduled for next Wednesday in the field house. In all likelihood, the assembly will take place during one of the morning hours.

Approximately seven acts have signed covering a broad range of entertainment. Talent assemblies over the last two years have been outstanding in the amount of student participation that takes place and this one promises more than ever.

Mr. Steinmetz Is Guest Speaker in Sociology

Ron Steinmetz, a social worker from the Diagnostic Clinic, was a guest speaker in Mrs. Catherine Matthews' sociology class on Tuesday.

Mr. Steinmetz came to the class to talk about the field of social workers and their training. The students, who visited the Clinic last week, had so many questions that he spent most of his time answering them.

Many of the students were interested in volunteer work and he explained what would be expected of them.

Mr. Steinmetz said that the mentally retarded are a group of people who get little attention from others. That is why they enjoyed the visits made to the clinic and are pleased just to be able to speak to visitors or touch them.

The group also had many questions about the Shelter

Art Students View Artistry At Semo State

Art students accompanied by instructors Mrs. Craig Hahs and Miss Susan Ward and by vice- principal W. L. Clayton made a field trip to Cape Girardeau last Friday afternoon.

Upon arrival in Cape Girardeau, the students headed for the campus of Southeast Missouri State College where they were to view the mural being painted on one of the entrance walls of Kent Library and an art display in the department.

Mrs. Hahs' students viewed the exhibit for 30 minutes while Miss Ward's students were observing the mural in the library, and then the students changed places.

Students were quite impressed with the vast amount of glazes and working materials available to SEMO students. They have many more types of materials available to choose from than SHS students.

Students making the field trip were Paul Adams, Donna Adamson, George Baker, Demetra Beck, Charles Berry, Larry Blue, Evelyn Bohnert, Janet Caldwell, Deborah Carmack, Debbie Clark, Deborah Cloud.

Patsy Finney, Willie Fuller, Mike Maloney, Jim Marshall, anie Matthews, Mark McClellan, Jana Moyers, Lee Ann Napier, Claude Old, Janice Orr, David Owens Nova Patterson, Teresa Pearson

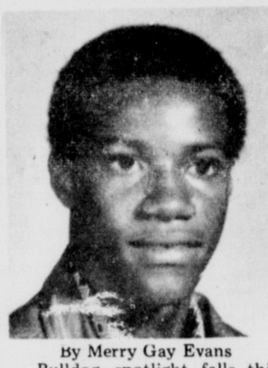
Mrs. Lancaster commented, "I think that the students enjoyed it because it gave a new and different interpretation of what "Macbeth" is about and also it was a good experience for them to see famous plays as they really are."

Know Your Bulldogs!



By Merry Gay Evans

Ron, a sophomore, is enrolled this year in typing, biology I, physical education, world history, algebra I, and English II.

During his spare time, Ron plays basketball with his friends.

Ron is also an active member of the NAACP Youth Club in addition to playing basketball.

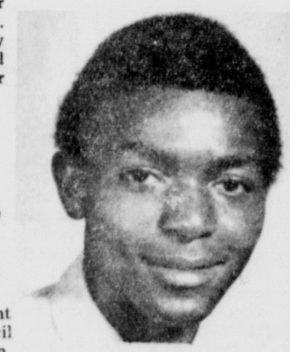
Ron resides at 356 Magnolia with his family.



By Merry Gay Evans

Bulldog spotlight falls this week on Freddy Mangum, Bulldog wrestler.

Freddy, a sophomore this year, is enrolled in typing, physical education, algebra I, English II, world history, and biology I.

Wrestling and other sports occupies much of Freddy's spare time when he is not busily engaged in his school work.

Freddy's plans after graduation are indefinite.

Freddy resides at 318 Dixie street with his family.

Ron Williams Establishes Stage Band

Stage band was established three weeks ago in Sikeston high school, and Ron Williams is the director. Stage band meets every Tuesday night at 7 o'clock and has 20 members.

Stage band members are made up of people who have a desire to be in the band, and play a particular instrument. The instruments used in stage band are trumpets, trombones, saxophones, drums, guitars, a string bass and a piano.

Anthology Cover Designs Are Due On Feb. 18

Anyone who would like to submit a cover design for this year's student anthology should submit the design to either Mrs. Les Mitkos or Mrs. Larry Lancaster by Friday.

Each year Sikeston high school students submit stories as well as cover designs for the anthology. Stories were due last Friday.

Four representatives, one from each class, will be selected soon to assemble the entered material into the book and select the design which will be placed on the cover.

Concerned Citizens Should Have Opinions

IN A CONTEMPORARY HISTORY class recently, a poll was taken concerning capital punishment. If the student was for capital punishment, he marked the box labeled "yes", and if he was against it, he marked the box labeled "no."

One other box was listed. It was labeled "no opinion." The subject of this editorial is not capital punishment, but rather those two seemingly unimportant words, "no opinion."

One student was made fun of because he expressed his view as "no opinion." Of course, he should not have been ridiculed for this, but it did make the incident stand out.

What would this world be like if nobody had an opinion on anything? That is stretching the idea a little too far, but it does make one think. Any truly concerned citizen of a country, state, city, or even school, should have an opinion about matters concerning that country, state, city, or school.

A disease is spreading throughout the entire country. If it is not treated properly now, it could grow to epidemic proportions. That disease is commonly known as apathy.

Apathy is almost too harsh a word to use to describe this feeling among the people. Instead of people not caring, the true problem is usually that they are too wrapped up in their own affairs to take a look at the problems around them.

Right now many young people and adults are fighting this disease. It may take time, but the more people that help, the faster it can be conquered.

The best cure, though, is for the victims themselves to recognize and conquer the disease. In that way, it is less likely that he will contract it again.

English IV Students Go To View Play 'Macbeth'

Four English IV classes, three instructed by Mrs. Larry Lancaster and the other by Mrs. Helen Reuber, made a field trip to the Malone Theater Wednesday morning.

"Macbeth" takes place in the 11th century in Scotland. The play begins with three witches that tell Macbeth that he will become Thane of Glamis, Thane of Cawdor, and shall be king.

This is all true and Macbeth really wants to be all these, but he has to kill some people to get what he wants which he doesn't want to do.

With the help of his wife, Lady Macbeth, the witches, and his one flaw, ambition, he becomes King of Scotland only to meet death in the end himself.

Karla Dixon, Reggie Dodd Luan Dunn, John Ensor, Stev Ferrell, Wanda Gardner, Ruth Gater, Mike Glidewell, Shelly Gray, Vangie Hagen, Maida Harrington.

PRIZES FOR MEDALS

FRANKLIN CENTER, Pa. (AP) — A nationwide bicentennial medal design competition for professional and amateur artists is being held through March 31 with the Franklin Mint offering a half million dollars in prizes.

Artists are being invited to design medals portraying their state's contributions to the heritage of America. There will be 200 winners, four from each state.

Improvement Needed In Student Parking Lot

The complaint lodged is about the terrible condition the parking lot is in.

Suggestions for improvement were also mentioned.

Only the outside part is paved and the rest is dirt, or mud, with holes throughout the area. Where the pavement meets dirt, there are deep holes that cannot be avoided.

During winter, the parking lot is frozen in the morning, but often, in the afternoon, there is nothing frozen about it; in fact, it is mud. Frequently one must have help in getting his car from the lot because it is stuck.

In the springtime, the wind blows sand from the parking area up the walk. This affects all students, not just those who bring cars.

The juniors and seniors who were here in '70 may remember that it was planned that an addition to the parking lot would be added each year until the lot was completely paved. So far, nothing has been done.

We believe the student body is aware the student parking lot cannot be paved because of the high price that will be charged for resurfacing.

Since the money isn't available to pave the lot, at least chat could be obtained to fill in the deep holes found throughout the area.

If the condition could be improved, then the groundwork might be laid for next year's student council to pave the student parking lot, wholly or partly.

TV Production Studio Is Important Department Of SHS

by Linda Spitzmiller

Jim Woods of the TV production studio is teaching five young men about studio techniques. It is a highly informal course.

Student becomes familiar with procedures, and the experience he gains is beneficial if he should decide to go into the field of television.

This is the first operation of this type in this area, and Mr. Woods has managed it from the beginning. He designed the studio and chose the equipment for it.

Five students were able to work with Mr. Woods this year. They are all from electronics and are either juniors or seniors.

Students are taught about lighting, background, audio-signal, camera techniques, photography, and composition.

Students learn to use the various pieces of equipment necessary for recording. They become familiar with problems of studio production in directing, writing, filming, narrating, editing, and sound dubbing.

Student starts with a simple battery - operated camera and works up. He works on composition, focusing, zooming, panning, lighting, and background.

One requirement for these students is to make a commercial completely on their own. The student must write it, film it, and narrate it.

To film something, there is a need for about five men. Two cameramen are needed, one man on the recorder, one on the audio- signal, and one on the video- signal. The TV studio uses only two men for all of this.

Students have filmed basketball games, the band's performances, and classroom activities. They also show these films to the classes.

Educational TV is becoming an important teaching aid. It has been used and accepted by many educational institutions.

Contrary to belief, it is no designed to replace the teacher. Its primary use is to strengthen the material presented by the teacher. In surveys and studies made in controlled situations where educational TV is used, the results are favorable enough to justify use in the classroom.

When Lynn Twitty was superintendent, it was decided that SHS would make educational TV a part of the students' educational program. A great amount of progress has been made in this program. However, the ability to transmit to all the classrooms has not yet been completed. When it is, the studio will be able to tape and transmit live programs to all classes.

"Persons from out of state visiting SHS have commented that it is one of the most unusual and enviable installations that they have seen on any high school campus. Our facilities compare very favorably with most college installations," stated Jim Woods.

TWO HEARTS WITH NEW LIVES

THEY HAVE NEW LEASES ON LIFE thanks to medical science. Louis B. Russell, Jr., the world's longest-living heart transplant recipient, is pictured with four-year-old Betty Wills of Noblesville, Ind., who has undergone heart surgery five times, and now wears her third pacemaker, a battery-charged power source attached to her heart to keep it beating regularly. Russell, an Indianapolis school teacher and leading Heart Fund volunteer, received his new heart three and one-half years ago.

The Newspaper Story

THE FIGHT FOR PRESS FREEDOM

Americans today take freedom of the press for granted and seldom stop to examine its meaning or appraise its value. Knowing the origin and development of press freedom may help understand why American civilization must have a free press or die.

Few persons in ancient times could read or write. They were dominated by leaders who, backed by prophets and priests, proclaimed their god-given right to rule and perpetuate their rule. Freedom of expression in politics and religion was suppressed. Until printing presses started spreading ideas, there was no means of mass communication. The world hasn't been the same since.

It was not until 250 years after Gutenberg developed the printing press that licensing of printers and newspapers was abandoned in England. Efforts to muffle and muzzle the press continued for still another 100 years, but with decreasing success as people realized how closely their freedom was linked with a free press.

Church and state leaders in the American colonies disapproved of freedom of thought and expression, believing control of the press essential to preserve public morality and maintain constituted authority. So, when newspapers first appeared, they were promptly suppressed or licensed and heavily censored.

Early American patriots would have been unable to marshal public opinion and spread the news of their actions without the printers and publishers who risked imprisonment and bankruptcy to criticize the colonial government and agitate for independence.

The history of the American people really cannot be separated from the History of American journalism.

Historian David Ramsey said, "In establishing American independence, the pen and the press had a merit equal to that of the sword."

The first significant victory for freedom of the press in America was won in court in 1735 by John Peter Zenger against a libel charge. It established the right of the press to publish news or criticism of government officials, if the facts published were true.

But this was by no means the end of government interference and harrassment of newspapers. They were goaded and annoyed by discriminatory taxation and other oppressive acts until the Declaration of Independence was adopted, the Revolutionary War fought, and the guarantees of free speech and a free press were written into the United States Constitution.

The nation's press serves as the eyes and ears of the public, acting as their proxies wherever the people's business is being conducted.

Attempts continue down to the present day to abridge or restrict the right of the press to report certain types of news, to comment freely on the government, or to criticize the actions of public officials.

It is the absence of licensing that makes newspapers free. It is the absence of restraints — within responsibility — that defines freedom. That is the essential character of our political process, and the vigilance of newspapers in keeping taxpaying citizens fully informed is one of the primary factors in preserving and protecting individual freedom in our nation.

American Businessmen Can Be Lead By Drumm

By ROBERT FURLOW

WASHINGTON--If anyone can guide American businessmen through the maze of government programs in Washington, Thomas E. Drumm, Jr., should be that man.

Drumm's position as "ombudsman for business" was established by Sec. Maurice Stans within the Commerce Department last April to give business a central point within the bureaucracy to bring its problems.

In his office Drumm will point to his files of more than 3,000 cases as evidence the program is filling a need.

And what a variety in those 3,000 cases.

They range from questions on pollution abatement to product safety, FDA requirements, mining and salvage rights, even the regulations for exporting tripe to Japan and the prospects for marketing cosmetics in South America.

This morning a man from the west coast needs information on government loans--he's got $6,000 and wants to start a trucking company. The ombudsman can help him.

A company doing business in millions of dollars wants to know about possible trade with Red China. Not much on that yet, but the ombudsman can steer the company to what information is available and offer advice on what to do while waiting for results of the upcoming presidential visit.

The ombudsman doesn't pretend to know everything about today's business and industry. Recently he was asked about an exotic cement additive needed for building a bridge overseas.

Drumm smiles, "I say what the heck is that--but then I can get a guy right in this building who can give the answers they need."

In government since 1946, Drumm's background helps him find the answers. He says, "In 25 years I've gotten to learn who does what; I deal with a lot of guys who've been at it a long time."

Formerly an attorney in private practice, Drumm's government positions include work with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the Hoover Commission, the President's Management Improvement Program from 1954-58 and five years as commercial counselor to the U.S. embassy in Paris.

This experience added to his authority under Commerce Sec. Stans forms the backbone of the ombudsman's usefulness.

"I can give instructions directly and get results, cut red tape and stumbling blocks," he says.

"These businessmen have come here and bounced all around Washington; we're trying to end the ceaseless referrals."

Drumm says these businessmen most often have questions about financing or government procurement.

Small businessmen want to know how to get financing to start or expand a business. Whole residential areas may ask advice in attracting or keeping industry.

Selling to the government is such big business the ombudsman keeps pamphlets giving advice on finding government needs, applyling for contracts, making bids, even in negotiating contracts.

With billion-dollar government procurement patterns sometimes changing, Drumm says, "the big game here in Washington is finding out where the procurement dollar is going to be."

The ombudsman is aided by 42 field offices of the Commerce Department and 81 Small Business Association branches around the country.

Holcomb School Board Asks Superintendent To Resign

HOLCOMB — James Dement, superintendent of the Holcomb Public Schools, said Wednesday he plans to confer with his attorney before giving the Holcomb School Board an answer in response to last night's request that he resign his position held for the past 16 years.

The school board, in its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, requested the resignation of Dement "because I couldn't control my wife's behavior," Dement said.

The request by the board came after 40 Holcomb citizens appeared at Tuesday night's session presenting petitions in regard to a recent incident at the school involving Dement's wife and the school secretary, Mrs. Chris Meriwether.

Dement said he was not able to see the exact wording of the petitions presented Tuesday night, "but in effect it requested the board to get rid of me and Mrs. Meriwether," he said. Dement said Mrs. Meriwether resigned her position last Friday.

After the petitions were presented, the board went into a closed session, Dement said. "They invited me in and asked me to resign. I refused to do it and told them I would think it over and talk to my lawyer first," he said Wednesday.

Dement said the reasons given by the board involved his wife, who is presently hospitalized at the Dunklin Memorial Hospital here with injuries sustained in an incident at the school last Friday.

Dement said the board also requested back his contract, which reportedly doesn't expire until June, 1973. "I didn't give back the contract," he added.

Tuesday night's meeting drew a large crowd, on hand to discuss last Friday's incident.

"The board said I couldn't control my wife's actions and conduct and said it was detrimental to the school," Dement said. He added that other incidents between Mrs. Dement and Mrs. Meriwether had occurred during the past three years, "when all the trouble started." Dement said ill feelings between the two apparently developed while he and his wife were separated for about nine months.

After Tuesday night's meeting, Dement said he and his three children returned to their rural home when they spotted two vehicles, "driving real slow near our house." Dement said he became suspicious but the cars drove away. When he and his children entered the house he said he detected the strong fumes of gasoline. Upon examining the house, Dement said someone had apparently just thrown gasoline on the back outside wall of the house "and it was still wet and dripping."

Dement said he notified Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott and Holcomb Police Chief Gene Bomar of the incident, but no investigation was conducted. Scott said today Dement related he didn't know who had done it and said there was no need of anyone coming out.

The school official said his 18-year-old daughter, who has had a perfect attendance at the school for the past two years, was not in school Wednesday "because of the harassment." He noted his children, particularly the daughter, had received numerous harassing phone calls since last Friday. "Apparently it was so obvious that yesterday a teacher noticed it and asked my daughter to come stay with her for a few days," Dement said about the treatment the child had received during school hours. "People can get cruel and nasty sometimes," he said.

Prior to his 16 years as the school superintendent, Dement served as the high school coach for four years and high school principal for two years. A native of Broseley, Dement and his wife have been married 25 years.

"I suppose the headlines will read 'Holcomb School Superintendent Fired Because of His Wife's Behavior,'" Dement said when contacted by a reporter. "That's what people would like to see at least," he added, emphasizing he would not voluntarily resign and make no decision until he conferred with an attorney.

Jack Moore, president of the school board, said the board had tabled the matter for further discussion. "The reason we gave him in asking for the resignation was there's just too much confusion and it's affecting the school district too much." When pressed for the specific reason, Moore answered "Over this affair that happened last week, this whole incident—from last Friday and the little incidents on through were just getting out of hand. It's just come down to where something's got to be done. It's affecting the school and the school district, the children as well as the parents are upset."

The World Almanac notes that preliminary figures by the Dept. of Agriculture estimate the following per-capita food consumption in the United States during 1970: meat, 186.2 lbs.; chicken and turkey, 50.4 lbs.; fish, 11.4 lbs.; fluid milk and cream, 264 lbs.; 319 eggs; fats and oils, 53 lbs.; fresh vegetables 99.5 lbs.; fresh fruits, 82 lbs.; refined sugar, 102.5 lbs

February 8, 1972

Gentlemen,

As an armchair political enthusiast, I went into St. Louis for the Lincoln Day Republican Get- Together and I came back with some observations that I don't think your paper brought out.

I was really impressed with the entusuiasm of all the young people who came from near every part of the State in support of Representative King. I checked a little further and found out that there is an active Youth for King chapter on almost every college campus in the State.

These 18 to 21 year old voters are, as I see it, taking their enfranchisement pretty seriously, seeking out a candidate with a workable plan and the experience and humility to carry it through with dignity. They aren't interested in just another pretty face with no real direction other than some unkept promises.

Gentlemen, I am enlightened, and judging from the reactions of the folks I've mentioned this to, there's little doubt that Bus King will be the next Governor of Missouri.

Thanks for reading my letter.

The Prayer
from The Upper Room

I was glad when they said to me, "Let us go to the house of the Lord!"--Psalm 122:1

PRAYER: Our Father, help us to have love strong enough that we want to worship Thee. Help us to have a faith strong enough that we are willing to sacrifice some of our comforts, earthly pleasures, and time for the nurture of that faith. Amen.

Armed Forces

ALEXANDRIA, La.--U.S. Air Force Staff Sergeant James R. Presson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Presson of North Main Road, Charleston, Mo., has arrived at England AFB, La., for duty.

Sergeant Presson is an inventory management supervisor in a unit of the Tactical Air Command which provides combat units for air support of U.S. ground forces. He previously served at Phan Rang AB, Vietnam.

The sergeant, a 1965 graduate of Charleston High School, attended Southeast Missouri State College.

His wife, Marian, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion D. Oakley of Wyatt, Mo.

What's The Law
Creditor Not Guilty

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Wilma bought her clothes on time but she never paid for them on time. The result? Her creditors were constantly on her back. One creditor, however, a Mr. Portnow, finally decided he had all he could take from Wilma and decided to take what he could. Finding Wilma not at home, he jimmied open one of her ground floor windows and reappropriated all the unpaid-for items that he had sold her. Unfortunately, upon leaving, he left the window open. That night, two burglars happened by and, taking advantage of the opening, removed every dress Wilma owned.

"It wouldn't have happened," was Mr. Portnow's answer, "if Wilma had paid her bills. Consequently, if anyone was at fault for the robbery, it was Wilma herself. Besides, leaving the window open didn't cause the robbery. The robbers caused it."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Wilma to have re-dress against Mr. Portnow?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that there was no direct relationship between the open window and the burglary. In so ruling, the judge pointed out that locked windows are not apt to deter burglars from entering an unoccupied home. They make their rounds regardless of locked windows.

(Based upon a 1930 Utah Supreme Court Decision.)

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Feb. 12, the 43rd day of 1972. There are 323 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1809, Abraham Lincoln was born in what was then Hardin County, Kentucky.

On this date:

In 1554, Lady Jane Grey, who had been queen of England for 10 days, was beheaded after being charged with treason.

In 1733, English colonists led by James Edward Oglethorpe landed at Savannah, Ga.

In 1809, the scientist who developed the theory of evolution, Charles Darwin, was born in Shrewsbury, England.

In 1912, China became a republic as the Manchu dynasty was overthrown by nationalists led by Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union backed down from an attempt to restrict allied use of the air corridors to Berlin.

One year ago: Eight U.S. helicopters were shot down over Laos.

Capp Guilty

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP) — Cartoonist Al Capp has pleaded guilty to one of three morals charges resulting from accusations made by a university coed last spring.

The other two charges were dropped Friday. Capp, 62-yearold creator of L'il Abner, was fined $500 and court costs.

Circuit Court Judge Merrill Farr said the alternative to paying the fine and costs would be one year in prison.

Do you really want your brother-in-law to know how much you earned last year?

Of course not. It's nobody's business but your own.

However, annually millions of taxpayers bear this kind of personal information to people who really shouldn't know. For what? Just so they can save a few dollars doing their income tax.

That's some price to pay.

You see, for only a few dollars more than it costs to do it with any amateur who might not know that work clothes in some instances are deductible, or that income averaging might save tax dollars, you can have your tax return done by a specially trained member of the H & R Block team with complete confidentiality. There are thousands of them in over 6,000 conveniently located offices. H & R Block's fees start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for the 7 million families we served last year.

Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

This means that H & R Block is ready to offer you year 'round tax service for just one low fee a year, with no extra charge for audits and estimates.

Yes, we cost a little bit more than your relatives or friends or neighbors but when you think of what we deliver, you can't afford anything less than H & R Block.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB.

H&R Block.

Missouri U. Discussed

Guests of the Kiwanis Club at the Tuesday night meeting at the Ramada Inn were Doug White, sales and promotion manager at the J.C. Penney Co.; Tim Bucek, Ramada Inn manager; Tom B. Stroup of Benton, area associate director for the bootheel extension, University of Missouri; Glenn Patton of Portageville, Delta center area director for extension, University of Missouri. Gary Chullino was introduced as a new member.

Claude Benney was in charge of the program and introduced Glenn Patton who introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Carl Scheneman, vice-president of extension at the University of Missouri.

Dr. Scheneman told the club about the U. of Mo. There are 47,000 students enrolled on its four campuses. This includes about 22,000 at Columbia; 9,500 at Kansas City; 4,800 at Rolla and 10,200 att St. Louis.

The University has a full time faculty of 2,700 persons. The typical faculty member has a doctor's degree or a terminal professional degree.

"As part of the University's obligation as a state land grant institution, extensive research in an extremely wide variety of fields is conducted. The university ranks 29th among colleges and universities in the nation in terms of federal research funding," Dr. Scheneman said.

Dr. Scheneman told the club that the extension division is not only for those in agriculture.

"There is an explosion of knowledge and the extension division acts to get this knowledge to the public, to businessmen, to labor groups, to farmers, to doctors, to lawyers, to government officials, to housewives, to law enforcement personnel, to young people, to individuals and groups in all walks of life. Last year the extension provided more than seven million hours of instruction for more than one and one quarter million citizens in Missouri," Dr. Schenemen said.

Extension field operations are administered through 20 area units encompassing all 114 Missouri counties. University extension centers are maintained in each count. The centers are operated jointly by the University and the local University Extension Council. The extension councils are composed largely of elected members and are units of local government.

"The University of Missouri is sincerely attempting to be responsible and responsive to the people of the state," Dr. Scheneman said. "Perhaps the best example of this is the exhaustive self- evaluation known as institutional reappraisal, which the University has been undergoing for the last year. This reappraisal is an effort by the University to adjust its programs to the changing needs of society and to face up to the financial realities confronting the institution."

"Under the reappraisal, which will take some three years to complete, every program of the University -- both academic and and non-academic -- is being evaluated. It will pinpoint those programs that can be eliminated, those that should be combined with others and those that need to be strengthened. In addition, the reappraisal seeks to streamline the University's decision making process, assure effective and efficient administration and bring about more cooperation among the various units of the University in order to reduce costs and improve quality."

Dr. Scheneman next discussed the role and scope plan of university President Brice C. Ratchford. "The role and scope statement was designed as a discussion document and was prepared only after lengthy consultation and study between University and campus administrators, the four chancellors and members of the faculty. President Ratchford asked that alternative ideas be offered for consideration. He now has received those suggestions and undoubtedly there will be changes before the plan finally is presented to the Board of Curators," he said.

The basic assumptions of the plan are: (1) The University of Missouri will be comprehensive but no individual campus will be, and (2) Each campus will have programs ranging from the freshman year to the doctorate in some areas.

"The goal is to make a fine University even better, for the benefit of all Missourians, and I have every confidence that this goal will be achieved," Dr. Scheneman said.

What You Want To Know

Q. I am a fan of "Laugh-In" but I miss Arte Johnson. Is he coming back and is Judy Carne ever going to come back to the show as a regular? I miss these two performers on the show more than anyone else. S.R., Perkasie, Pa.

A. Arte Johnson and Judy Carne are pursuing other career opportunities at present and have no intentions of returning to "Laugh-In" as regulars.

Q. I seldom read anything in your column about "Medical Center" and handsome, irresistible and truly magnificen Chad Everett. Please say something about Mr. Wonderful (Chad Everett in your column. I understand he also sings.... that's really the whipped cream on the cake. Is there nothing he can't do? Mrs. N.V.. Charlotte. N.C

A. You haven't left us much to say about Chad Everett. However, you neglected to mention that he's an expert fencer and horseman.

Q. Why don't they put "Nanny and the Professor" and "The Brady Bunch" back- to-back on TV? I understand that "Nanny" might be taken off the air. I think the show is wonderful nd more people would probably watch it if it were placed in a better time spot. After all, it is hardly the best show to have just before a football or basketball game. Mrs. R.F.V., Lancaster, S.C.

A. I'm afraid it's too late for changing time slots or days, as far as "Nanny and the Professor" is concerned ...the show has been cancelled.

Last Year two young singers whose names are Wes Helm and Bill Dees joined together to form a most delightful entertainment duo. Performing under the name "The Brothers" these two young men now hold length of engagement records at various nite spots in Nashville, Tenn., where both of them make their home. Wes and Bill have had much success writing for "Acuff Rose" a publishing company in Nashville.

Before joining to make one act the two performed as singles for several years. In this period of time Bill Dees was to become acquainted with a man by the name of Roy Orbison with whom he wrote the nations number one selling record in 1964 entitled "Pretty Woman." Dees and Orbison have written over 100 songs together, several reaching the "hit" category.

Wes Helm wrote and recorded as a single artist for Chart Records in Nashville for two years having over fifty songs that he had written recorded by other artists. Before Wes came to Nashville he was the featured singer on a cruise ship making trips to Nassau and The Bahamas.

The Brothers -- a great act to see. They will be appearing nitely at the Ramada Inn Lounge in Miner, Mo.

What You Want To Know

Q. I'm crazy about David Cassidy, and I know I'm not alone. But I have one small criticism about him. I wish he would cut his bangs just a little so that we could see his beautiful eyes better on TV. That's the only thing about him that bothers me. Otherwise, he's perfect. Just perfect. L.B., Bridgeport, Conn.

A. Why don't you try writing David Cassidy directly and offer your suggestion? The address is Screen Gems, Hollywood, Calif.

Q. Is Michael Caine going to star in a TV series? I think he's terrific. I saw "The Ipcress File" on TV not too long ago, and he really came across in that one. I think a TV series with him playing he character he did in 'Ipcress File" would go over. M.H., Clermont, Fla.

A. Michael Caine is not set to star in a TV series playing double-agent Harry Palmer nor anyone else. He's very busy making one film after the other. His talent films are "Kidnapped" and "X Y and Zee."

Funding Public TV-A Top Priority

WASHINGTON, D.C. (KFS) - There are a lot of urgent issues facing television, including issues of national consequence caused by television. This roster would include such questions as what, if anytiing, can or should be done about fraudulent TV ads including political campaign pitches, the continuing deplorable state of children's television on the three commercial networks, the FCC's virtual rubber stamp policy regarding TV station license renewals, etc.

But if I had to single out just one issue that I thought was THE most important question concerning television in the 1970's, I would unhesitatingly consider it to be the question of procuring massive funds for public television, while, at the same time, keeping it insulated from the process of annual governmental review.

I will be commenting on this crucial question frequently in the next few months, but I am pleased to report that there is an influential member of the U.S. Congress who is concerned about your right and my right to a vital, properly funded system of Public Television and he is doing something important about it NOW.

I am referring to Congressman Torbert Macdonald (Dem.-Mass.), who is Chairman of the House Communications Subcommittee, and who started hearings on Feb. 1, here in Washington designed to expedite Public Television's getting the large sums it needs, deserves, and has been promised by Presidents Johnson and Nixon.

It really is a national scandal the way both national and local public TV stations are continuously having to beg for money, and refrain from covering their communities adequately because of a lack of funds. Cong. Macdonald is angered, as are many other supporters of public television including this reporter, by the way public television continues to be treated as a stepchild in America.

The British Broadcasting Corporation, which is far and away the best and most innovative TV organization in the world, operates on an annual budget of $13.20 for each and every citizen. America's expenditure on public television is, by way of contrast, a disgracefull small FIFTEEN CENTS. Canada spends between six and seven dollars per capita on non-commercial TV in recent years.

In a recent speech on the floor of the House of Representatives, Cong. Macdonald made the following observations.

"The Subcommittee on Communications and Power, which I am privileged to chair, will begin hearings on the future of public broadcasting. The primary concern of the subcommittee will be to work out an acceptable plan for providing long-range financing for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

"In 1967 working from the fine recommendations of the Carnegie Commission, the subcommittee developed legislation which established the Corporation and gave public broadcasting its real impetus for growth. And that growth has been exceptional over the past several years. It is unfortunate that during the last year the prospects for continued growth have become clouded, because of uncertainty as to financing, which all concerned agree is the essential factor in the development of public broadcasting."

Cong. Macdonald's legislation would provide the corporation for Public Broadcasting with 575 million dollars over the next five years. In the same speech on the floor of the House, Cong. Macdonald said:

"Permanent financing will insulate public television and radio from the type of governmental pressure which seems to have been asserted increasingly in recent months. I have previously referred to this new type of pressure, which has surfaced in Washington, as a new technique which utilizes a well-placed phone call, a well-timed speech, or a coincidental personal investigation to apply government pressure."

At a time when President Nixon is angry even with William F. Buckley for having put anti-Nixon CONSERVATIVES on nationwide TV, it is more urgent than ever that the public support Cong. Macdonald and all others wanting to build a vital and an INDEPENDENT system of public television in America.

'Man On A String': Chris George

HOLLYWOOD (KFS) - The annual unveiling of TV pilots competing for network berths in '72 is in full swing this month.

The big three and independent producers are swamped with the little beauties. Over at Screen Gems, Doug Cramer has nine shows in the mill, a record for that company, guady packages containing the likes of Connie Stevens and Christopher George.

With competition at an all-time peak, odds are higher than ever against landing a September starting time, something the hustling Greek, Chris George, a gambler by inheritance, just shakes off. He is putting his acting career on the line again with "Man on a String," a series pilot on an undercover agent, airing on the CBS Friday Night Movie, Feb. 18

A breakthrough winner with "Rat Patrol," in sand battles against the wily Nazis, for his second big run George picked a far-out concept as a character who couldn't die in "The Immortal," and guessed wrong. Even Mrs. George, the luscious Lynda Day - who brightens "Mission Impossible" - shed no tears over "The Immortal's" demise, feeling her husband wasn't right for the role.

Cancellation didn't hurt George a bit, according to network thinking. ABC quickly cast Chris in an ESP show about a magic castle, then ran into legal difficulties with a similar venture, "The Sixth Sense," and backed off.

George pulled over other properties, nixing three on the current market, before choosing "Man on a String," a distant relative to the old TV series, "Tightrope," starring Mike Connors. This one is about a lieutenant detective, sent up for an 18-month stretch in prison, only to come out and resume life as a hood. Using his gangster contacts, the ex-cop becomes a government undercover man, working from the inside, always a step away from a burial dump in the river.

George's hero represents a logical move away from the exotic, far-out type. He goes with simple, straight action material this time, as good as guess as any, shunning gimmicks in a market that should be heavy with characters reaching.

The Greek's choice reflects his attitude on the acting business. "I came out of New York at that studied moment in which we were all taught to use the Method, and every actor kept busy with face and hand movements," said Chris recently.

"On 'Rat Patrol' I resolve not to move a muscle because I was so tired of an actor making a big thing about crossing a room to pick up his coat. The arrogance of it all, saying, 'Watch me, watch me do this unimportant act,' annoyed me, and I stopped with the I want to do a role honestly, or normally as you might say. The problem with The Method in those days was that it proscribed one way upon us all, rather than work as a tool to help us reach into ourselves.

Chris had just come from a screening of "Man on a String" and appeared pleased with the result." "Renee Valente (Screen Gems talent exec) said I was more relaxed, more confidant than in the past," he reported. "I was checking my moves and noticed I had my hands up- tuptight as usual. I spend 90 per cent of the time this way. It's part of me."

What You Want To Know

Q. I thought the movie "Maybe I'll Come Home in the Spring" was one of the best I have ever seen on TV about teenaged runaways. I particularly liked the sexy guy who played Sally Field's lover who came back to take her with him. Who is he and will he be appearing on TV in anything else? L.P., Farmland, Ind.

A. David Carradine, son of the famed actor John Carradine, played the part of the hippie lover. He starred in the short-lived TV series, "Shane," some time back andhas been a frequent guest star on many of the leading TV series. On February 22, he will star in an ABC Movie of the Week titled "Kung Fu."

Q. I'm one of the few people who prefer Sammy Davis Jr. as an actor rather than a singer. I hope he plays some dramatic parts on TV series soon. He's a truly good actor. Mrs. T.E., Rio Vista, Calif.

A. Sammy Davis Jr. takes an occasional acting job in TV and films. One of his latest appearances was in a "Courtship of Eddie's Father" episode scheduled for airing on Wednesday, February 9, 1972.

Q. I would like to know if Jan Clayton was the first actress to play the woman inthe "Lassie" series. My friend, who is usually good at remembering things about TV, tells me I may be wrong and that he thinks June Lockhart was the first female star to appear on "Lassie." - D.M., Garden City, Kans.

A. Jan Clayton was the first to play the mother role of the young owner of Lassie. Miss Lockhart came later.

Q. I was appalled to see the Movie of the Week put on "Women in Chains," a disgusting tale about the lewd conditions that prevail in women's prisons. It was downright dirty in my opinion. I made my youngest teenager go and watch our second TV set in another part of the house. Mrs. V.M., Broderick, Calif.

A. "Women in Chains" was melodramatic and did serve up a few scenes bordering on violence, but it was not intended to be smutty, which is your accusation. All you have to do is tune in some of the talk shows which discuss present prison conditions to see that "Women in Chains" was really tame fare. However, you are entitled to your opinion.

Q. My husband will watch only one show, and that's "Owen Marshall' Counselor at Law." He says all the rest of the shows have mamby-pamby types playing men.....he says Arthur Hill is the only real, believable man on TV. Is Hill married and does he have many children? Mrs. P.S., Allentown, Pa.

A. Arthur Hill has been married to his wife, Peggy, for many years now and they have two children...Douglas, 21 and Jenny 19.

Q. Did Peggy Lipton recently get married to Michael Cole, her co-star on "Mod Squad?" I thought I heard this on the late TV news but I haven't seen any word about it in the papers. M.R., Rensselaer, N.Y.

A. You haven't read anything about it because it is not true.
